RICHARD OLNEY TO BE HEAD OF RESEVRE BOARD

President Wilson Selects Massachusetts Man to be Governor of Federal Reserve Board—Names Paul Warburg of New York, a Member of Board

WASHINGTON, May 4.—President Wilson has selected Richard Olney, secretary of state in the Cleveland administration, to be governor of the federal reserve board and Paul Warburg of New York to be a member of the board.

Although the president has offered the governorship to Mr. Olney word of his acceptance was being awaited today but friends here were inclined to believe he would not decline. Mr. Olney was offered the ambassadorship to Great Britain by President Wilson early last year, but expressed an unwillingness to leave the country on account of his business interests. He is being strongly urged by friends of the president to accept this place, which the president has spoken of as of equal importance to a place on the bench of the supreme court of the United States.

Mr. Olney Active at 78

Mr. Olney, although 78 years old, is active and has had a long experience in the business world and finance which the president and his advisers believe would especially be adapted for the head of the reserve board.

Mr. Warburg, who was connected with Kuhn, Loeb & Co., has been offered membership on the board and has accepted. Formal announcement of his selection as well as the other members of the board, beside the governor, is expected to be made within the next two or three days as offers are being made to the men whom the president has selected. It is understood that a southern banker is to be made one of the three, but no intimation has come as yet as to his identity.

Will Start Currency Law

Official Washington, are awaiting the announcement of the full personnel of the federal reserve board with intense interest, as it formally will set in motion the new currency law which was signed Dec. 23 last. With the selection of the 12 regional reserve banks, the organization of the board has been the most vital step in the operation of the new currency law. The banks are being organized and the expectation of officials is that within another month the entire system will be in full swing, although there are certain transitions which will occupy a greater length of time.

OLNEY SMILED WHEN INFORMED OF APPOINTMENT BY PRESIDENT

BOSTON, May 4.—Richard Olney smiled when informed today that President Wilson had selected him for governor of the federal reserve board but declined to comment on the announcement or indicate whether he would accept.

Mr. Olney is in his 78th year and though vigorous and active was influenced by his advanced years as well as by his business interests to decline the diplomatic office tendered him a year ago.

UNLESS OFFICIALS REMEDY CONDITIONS AS TO HOURS OF LABOR

BOSTON, May 4.—The possibility of a strike of firemen and engineers on the Boston & Maine line, on a conference to be held today between officials of the road and a joint committee of the Brotherhood of local engineers and of firemen and engineers. The officials had agreed to announce today their final decisions as to whether they would grant the demands of the men for a remedying of grievances as to hours of labor and train runs. The Brotherhood representatives had announced that in case of an adverse decision a strike vote would be ordered at once. The claim of the engineers and firemen was that the company had violated the terms of the working agreements with its employees.

EXPECTED TO ATTEND TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION CONVENTION TO BE HELD HERE IN JUNE

The convention committee of Lowell Typographical union, or more properly those in charge of the arrangements for the monster convention of the New England Typographical union to be held here in June, met yesterday and went over the plans thus far arranged. Chairman H. T. Moxley presided and reports from every sub-committee indicated great progress. The list of speakers at the banquet to be held in connection with the convention embraces many well known public men, and it is barely possible that Governor Walsh will respond to the toast, "The Commonwealth of Massachusetts." Various other features of entertainment were talked over, particularly the "net-together" on the eve of the opening of the convention. Additional committees on decorating, music and hotel headquarters and meeting hall were appointed and reports will be received at the next meeting.

RUMOR RUPTURE BETWEEN HUERTA AND BLANQUET

NAVAL ACADEMY, VERA CRUZ, AFTER AMERICAN BOMBARDMENT

Refugees Arriving at Vera Cruz Tell of Reported Break Between Dictator and Minister of War Who Took Military Coup Which Resulted in the Fall of Madero

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, May 4.—American refugees continue to arrive from the capital and they bring divergent stories of the situation there. Arrangements are being made today to send a naval vessel to Puerto, Mexico, to meet a large number of refugees due there Tuesday morning.

Latest arrivals from Mexico City confirm the previous reports of a growing undercurrent of feeling against the Huerta regime and tell of a rumor of a rupture between Huerta and Gen. Blanquet, minister of war. It was the latter with the crack 28th regiment that took the military coup which resulted in the downfall of President Madero.

Some of the returning Americans who claim to have information from those close to Huerta declare he is hesitating to confide in the possibility of a coup against him.

Several of the American business men say the foreign diplomatic representatives considered them not to leave the capital, that there was no necessity to do so as there was practically no danger and the whole situation would be clarified soon.

The refugees generally expressed disappointment at the lack of any intimation of an advance of the American army on the capital. They say the best class of Mexicans share this view.

Customs Revenues

There is speculation in official circles regarding the disposition of the customs revenues of this port, said to aggregate over a million dollars in a month.

The federal officers who fled inland took important papers from the customs house files and it is difficult for the American officials to clear up business in the warehouse or to ascertain the exact distribution that has formerly been made of the revenue. Mexican customs receipts are pledged in part as security for the old national loan and the remainder was pledged by Huerta for the recent French loan.

For the present all the customs receipts will be impounded to await instructions from Washington. Several cargoes have been unloaded during the last few days and more ships are reported as cleared for this port from the United States and Europe so that the accumulated receipts will soon reach a considerable amount.

Demand American Currency

The demand for fractional American currency was suddenly increased today when H. M. Robinson, superintendent of the United States railroad mail service who has taken charge of the post-office, placed American postage stamps on the market and stipulated they must be paid for in American money.

The administration of Col. Edward Plummer, the provost marshal, began today almost at the point where the civil government under Robert J. Kerr had carried it when ended by orders from Washington. Col. Plummer had been given wide latitude by Gen. Funston, who wants to devote as much of his own time as possible to military duties, although all cases requiring his personal attention will be carried to the commander-in-chief of the land forces.

Col. Plummer had assigned to him army and navy men for heads of all departments and several enlisted men to be used in clerical work, but these will be added by civilians. Plummer's government starts with $320,000 worth of revenue stamps and $70,000 in cash, recovered by C. H. Stewart, treasurer under Kerr's administration.

TROOPS IN STRIKE ZONE ANOTHER "POOL RAID"

DENVER, May 4.—Heavy patrols of federal troops scattered throughout the strike zones of Colorado gave state officials a sense of security today which they had not felt since the inception of the industrial strife. Practically all of the Colorado National Guardsmen have been withdrawn.

The matter of disarmament has not been undertaken yet and probably will not be until the arrival late today of Col. James Lockett with the 11th regiment, United States cavalry. Officials of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Co. declared that just as soon as the commander of the federal troops is ready to disarm the men and afford protection at the mines, the guards in their employ will turn over their arms. No intimation had been received, however, as to the manner in which the strikers would observe the proclamation of disarmament.

NEW YORK, May 4.—Scores of men and women prominent in society and especially in the affairs of the Rockaway Hunting club may be forced to appear in court at Cedarhurst, L. I., on Thursday and explain alleged betting transactions of Saturday at the racing meet on the club course. The sheriff's constables allege that in the pockets of Frank M. Flood and Francis G. Fox, who were arrested at the track as bookmakers were found slips indicating wagers on various races and on each slip were the initials or the name of a man or woman. Flood and Fox will be given a hearing on Thursday.

Subpoenas for the persons whose names appeared on the slips are being prepared, according to Louis M. Reising, justice of the peace, who also declared he was making an effort to establish the identity of the persons who used only their initials on the memorandum slips.

GEN. DANIEL SICKLES DEAD 10,000 WOMEN IN PARADE

Last of Gettysburg Commanders
29 Years Ago

NEW YORK, May 4.—Gen. Daniel Sickles died at his home shortly after 9 o'clock last night. His wife was at his bedside at the end.

Mrs. Sickles, who had been estranged from her husband for more than a quarter of a century, went to the general's house Saturday when she was informed he was dying and took charge of the arrangements for his care. She remained near his side through the night and watched by him until his death.

The final reconciliation was brought about largely through the efforts of their son, Stanton. It is understood, the general recently having made advances to his wife when assured by Stanton that she would be met halfway.

Always a Fighter

Gen. Daniel Sickles was the last of the great commanders who fought the battle of Gettysburg. For a decade he was a fighter by profession—all his life he was a fighter by nature.

The grim old warrior, with one leg shot away in battle, his massive head resembling Bismarck's, was a picture of the old soldier. He had been a fighter during the last half century of his turbulent life.

His indomitable fighting spirit, he married to the last. Born in New York city in 1828, Sickles, at the age of 22, fought the whiffles as a volunteer in the New York legislature. At 28 he displayed his fighting spirit as corporation attorney of New York. It was he who secured for his city its great Central park. At this time his military career began as major of the 12th regiment, National Guard of New York.

Then he was 32 years old. Major Sickles had served his sentence of incarceration at London under Minister James Buchanan, he had won a state senatorship through a bitter campaign and he was seated in the 34th congress at Washington.

Killed Wife's Friend

It was at this time that an event occurred which became the sensation of the day. Sickles had begun his career and term as congressman in 1859 when the national capital was stirred by the news that the young representative from New York had shot and killed Philip Barton Key, the United States district attorney for the District of Columbia. Sickles declared that Key had misled Mrs. Sickles, who was an Italian music teacher. The trial lasted 20 days, ending in the acquittal of Sickles on the ground of "unwritten law." He then took his errand wife back.

"I am not aware of any statute or code of morals," said Sickles to his critics, "which makes it infamous to force a woman. I can now see in the almost universal denunciation with which she is followed to my threshold the misery and peril from which I have rescued the mother of my daughter. I shall strive to prove to all that an errand wife and mother may be forgiven and redeemed."

Mrs. Sickles died of a broken heart a few years later.

At the outbreak of the Civil war the young fighting politician, then 36 years old, went to Lincoln to offer his services.

Raised Famous Brigade

"You have been a leader in New York democratic politics," said the president. "If you kept your end up at that game, surely you'll do to take command of men in the field. Raise

Suffrage Demonstration in Boston Cheered by 200,000 Who Lined Streets

BOSTON, May 4.—"Votes for women"—with ten thousand women bedecked in summer finery and carrying banners and placards, bearing inscriptions advocating the cause, and over 200,000 people on the side lines, the first big suffrage demonstration in this state, held here Saturday afternoon, was a grand success and the poignant was one of the most beautiful that has ever been seen in Boston.

The sun was shining cheerily when the bugle blast started the long procession a few minutes after 5 o'clock at Massachusetts avenue and Beacon street. Electric lights were blazing and the throngs were still roused against the ropes stretched along Tremont street ere the final cry of the "Votes for Women" completed the assigned route.

As the slowly pacing white-clad figure bearing the Lincoln wreath of laurel advanced at the very head of the long procession the spectators had their first indication that they were to witness a parade strikingly different from any the city has ever seen. And throughout the three miles of marching women and crowded automobiles there were picturesque features which caught the fancy and admiration of the multitudes and stirred their often to cheers.

The greatest enthusiasm was manifested at the state house, where the governor and his guests reviewed the procession, and everywhere along the route there was respectful attention shown the marchers and frequently volleys of applause came down from the crowded window balconies of Beacon street.

The parade was a spectacle, a challenge and a demonstration of strength, which was what its designers had harbored for many months to make it. From the balconies and windows along the route it looked like a stream of yellow flowing between dark banks.

The costumes of the marchers were kaleidoscopic in color, but their penants were prevalently yellow and their banners were yellow banners, bearing the Lincoln wreath of laurel.

There were floats, historic impersonations, cavalry, college girls, alumni and faculty members in mortar boards and gowns, banners with sentiments from the lips of the women who have lived and died for the suffrage cause, every variety of emblem which had any significance for the campaign for "Votes for Women," and delegations from cities and towns all over the state in the three miles of parades.

The women who marched in the costumes of old world countries made one of the most picturesque features of the entire pageant. Gayly bedight with Bosnia leading the way, they traversed the city and you shall be brigadier general in command."

Sickles raised the famous Excelsior brigade in New York, taking command of one of its regiments as colonel. Lincoln kept his word and in 1861 raised him to brigadier general. His fighting spirit early won him his spurs. On the peninsula and at Antietam he distinguished himself as a soldier and leader. At Chancellorsville he led a division. At Gettysburg he led the Third corps, lost a leg and became a national hero. At 37 years of age he had risen from a colonel to major general of volunteers.

After the war his fighting spirit led him into the regular army, and he became first brigadier and then major general. He continued active service until 1869, when he was appointed minister to Spain by President Grant.

At the court of Spain, Sickles' vigorous personality made him a dominating figure. Four years of brilliant diplomacy brought him the epithet of "The Yankee King of Spain."

Here he contracted his second marriage, with the beautiful and distinguished Senora Creagh. This romance was followed by estrangement, which was to last more than a quarter century. In addition to this domestic trouble came his interference in the marriage plans of his daughter to a penniless Spanish nobleman. Father and daughter separated in bitterness, the latter to return to the United States to die without reconciliation.

Returning alone to New York, Gen. Sickles again entered politics. He served as sheriff of New York and at 67 he was re-elected to congress.

General Sickles' life drew to a close with frequent romantic situations. He faced bankruptcy proceedings in his last years, though he had early in life received a large share of his father's $3,000,000 estate, but his estranged wife and son came to his aid on several occasions.

His last days were spent at 23 Fifth avenue, New York, surrounded by his relatives and attended by his faithful colored servant.

If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

versed the whole gamut of brilliant colors, their banners indicating their nationality and stating that in their hands the women had won the ballot.

Tribute For Silver Hairs

The feature which perhaps appealed most to the onlookers, and which may have invited them to respectful silence rather than to noisy cheers, was the numbers of women of gray hair of white, with motherly faces, in quiet costume, many of whom marched over the entire route, their heads proudly erect, although they evidently were calling upon their reserves of strength to stay in the line.

Every class of the community, every stratum of society, was represented in the line. Many of the best known of Boston's society women had their places in the parade of wage earners there were women of every age and were greeted with rounds of applause throughout the route; teachers made a solid phalanx hundreds in number.

Of personalities whom the throngs were quick to recognize and ready to cheer, there were Miss Alice Stone Blackwell, with whom rode Mrs. Robert Evans; Miss Margaret Foley, alone in an automobile with an enormous rose which stood for equality, but who seized every opportunity when the machine was slowed or stopped to harangue the spectators "for justice," and Miss Lotta Crabtree, who made beside Miss Mary Young in the "Players' section."

Of all the banners, those which attracted most attention were the ones bearing the likenesses of Julia Ward Howe and Lucy Stone and that with the challenge from Susan B. Anthony: "Failure is impossible."

Hundreds of men marched as well, some-times with their mothers and wives, but most of them massed in a section by themselves, led by Edwin D. Mend and Joseph Walker, with college boys and lads in knickerbockers following on in place. When their hands ceased they broke into whistling "Yankee Doodle" and the "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Lovely Represented

The white clad figure in Greek costume at the head of the long line was Miss Virginia Tanner, wearing a laurel wreath upon her head and bearing a banner one provided by Miss Alice Stone Blackwell to be deposited upon the base of the Lincoln Memorial monument in Park square. She had substituted for Miss May Zimmer, the bugler, and had been in charge of the planning of the floats and the designing of the costumes of the historic women.

Upon arrival at Park square the grand marshal, Mrs. Thomas Pelham Curtis, rode up, and receiving the wreath from Miss Tanner, deposited it upon the monument.

In the parade were delegations from many cities, and Lowell was well represented.

UNIONISTS LAST KICK

TRY TO DEFEAT HOME RULE BY BRINGING UP THE O'SHEA PARALLEL SCANDAL

LONDON, May 4.—The announcement by the Sketch that on Tuesday next it will begin the publication of the Memoirs of Katharine O'Shea Parnell, widow of the great Irish leader, has created a profound sensation.

Coming at this time on the very eve of the vote on the home rule bill, it is considered a final attempt to block it by a sensational move instigated by the Tories, but like the attempt of the London Times this, too, is likely to rebound.

The nationalist leaders see the sinister hand of unionist politicians in these "revelations" to come. The Ulster excitement has died down, and out of the chaos there was little satisfaction left for the unionists. Weaker now than before the Ulster agitation began, certain to lose any general election should one be forced, they are willing apparently to make a last desperate move.

One home rule bill was defeated by dragging a scandal to light and now they try to defeat another by rattling the dry bones of the ancient scandal set up in new form.

To Vindicate O'Shea

Mrs. Katharine O'Shea Parnell has annoyed even the high leaders by her frank proclamation that she intends to vindicate the memory of her first husband, Captain O'Shea, who was granted a divorce by the English courts on charges of her misconduct.

If this be her object, the nationalist leaders feel that she intends to deliberately sacrifice the memory of Charles Stewart Parnell, who married her shortly after Captain O'Shea was granted a divorce. Mr. Parnell lived but a short time and died a heart-broken man.

Mrs. Parnell's memoirs were promised nearly a year ago, but evidently were withheld awaiting the psychological moment, which has now come.

Parnell a Sacrifice

About a year ago William O'Brien, M. P. for Cork City, wrote in his newspaper, The Cork Free Press, an account of an interview he had with Sir Frank Parnell, who was Mrs. Parnell's counsel and one of the leaders of the English bar. Shortly after the trial Sir Frank Parnell was promptly announced that she was writing her own account of the famous case and all that led up to it.

The articles are intended no doubt to assail the political standing of some of the present leaders but any charge based on the statement of the case would have been thrown out under the English law. Sir Frank Luckwood, knowing that Parnell would rather sacrifice himself than allow any woman to suffer on his account, refrained from using the weapon that Parnell had won him the action.

It was confidently asserted that the attachment between Mrs. O'Shea and Parnell had been connived at by Captain O'Shea and fostered by him in order to promote certain political adventures of his.

Counsel Remorseful

With his evidence before the court

Later he felt remorseful and told Mr. O'Brien how badly Parnell had been used and his regrets over the results of the case.

These facts were used by Mr. O'Brien in the course of his article.

Mrs. Parnell saw the article and promptly announced that she was writing her own account of the famous case and all that led up to it.

The articles are intended no doubt to assail the political standing of some of the present leaders but any charge based on the statement of Kittie O'Shea will be discredited in advance unless supported by convincing evidence from other sources.

MEN SHOULD OBEY WIVES

BOSTON, May 4.—The Rev. A. H. Nazarian told his congregation at People's Temple last night that many a time he had wanted to reverse the word obey as used in the marriage service and ask the man to obey the woman. "Many a time," said he, "if the man had obeyed, the children would not have gone hungry."

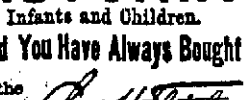

The service was a woman suffrage rally, and Mrs. Marion Booth Kelley, whose husband is president of the Men's League for Equal Suffrage, made an address before an altar draped with American flags bound about with yellow suffrage pennants. Moreover, "antis" wearing red roses among the audience, applauded her address on "Woman's Contribution to Modern Life."

Her principal statement was that "it is that instinctive motherhood of the race that is behind the suffrage movement today."

ON THE SAND LOTS

Lowell, May 1, 1914.

Seeing that you take great interest in amateur baseball among the youngsters, I take this opportunity of asking you to form a baseball league of teams composed of 17-year-old boys. There are a number of 17-year-old teams in this city, for instance, "Lions," "Knights," "Royals," "Rangers," "A. C.," and "Mysteries." And I was told a team to be called the "Giants" will be organized and ready to play by May 7. These teams could form an eight-team league. A schedule could be made and at the close of the season the winning team would be the 17-year-old champions of the city, and there wouldn't be a dozen champions for the championship. The schedule could consist of 14 games for each team, and at the end of the season the winning team could play out-of-town teams and decide the 17-year-old championship of the state. Will you look into this and see what you can do. I would advise that you be made president of such a league if it should be formed. From a Follower of the Sand Lots Amateurs.

We will be only too glad, friend, to help all we can in forming such a league. Anytime that you managers want to get together and hold a session, we'll meet you in the Sun's sporting department and assist in any way possible. But as to accepting the presidency of such a league—nothing doing. We take chances enough in this newspaper game without running any more risk. Anything but that and you'll find us right at hand, boys!

Here's a chance for the Howard Street Stars. They been doing a lot of talking lately and we guess it is all talk. The Giants will play any team that Howard street ever had an head of a life out of 'em. The Giants is too good for any 17-year-old team and we ain't 13 yet. How's that? Here is the Giants, lineup when they play good teams: Silverblatt c. I. Levine p. W. Surlofsky ss. J. Ziskind 2b. L. Sideman 3b. S. Schwartz 1b. S. Ginsburg lf. S. Greenberg cf. E. Zimberg rf. E. Zimberg was captain of the Howard Street stars but he resigned and is now our right-fielder. He knows a good team all right. I. Levine, 119 Grand street, is our manager.

We are a educated team and can beat any 17-year-old baseball players in the city. Sometimes they call us the Geometry Sharks, but our right name is Richardson's Pets. You see, Miss Richardson is our teacher and she is all right. She likes a good ball game. We will play you for a dollar ball. How's that? We ain't big enough to throw a dollar ball, but we got sick of hearing all you guys talk about quarter balls, so we play for a dollar ball. Here's our lineup: A. Palm p. L. Edwards c. T. Fletcher 1b. S. Black 2b. S. Reardon 3b. C. Huse 3b. S. McGuire lf. M. Smith cf. P. Garry rf.

The Wamsett A. C. would like a game with any 12-year-old team in the city. Lineup: Ollis Sullivan p. Albert Laprice 1b. Edward Gath 2b. Joe Delaney 3b. Douglas Sullivan ss. Patrick Burns 1b. Leo Cusky rf. Tom Labele lf. Richard Marble cf. Joe Buckley mascot. Send challenges to 45 Wamsett street.

The Glenmores ain't afraid of that Shamrock ball team no more than a 12-year-old team is, and the Glens are willing to meet the Shamrocks for a dollar ball a side. The Glens will play the Shamrocks for a $10 bet later in the season and are pretty sure of winning, too. That's if they get the most runs. The Glens drew a big crowd at their game with the Lions by which they beat 11-1, and they took pretty good in their $2.50 suits, too, take it from me, kid. If any team, by the way, thinks they have a chance with this team, step forward and get in line. Send challenge through this paper.

The Watson A. C. would like to play the Wamsett A. C. We want to let you know that we are not afraid of them. Our pitcher said he was in fine shape and could pitch a hole game. See Manager G. Dunlavy or let us know through this paper.

The Union put a challenge in this paper about two weeks ago and although they have met and defeated four teams since then, we are not satisfied. The only team that defeated us this year were 15 and 11-year-old teams. Now, what do you say to that? The lineup that won 50 many games for us is this one: J. Waterson ss. P. McGrath p. "Jack" Sullivan 1b. "Herb" McNeely 2b. "Pat" McManus ss. "Red" McKeown 3b. We have four outfielders, but only three can play of course. They are "Shorty" Davidson rf. W. Riley cf. "Jigger" (pull the trigger) Deard and "Fido" Moore lf. Young "Pinkie" Lally is out but carries some nicknames, oh! See if the players are as good as the nicknames by sending a challenge to "Jack" Sullivan, 32 Varnum street. Any 12-year-old team in the world.

The Glenmores defeated the champion Shamrock team at the old fair grounds by the score of 11 to 5. The pitcher of Merritt of the Glens was the feature of the game. The Glenmores will play the Shamrocks on the fair grounds next Saturday.

LAWRENCE AGAIN

Pieper's Men Defeat Lowell-Short Fences Feature of Victory

Lawrence took the second game from the champions Saturday in as many days and opened their season before a large crowd for this time of the year. Nearly three thousand fans saw the down-river team take the locals into camp by the score of 9 to 4.

As usual when Lowell meets Lawrence, the latter had all the breaks. This does not mean that Lowell deserved to win, as a reversal of baseball luck on several occasions might have changed the final result considerably. The short fence in right and center field played a big factor in the run-getting of the Lawrence club. With two out and one on base, Conley hit a ball which was level with his cap and sent it over the center field fence for the first tally of the game in the second inning. Pearson lifted another ball high over the same spot in the fourth under exactly the same conditions. Lohman and Temple both essayed to top the Lawrence sluggers but to no avail. Lohman started the game and although he appeared to have everything on the ball Pieper's men hit him hard at opportune times. Temple, who succeeded him, fared little better.

Alce Pearson was in the points for Lawrence and Lowell found him for 10 hits. In the sixth inning a batting rally netted the champions three runs. Potteiger's healthy smash sailed over the right field fence for the circuit, while two men scored ahead of him.

The error column also showed Lowell to be inferior in holding to their opponents. Five times did Jimmy Gray's boys commit blunders that proved costly. Burke and Kelly made several wonderful fielding plays while the hitting of Potteiger, Stimpson and Conley were features. The score:

IRON MOULDERS CLOSED SUCCESSFUL CONVENTION WITH ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The Moulders convention, which closed Saturday afternoon, was thoroughly successful. The quick time in which the enormous amount of important business on hand was transacted broke all records. Everything was business with the convention, no time being wasted on petty entertainments, banquets, etc. The delegates were a splendid body of men, who came here not solely for the purpose of promoting their own union, but for the purpose of promoting every labor question that would help the many local labor unions, and the labor movement throughout the land. Their motto is:

"Amicable settlement between employer and employee."

LOOSE FIELDING LOSES THE GAME

Sturtevant's Batting a Feature of Contest—Vanderlick Shines

In one of the looest played games which the local team has been a party to this season, Lowell Textile went down to defeat Saturday afternoon before the fast team of Cushing academy on the latter's home grounds by the score of 7 to 6. Free hitting as well as loose fielding featured the contest. It was the second defeat out of seven games played by Textile. Sturtevant and Brickett both worked in the box for the local team while Colby did the mound work for Cushing. Colby was very effective with men on bases. On several occasions nothing but glit edge pitching kept Textile from sewing up the game.

Sturtevant was there as usual with the wand. His two ringing doubles helped out in the run column. Brickett, Baker and Carlson also batted well for Textile while Vanderlick's baton waved against the ball three times for sacrifices for Cushing. The score:

The wedding party left for the evening for a short wedding trip.

MRS. FISKE AT OPERA HOUSE

That the people of Lowell are rather anxious to attend the opera on Saturday evening is well known and this fact is undoubtedly due to the fact that the opera house is the only place in the city where a higher class of society is to be seen. Mrs. Fiske, the soprano, is a highly talented and accomplished actress. Her performance in the role of Mrs. Elphinstone in the play "The Sign of the Cross" was highly successful. The performance was highly successful and deserving of the highest praise.

He may be buried in Arlington cemetery, the military leaders of the nation. With General Sickles when he died were his son Stanton and his wife Julia, whom he had been estranged for 25 years. ### EDITOR WAS GAME

WENT TO JAIL RATHER THAN VIOLATE JOURNALISTIC ETHICS IN DISCLOSING NAME

HALIFAX, N. S., May 4.—W. R. McCurdy, news editor of the Halifax Herald and Evening Mail, ended a sentence of 18 hours' imprisonment at the county jail, which had been imposed upon him by the provincial legislature. The sentence was the first of its kind in a quarter century.

Editor McCurdy was brought to the bar of the house of assembly to give the name of a better qualified candidate for the seat of the Liberal party in the riding of St. John's. The editor, who referred to his bill for the day, refused to give the name of the candidate. The house then passed a resolution, in which the member named, calling for the arrest and imprisonment of McCurdy and the opposition objecting.

GOVERNOR OF VERA CRUZ

ROBERT J. KERR'S TERM WILL BE VERY BRIEF—TO BE DISPLACED BY ARMY

ment of the army in charge of the government of Vera Cruz would eliminate Mr. Kerr. It was also indicated by the secretary that army officers would take the places of the two other civilians who were appointed with Mr. Kerr to fill the functions of other officers under the civil government for martial law established by Admiral Fletcher at Vera Cruz. This would displace William William E. Riecke as administrator of justice and Charles H. Stewart as treasurer of the newly established government. Mr. Kerr is a Chicago lawyer.

DIST. ATTY. WHITMAN WILL CALL 70 WITNESSES—WILL OPEN ON WEDNESDAY

NEW YORK, May 4.—For the second trial of Charles Becker, former police lieutenant, on a charge of having instigated the murder of Herman Rosenthal which will begin on Wednesday, District Attorney Charles S. Whitman will call 70 witnesses, many of whom did not testify in the first trial.

The court of appeals in granting Becker a new trial discredited the testimony of Sam Schopp and made it useless at the coming trial. It is said that Becker is anxious to take the stand in his own behalf and that Martin T. Montano, his counsel, may permit him to do so. It is expected that several days will be occupied in securing a jury. The trial probably will occupy three weeks or a month.

DEFEATED HILLSIDES' OF LAWYERS IN ONE-SIDED GAME—SO, ENDS SUITOUT T. R. & T'S

The Boston club's baseball team proved too much for the Hillside of Lawyers today in their contest on the South End grounds and the local club, won by the score of 15 to 1. Smith was on the mound for the Buntings and allowed but four hits. Smith and W. Rice were the heavy hitters for the locals.

Another amateur game which attracted a great deal of interest locally was the South End T. R. & T's game played at North Billerica. The South End produced a lineup which was too strong for the North Billerica aggregation and won by a 7-0 score. The batting of Clark and the holding of Grady and Gallagher for the South End and the good round work of Hartley and Shawney for the losers were the features.

RT. REV. WM. LAWRENCE

AMONG THE TOILERS

RT. REV. WILLIAM LAWRENCE.

Confirmed Class at St. John's Church Yesterday—Sermon at St. Anne's

Speaking at St. Anne's church yesterday, Rt. Rev. William Lawrence said that what we hear is largely dependent upon what we want to hear and what our characters make us desire to hear. Those things, he said, sweep in and the others are lost. Bishop Lawrence preached from the text, "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear; but take heed what ye hear." He said in part:

"Think of the horror of a life that has accustomed itself to hear only the things that degrade. Take, for instance, a man who, from boyhood, has been in the habit of listening to foul stories. As he gets older, the habit has grown upon him so that if he hears in the distance the sound of one of those stories, his ears are pricked up and he listens; and when he aspires to hear things that habit of listening holds him down."

"Again, you conceive how a woman's character may be demoralized as she gets into the habit of listening to gossip and scandal? Lots of fine things sweep in and she is indifferent to them. As the years go by her ears become sensitive to the trivial things, and her character is disintegrated until, when she is older, she is nothing but a silly gossip. She had ears to hear, but she did not take heed what kind of things she listened to."

"Throughout history there have been those who seemed ready to catch the sound of heavenly voices. When Saul fell to the ground converted he heard, but the others did not."

"What are the sounds of the city? Why, the roar of the mills or the roar of the motor cars over the pavement. Yet we walk through the streets and we do not hear them very often, when we are listening to the voice of a friend."

"Down in a certain part of the city are parents humble and poor, obliged to live in tenements it may be overlapped schools or in streets where children are evil. We can hear, if we will, the voices of the father and mother as they talk, wondering how they can keep their children pure under those conditions. The hardship of poverty is not in the poverty, but in the conditions that poverty brings."

"Again, there is the cry, the prayer of the mother as she thinks of her wayward child, the desire, spoken in silence, of those who seek power and better things. The foreigner sees that his children are caught with the spirit of Americanism, that he does not understand. Those voices are loud, if we listen to them."

"In our social life, there are those who are dependent and those who are over-successful and who think that they are leaders of the world."

"Those of us who are middle-aged, should we not refine our auditory nerves a bit, occasionally? Young people are looking to us to find a response to the fine ideals and the enthusiasms that they feel. Those voices are all about us, even though we hear them not. It is well that we who are older and have become over-sensitive or lacking in idealism, shall keep our ears attuned to their voices. O, you that have ears to hear, listen and take heed what you hear."

Confirmation at St. John's

Bishop Lawrence confirmed a class at St. John's in the morning and at St. Anne's in the evening. Forty-nine were confirmed at St. Anne's and twenty-one at St. John's. It was his annual visit to Lowell churches.

At St. John's church, the bishop spoke on "Christianity." In his opening he expressed gratitude over the splendid improvement of the church since his last visit.

He then referred to the beautiful sanctuary window which was given by Mrs. Greenleaf, a sister of the poet Longfellow, as a thank offering for her miraculous avoidance of serious accident, while driving with the family of one of the rectors of the church.

Speaking on the progress of Christianity he said that vital statistics show that in Christian countries life is much longer than in heathen countries, and the people are stronger and healthier than are the pagans. This fact shows conclusively that the religion of Christ has a very positive material effect upon our bodies, although the first effect is a mental one.

First Universalist Church

"The Great Affirmations of Religion" was Rev. Dr. Fisher's sermon subject at the First Universalist church, Sunday morning. He said that thousands of dollars had been spent for the propagation of religion. The first question that arises in the mind is, What good is religion to the world? This query is a most pertinent one, in view of the fact that many church members have gone wrong, and have thus cast a reflection upon the church. We cannot expect that all affirmations as to religion will agree, as we see things from varying angles of thought. There is much negative preaching that lacks a higher affirmation to take its place. The first great affirmation was the existence of God, and as the world grows broader in its interpretation of things spiritual, the ideals of God become higher and nobler. Another great affirmation was the personality of Jesus Christ, and in that line of thought humanity is becoming more and more united with the conviction that that personality was so sweet and tender, as well as grand and exalting, as to enter into human hearts, sweetening and uplifting them. The third great affirmation was salvation, which, according to the preacher, was simply the diminishing of the evil in one's nature, and the development of nobility of character.

Pawtucket Church

At Pawtucket church Sunday evening, Mr. Sidney R. Fleece repeated the program of organ music which he gave recently at a recital in the Kirk Street church. The organ numbers were varied by two baritone solos by Mr. Edward L. Gerry of Haverhill, who sang Dudley Buck's setting of "Fear Not Ye, O Israel," and a devotional number, "In My Father's House are Many Mansions," by McDermid. The recital was given in place of the usual evening service.

Using High Grade Leather

"Fabrics this season are worn to some extent, but they are gradually losing their popularity. Since the price of shoes have been advanced, some shoe manufacturers have thought it best to use a better grade of upper leather than they ever used before."—Hides and Leather's Boston market report.

Shoe Trade in Mexico

Shoe and leather trade between the United States and Mexico was steadily increasing up to the time that difficulties arose between the two nations. Apparently, it had a bright future before it. But there is no knowing how much of setback the American armed intervention has given to it, says the Lynn item.

Mexico has supplied hides and skins to the United States for a great many years. Richard J. Dana tells about collecting hides on the west coast of Mexico for the Boston market in his book, "Twenty Years Before the Mast." In recent years Mexico has been sending to the United States annually about 30,000,000 pounds of cattle hides, worth $4,000,000. That was a substantial supply of hides, and it helped a lot in relieving the scarcity of hides in American markets. Mexico also sent to this country about 5,000,000 pounds of goat skins, worth more than $1,500,000. It also sent a few miscellaneous skins, like deerskins for fine buck leather and snake skins for fancy leather.

Exports of American shoes to Mexico have exceeded $1,000,000 yearly for several years. Several New England firms had good customers in Mexico, and the large exporters, like Keith Co., had retail stores in Mexico City. Many of the New England made shoes sent to Mexico were sold to Americans residing there. They were high grade shoes.

Ten years or more ago enterprising Americans undertook to develop the shoe manufacturing business in Mexico. It was a promising field. There were in Mexico several millions of people who wore good shoes and only a few shoemakers, most of whom made shoes by hand on custom orders. Shoes sold in retail stores were imported from the United States or from European countries.

The United Shoe Machinery Co. sent agents to Mexico and eventually established an agency in Mexico City. Henry Chapman of Salem, who had charge of this agency, returned to the home office in Boston last year, when trouble in Mexico began, and later he went to Buenos Ayres. Other machinery companies sent agents to Mexico, or established business through commission houses there. The machinery companies of Salem and Peabody supplied much machinery to Mexican tanneries which were being turned from simple

Women Should Take Warning

If the statement made at a New York Assembly of women, that healthy American women are so rare that they are almost extinct, is true, it is time for the women of America to take warning and look to their health. It may be headaches, backaches, dragging down pains, nervousness, mental depression, that are tell-tale symptoms of some organic derangement, for which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—a simple remedy made from roots and herbs—is a specific and may be relied upon to restore women to a healthy normal condition.

In Mazatlan, on the west coast of Mexico, an effort was made to establish a modern shoe and leather manufacturing plant several years ago. Several New Englanders went to Mazatlan to teach Mexicans the New England ways of making shoes and leather. Among them were J. W. McDonald, who was superintendent of the Mosser tannery in Salem; J. B. Keefe, a Lynn shoe manufacturing expert, who is now in Rochester, N. Y., and Henry Brown, another Lynn shoe expert.

Some of the methods in the Mazatlan factory were unusual. It is said that when the Americans arrived in the shop they found the cutters laying three or four skins, one on top of the other, on their boards and running their knives around a pattern on them. The good pieces from the underneath skins were saved and the poor pieces were discarded. When an American was brought to this waste of leather the foreman of the cutting room said, "The leather does not cost us anything. We get it from our own tannery."

All of the manual labor in the shoe factory and tannery was done by Mexicans and Indians. The Americans supervised it. The Mexicans showed unusual skill in some branches of shoemaking, particularly in stitching of shoes. They were not educated, and they were not reliable. Nevertheless the American succeeded in having them turn out some very good leather and shoes.

The United States Shoe Manufacturing Co. was established in Mexico City several years ago by young men from St. Louis. This concern prospered, and in one year it paid 100 per cent. on its capital.

This present trouble with Mexico will probably have a harmful effect on the shoe and leather industry, for it will on one hand cut off the supply of Mexican hides and skins, and on the other hand it will put an end to the sale of American shoes in Mexico until conditions are readjusted.

Shipments of shoes from Lynn to Mexico have practically ceased. Some Lynn firms abandoned the Mexican trade some time ago, discontinuing the services of traveling salesmen in Mexico and refusing to fill orders from Mexican customers.

I. W. W. LEADER BREAKS LEG

LAWRENCE, May 4.—David Kimmond, who was chairman of the local office Print Works strikers in the recent strike and who was to start this week on a speech-making tour of the country, as a representative of the I. W. W. will be obliged to cancel all his engagements to speak, for Saturday morning he met with a most peculiar accident, breaking a leg.

The following account of Kimmond's misfortune was obtained from his boarding mistress and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Morgan of 111 Canal street.

When he reported for breakfast Saturday morning, he brought a man down with him, according to Mr. and Mrs. Morgan.

"Give this man a seat at the table," demanded David.

"Not at this table," said Mrs. Morgan. "I'll have no drunken bums here. You bring them around all the time."

Then Mr. Morgan asked the stranger to depart, while Kimmond went over to the stove in the kitchen where Mrs. Morgan was cooking and began to tell her in foul language, it is said, just what he thought of her.

"Where did you come from?" asked Mr. Morgan of the stranger.

"I have a home," declared the man. "Then go to it," said Mr. Morgan.

Meanwhile Kimmond was arguing with Mrs. Morgan. Finally, it is alleged, he lifted his fist to strike her, according to three people who were in the room at the time, and Mrs. Morgan gave him only a light push. Kimmond's long legs became tangled up and he fell in a heap on the kitchen floor with his leg broken.

Mr. Morgan then summoned a police officer who ordered him removed to the city hospital.

Mr. Morgan said that Kimmond was always in a fight with some one of the boarders; that he owed for board and was continually causing trouble, but no one dared to talk to him as they say they considered him a dangerous man.

Couple Rescued

Marooned in the Merrimack River

The bravery of a young man, identity unknown, who jumped into the Merrimack river yesterday forenoon and swam to a boat about 75 feet from the shore where a man and woman were marooned, being unable to row against the swift current, played a great part in the rescuing of the said man and woman, who refused to give their names, at a spot located several hundred yards below the Aiken street bridge.

The pair started out to enjoy a few hours of boating about 10 o'clock but had been rowing only a short time when the swift stream proved stronger than the man at the oars and the craft was taken down stream where it caught in some bushes nearly a hundred feet from shore. The cries of the couple attracted the attention of people passing along Lakeview avenue and after all efforts to reach shore had failed a hurry call was sent into the police station and Inspector Walsh and Sgt. Petrie were soon on the scene with rope and other paraphernalia.

But the next question that confronted the rescuers was to get one end of the rope to the people in the boat as there was no other craft in the vicinity. Fortunately, there was one young man in the group who volunteered to brave the cold waters and swim to the boat and tying the rope around his waist started out amid cheers from the bystanders. After a struggle he succeeded in reaching his destination and fastening the rope around the bow of the boat he shouted to those on shore to haul it in.

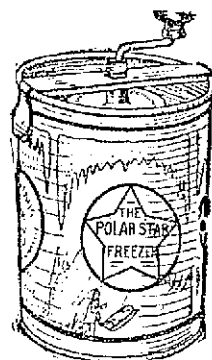

When the party was landed the lady was at the point of exhaustion as a result of shouting and fright and medical attendance was required to revive her. However, the trio who took the important parts in the affair made their getaway before their names could be secured by the police.

SEVERAL SMALL FIRES

In responding to an alarm for a grass fire off Knapp avenue, Saturday evening, the High street fire auto backed in turning from High street into Rogers.

The men got out to see what the trouble was and after a few minutes a great sheet of flame started under the machine. The gasoline was leaking and became ignited. But for the use of the chemicals the machine would have been destroyed.

Investigation showed that a pipe leading to the gasoline tank was broken. The chemicals were run off and the break repaired after a couple of hours' delay.

Capt. W. A. Dolan of Hose 11, while working on the blaze was burned about the face while using a chemical.

Yesterday forenoon an automobile owned and driven by Arthur Bibeault caught fire in Riverside street and an alarm from box 7 summoned the members of the department in the scene of the fire. A few dashes from the fire station brought the engine, which machine would have been destroyed.

Yesterday noon another alarm from box 115 was sent in for an automobile fire in Aiken street. There was no damage.

Late Saturday afternoon an alarm from box 71 summoned a portion of the department to Varnum avenue where a brush fire was in progress. In the evening the firemen were called by telephone to the rear of Fort Hill park for a threatening brush fire.

At 8.55 last night an alarm from box 119 was sent in for a rubbish fire at 117 Adams street. No damage.

THE STREET IDLERS

The summer sun that brings the flies and mosquitoes and sunburn and other disagreeable things also brings the street loafer. From May until October one sees all varieties of him from the type that seems like an exemplification of perpetual motion, perspiring and bustling from postoffice to city hall and from city hall to Merrimack square, to the other and scarcely less vicious type which looks like an adjunct of some particularly pleasant corner. In time one grows to look for him; he gets as familiar as Page's clock, and if by any malicious stroke of fate the routine of his ornamental existence should be varied, one would regard it in the same light as an eclipse of the sun or an earthquake or some other equally unusual event. Sometimes a specimen from long association has taken on the look of the neighborhood which he decorates, but occasionally a new addition to the line offends in the glaring inconsistencies of marvellous socks and ties. The ordinance against billboards should be widened to include this disturber of visual harmony.

Now the street loafer, if he restricts himself to the merely ornamental side of his negative occupation hurts nobody in particular, unless himself possibly. If he has a father or mother or sister or wife who tolerates him, the general public has no reason to set up a howl. If he is rich enough to do anything he pleases, he stands as an object lesson for those who would preach socialism. On the other hand, too many of his variety are so very lovely and so lost in self-admiration that they are anxious for the force of the world—especially the feminine portion of it—to take notice. They, therefore, oggle all who pass by and between their cigarette puffs or the exhortations that result from tobacco chewing, they occasionally even go so far as to drop insulting remarks. This is where the business of the street loafer becomes the business of everybody in general and the police in particular. Even at the risk of weakening the building supports or removing ancient landmarks, those who so indulge their tendency towards "mashing" should be summarily dealt with.

Even at the risk of being considered most uncharitable one cannot dismiss the street idler without a passing reference to the silly groups of girls that make a specialty of street parading. Back and forth, back and forth they go for hours inviting undesirable male interference and cheapening themselves to a degree they cannot recognize. After a while one almost unconsciously recognizes the fact that same faces are as familiar on Merrimack street as one of the fixed advertising signs. Many of these girls are young and, therefore, may be excused but parents and guardians should see to it that needless street strolling should be reduced to a minimum. One who so cheapens herself has little cause for protest if she is spoken to or otherwise interfered with by the type of young man who looks around for his own type of woman.

It is needless to state of vice or to deplore the alleged immoral conditions of our cities unless preventive measures are used, and among the proper preventive measures are the proper policing of parks and public places on the streets so that the vicious are curbed in their malicious desires and that the immature and kiddy be saved from their own folly and lack of experience. If the aggregation of loafers cannot be sent to work they should at least be restricted as far as possible to the ornamental side of their occupation. If, like other utilities in their periods of idleness, they could be parked or kept in one section all would be well but where they are scattered through all sections of the city it is more difficult for the authorities to keep track of them. Nevertheless, it is most important that they be under observation. Idleness is still the father of a great deal of mischief and crime.

TOLLS REPEL GAINS

While the Mexican situation has been engrossing the attention of the whole country almost to the exclusion of all other matters, the fight for revision of the Panama canal tolls clause has been steadily gaining. At the present writing its passage seems secured, and in a very short time. Evidently the impetus gained by its prompt and overwhelming success in the lower house at first discouraged those who had counted on creating a strong sentimental opposition throughout the country, and afterwards showed them the futility of trying to raise an issue where none was intended. President Wilson in his request stipulated that the question of right should not be raised.

The one important change in the bill since its passage by the house is an amendment to the effect that the United States does not forfeit its claim to "treaty or other right" in repealing the act. This, though seemingly ornamental merely and unnecessary does not change the intent of the bill and if it acts as an application of oil to the troubled waters, there is no reason why it should not be appended. As it has the approval of the president, there is every likelihood that it strengthens the cause of repeal. At this late date a few of the senators favor submitting the matter to arbitration, but the surest thing is not timely and there is really nothing to arbitrate. If repeal endangers any American interest, it will be conserved by the proposed amendment.

FRUITS OF ANARCHY

Out from the depths of the industrial whirlpool which has almost overwhelmed the coal districts of Colorado comes many an indication of the spirit that has plunged the state into a condition very like civil war. For years past the mines have been the Mecca for the preacher of advanced labor views, and the miners have been told that it is unjust that they should work for a wage, no matter how high or how low the wage may be. Other influences have tried to combat the advance of religion and gradually a feeling of rebellion has crept in against all forms of constituted authority. The result was inevitable. Once the barriers of society are removed and the dangerous doctrines of anarchy and advanced socialism implanted in an organized group of workers, where is government or law? Unfortunately the state troops who went to quell the labor disturbances acted neither wisely nor too well and they gave the armed workers the argument that follows the murder of women and children. Now that the federal troops have taken hold the rebellion will undoubtedly be quelled but the spirit that worked havoc in Colorado must eventually be suppressed by the force of logic instead of the force of arms. The recent conditions should warn the rest of the country against the propaganda of those who teach rebellion against the flag and religion.

OUR FISHERMEN

The news that the United States bureau of fisheries has stocked the lakes and ponds in the vicinity of Lowell with the largest supply of fish ever sent to any one section by the government will bring gladness to the hearts of our local fishermen, whose names are legion. For many years past the supply for a wide radius has been steadily decreasing, and those who wished to enroll themselves among the followers of Isaac Walton were compelled to fold their tents like the Arabs and to silently steal away to ponds and rivers remote. Nature has supplied Massachusetts with some of the finest fishing grounds in New England, but so ardent was the spirit of our fishermen that the perch, pickerel and trout were gradually but surely disappearing. In a very short time it will not be necessary for the devotees of the sport which cultivates patience to seek the Maine wilds or the lakes of New Hampshire, and those unlucky ones who wound up their fishing trip by a visit to a nearby fish market may well take heart anew. There are good things ahead for the Lowell fisherman, and we heartily congratulate him.

THE FLY NURSERIES

Speaking of clean-up week in Boston the Herald says, with special reference to the elimination of the fly nuisance: "Three months from now all the fly traps and sticky paper in the state will not accomplish what a little thought and a scrubbing brush can do today." This is a sentence that all our housewives should be acquainted with, particularly during the coming week when the city will emerge from its winter gloom and shine out in all the splendor of a thorough renovation. Rubbish heaps, garbage cans, damp corners under kitchen sinks, neglected stables and other filthy and damp quarters are prolific fly nurseries and if such places are thoroughly cleaned out and made sanitary during the coming week, millions of flies will be prevented. The woman who deliberately neglects this precaution will deserve little sympathy in the days to come when she will be compelled to bang nasty fly paper all over the house and exercise for an hour or two daily with a swatter.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

In almost all parts of the city some household has an article for which he has no use, and in an opposite section somebody is looking round for just what the other wishes to get rid of. Neither knows of the other's existence. A little newspaper advertisement will prove the magic medium-bringing the seller and the buyer together without fuss or delay and with the minimum of expense. So on in all lines of business. If men could send thought messages, there would be movement in many lines where now there is nothing but stagnation. Until mental telepathy is better developed the newspaper advertisement is the greatest medium for promoting business relationship, and people are realizing the fact more and more daily. If you have a room to let,

Although he has formerly favored the policy of local option with regard to the liquor traffic, Cardinal Gibbons has come out in favor of no-license in a statement to the Anti-Saloon league of Charles county, Md. You couldn't knock sense into some men with a pile-driver.

It is mean for a little man to embarrass a stout lady in a crowded street car by getting up and offering her his seat.

I don't suppose any of the officials of the Bay State Street Railway ever got over Pawtucketville way. If they had occasion to ride across the Pawtucket bridge every day they might find up that had place of rail between the bridge and Varnum avenue. It's like the "rocky road to Dublin" and many a poor passenger has been suddenly taken off his underpinnings when trying to alight at this point.

A patronizing young lord was seated opposite a famous scientist at a dinner one evening not long ago, during a lull in the conversation, he adjusted his monocle and leaned toward the scientist. "I do the same," replied the other, "but to be outside, except that I throw away the larks as well as the woodcock, and eat the nail."—Bon Vivant.

"Oh, yes," said the patient wearily, "I expected that."

"And one cigar a day," "Oh, do not that!" "One cigar a day!" reiterated the doctor, inexorably.

"Oh, very well."

Six months later the patient returned to report.

"Well, how did you like it?" "Fine business, doctor. I'm fit as a fiddle. Me for that early to bed and early to rise thing. It's great."

CARNATIONS

Carnations and my first love! And he was seventeen. I bought them on the morning the I pin among my ribbons in hopes that he might see. And all the girls stood breathless to watch him go, and through with early eyes and grand air that swept the heart from you! And why he paused at my side is more than I can know. The shyest of the small girls that all adored him so, I said to him, "prayer-time—I walked with head held high—"

Carnations and my first love! The carnations are ever a bore. And I recall his first name, and scarce an echos more. And those were all the love-words that I thought of us said— Perhaps he may be married—perhaps he may be dead. And yet— To smell carnations, perfume all come sick room, or passing on the street. Then still the school lights flicker and still the lancers play. And still the girls hold breathless the while he goes his way. And still my child-heart quivers in that first ecstasy.

"Carnations are your flowers," my first love said to me; —Margaret Widener in May Every-body's.

FRESH AIR AND HEALTH

Mental work calls an unusual supply of blood to the brain; the process of digestion calls the blood to the stomach. Brain work immediately after a hearty meal often causes indigestion because the brain has first call on a supply of blood that should be helping the stomach.

Wherever in the economy of the body, work is to be done there is a demand for bright, red blood. Thin blood or blood dark with impurities will not do because it is the oxygen carried by the blood that does the work. Oxygen-bearing blood is bright and red. This life-giving oxygen is taken up by the blood from the air which it meets in the lungs. Hence the great need of fresh air every day of the day and night. But fresh air is useless if the blood cannot take up more oxygen which it carries. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enable the blood to take up more oxygen because they increase the part of the blood that carries the oxygen. This corrects the insatiable, palpitation of the heart, shaky nerves and the pallor that are the results of pure, impure blood.

You must have pure, rich blood to build up your system. This blood is built up by the blood. This blood is built up by the blood. This blood is built up by the blood.

"Building Up the Blood" will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

EAT TOO MUCH

Beware of Hardened Arteries, Says Dr. W. H. Smith in Lecture

BOSTON, May 4.—Dr. W. H. Smith, who delivered the next to the last public lecture of the season at Harvard medical school yesterday afternoon, says most people over eat too much. It is to this habit that he attributes in part, arterio-sclerosis, that hardening of the arteries which chiefly characterizes old age.

He thinks that people should consult their physician at intervals just to see what condition they are in. "Teeth can be purchased and made to serve as well as one's own," he said, "yet we have conscientiously people visit their dentist every three to six months to see if there is anything to be done. Yet these same people neglect their more vital structures."

"The hardening of the arteries should be diagnosed early, that special diet and other hygiene may be prescribed. A man is as old as his arteries." I have seen men who were young men at 50, and I have seen senile old men at 45. And the same is true of women.

"Men of large heads and short necks, full bodies and given to drinking overmuch wine, are often thought to die of a sudden attack of indigestion, or to take on the foolishness of old age, when it is arterio-sclerosis. While there are many causes of this disease, it is frequently brought on by the abuse of alcohol and the misuse of food, too little exercise, worry and emotional strain.

"First time salts are deposited in the arteries, the vessels harden, an additional strain is put on the heart in pumping the blood through them, less blood reaches the organs to which the diseased vessels lead, those organs become impaired, and poisoning results, or a sudden strain may cause a break, and death results."

He showed lantern slides of X-ray photographs of diseased tissue.

RUN DOWN BY HORSES

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER—MANY WOMAN AND CHILDREN THROWN INTO PANIC

BOSTON, May 4.—Frightened by the breaking of a rein, two horses attached to a hack plunged down the steep grade of Brooks street, East Boston, yesterday noon, trampling Mrs. Mary E. Howe and her daughter Christina, of 39 Trenton street and throwing several other people who were just leaving church into a panic.

Nearly a score of women and children about to board a car at the corner of Lexington street were standing in the path of the maddened animals. They crushed one another in a frenzied effort to get into the car and give the span of horses a clear path. All succeeded except Mrs. Howe and her 19-year-old daughter.

Both were knocked to the ground. The daughter was struck by one of the flying hoofs and at the East Boston hospital it was found that she fearfully bruised as she was dragged over the rough pavement from the force of the blow.

M. J. Conley of 425 Meridian street was passing in an automobile. He picked up the injured women and rushed them to the Relief hospital. Mrs. Howe recovered sufficiently to go to her home, although suffering severely from a shock.

Christina's condition is severe and hospital authorities reported at midnight that her recovery is doubtful. In seeking to shield her mother, the young girl received the full force of the blow when the horses dashed over them.

SHOT DOWN BY WOMAN

ONE-LEGGED BOSTON NEWSBOY FIGHTING FOR HIS LIFE IN HOSPITAL—WOMAN IS SORRY

BOSTON, May 4.—With a revolver bullet lodged somewhere among the muscles, nerves and delicate organs of his neck, Lewis Gold, the one-legged Boston newsboy who was shot down late Saturday night in Haymarket square by a woman giving her name as Mary Germinini, is today fighting valiantly for his life at the Relief station, a short distance from where he fell. He has a chance of recovery.

The Germinini woman will be arraigned in the police court this morning charged with assault on Gold with intent to kill. She declares, with every evidence of regret, that she is sorry she hit Gold and intended him no harm at all.

The man was trying to bring down a quarrel at the subway entrance, an employee of the Grotto, a North End cafe, who was captured running from Haymarket square after the shooting. He claims he lives at 33 Lubec street, East Boston.

Quinto is held by the police and will be in court today facing a white slave charge.

According to bystanders, there was a quarrel at the subway entrance before the shooting between the Germinini woman and Quinto. A second man was in the group, but both the woman and Quinto agree that he was not involved in the dispute, but simply happened to be with Quinto. Witnesses say that just before the woman drew the revolver from her gown and began firing Quinto had struck her in the face with a package which looked like a pair of shoes.

The surgeons at the Relief station have not as yet thought it best to probe for the bullet in Gold's throat because of the danger of injuring some of the delicate organs or nerves. If there is evidence that blood poisoning is setting in the throat probably will be X-rayed and an attempt made to get the lead out. Gold has been conscious ever since he was hit and says he had never before seen the woman who shot him.

BODY IN RESERVOIR

BROOKLINE WOMAN USED FLAT-IRON TO DROWN HERSELF, ACCORDING TO THE POLICE

BOSTON, May 4.—With a seven-pound flatiron tied to the lapel of her coat, the body of an unidentified woman was found in the old Boston reservoir in Brookline yesterday morning. Medical Examiner Cuffs declared she had committed suicide, and very recently.

The woman was evidently a domestic. Her body was seen floating in the water by Perceval H. Lombard, who lives near by, on Hillsdale avenue. He dragged it ashore and notified the police.

The body bears several rather remarkable characteristics, which it is thought will lead to a speedy identification. Her teeth were heavily filled with gold and a gold band held her lower teeth in place. She had a very prominent mole on her cheek.

She was about 35 years old, four feet 10 inches tall and wore a gray coat with purple lining, a blue serge suit, low-cut black shoes, a black straw hat and black stockings.

TOMBSTONES SMASHED

VANDALS WRECKED CEMETERY AT MILLBURY—$10,000 WORTH OF PROPERTY DESTROYED

MILLBURY, May 4.—Marble monuments and tombstones worth more than $10,000 were upset and ruthlessly smashed in the cemetery here some time Saturday night. State police inspectors, investigating the affair, said yesterday it was the strangest act of vandalism that has ever come to their attention.

Four magnificent shafts, weighing tons, were piled loose from their bases and toppled onto the graves they were set to mark, crumbling smaller stones in their fall. One of these was the monument that occupied the center of the family lot of the Greenwoods, around the base of which are buried some of the town's most noted residents. It was 15 feet high, mounted on a three-foot-high base, with a huge ball on top, and is said to have cost $1500.

A veritable gang armed with crow-bars and other tools must have taken part in the work of destruction, according to the police. They say one or two men could never have managed the amount of devastation to the heavy monuments.

The tale of wreckage comprised four shafts and 34 gravestones. All of these large and some of beautiful workmanship. Simple vandalism was the apparent motive, for no attempt

DANGER FROM FIRE AT THE EDSON SCHOOL

State Inspector Orders Commissioner Donnelly to Correct Dangerous Condition on Third Floor and Provide Additional Egress

Bodies being minus a master, the Edson school, according to J. J. Carey, state building inspector, is in a dangerous condition in case of fire. He says that the conditions existing there, especially on the third floor, should be corrected at once. He calls attention to the fact that two stairways leading from the third floor land in the same corridor and are very close together and that additional egress should be provided.

The state inspector has recommended a number of changes in school-houses, and Commissioner Donnelly says it will take considerable money to make all of the repairs ordered by the inspector. The commissioner stated today that he would not tackle the repairs until the vacation season and he will probably ask for a special appropriation.

Inspector Carey's letter relative to the Edson school is as follows:

Commissioner James E. Donnelly, City

Hall, Lowell, Mass.:
Dear Sir:—In compliance with the provisions of the statutes of the Commonwealth, chapter 55A, acts of 1913, relating to the inspection of public buildings, on the first day of May, 1914, I inspected the Edson school, located on Highland street, Lowell, and you are directed to provide additional egress from third floor of this building, make stationary swinging gates on third floor corridor and throughout building; protect ceiling over boiler in basement with approved fire resisting material; provide approved hardware on all exit doors and exit signs to indicate all means of egress; provide additional means to extinguish fire.

Your attention is called to the fact that the conditions existing in this building, and especially on the third floor, are dangerous in case of fire on account of the fact that two stairways leading from said third floor to second floor land in the same corridor and are very close together. Said dangerous condition should be changed immediately. Respectfully,
J. J. Carey,
State Building Inspector.

BIDS ON OLD GLORY

Foreign Firms Underbid Lowell Manufacturers — Bunting for Flag Should be Made at Home

Shall the bunting for the American flag be made at home or abroad? This is a real live question today and Lowell is very much interested inasmuch as Lowell has been selling flag bunting to Uncle Sam for high onto 20 years.

The New England Bunting Co. in Davidson street have had government orders for bunting for at least 20 years and now the question hinges as to whether this company shall be awarded the contract for 255,000 yards for the navy department. Two or three foreign companies have bid two or three cents a yard less than the New England Bunting Co., but the chances are that Uncle Sam will not suffer to have it said that he went abroad for his bunting just because it was a few cents cheaper. Perish the thought!

The following despatch from Washington has to do with the contract in question:

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 4.—England through two firms has entered bids with the navy department to make the bunting for the United States flags used by the navy, and the city of Lowell has become excited about it, for this bunting has been made by either the U. S. Bunting company or the New England Bunting company, both of Lowell, for the last half century, and they are in danger of losing their contracts so long enjoyed.

The contracts amount to about $30,000 annually and have heretofore been uncompleted for by any foreign source, but this time the English firms alluded to have submitted bids, which have just been opened by the navy department and which, if accepted by the United States government, would mean a saving of $2000 over the bids submitted by the American firms.

It is recalled that Secretary Daniels has encouraged bidding for navy supplies by foreign firms to reduce the price charges made by Americans in bidding on navy materials. It has been declared that Americans have been accustomed to demand several prices in supplying the navy, far in excess over what they asked private firms.

The bunting is the raw material of flag. It is sent to the navy yards, where it is sewn into flags.

Congressman Rogers has presented the appeal to the bureau of construction, repairs and supplies and they will make an inquiry before laying the matter before the secretary of the navy.

Meantime there are some who are looking with great horror upon the idea of American flags used by the navy being made in England. They are expected to make the eagle scream.

RUMOR RUPTURE BETWEEN HUERTA AND BLANQUET

Refugees Arriving at Vera Cruz Tell of Reported Break Between Dictator and Minister of War—Envoys Resume Peace Session—Delegates from all Parties to Meet—Huerta Names His Representative—Announcement Expected Soon

WASHINGTON, May 4.—General Huerta's acceptance of the request of the Latin-American envoys that he sent delegates to confer with them in efforts to mediate the difficulties between Mexico and the United States was announced today at the state department, together with the names of two Mexicans who will represent the Huerta government in the negotiations. The mediators at a conference with Secretary of State Bryan communicated to the department that Huerta had selected to represent his interests in the negotiations D. Emilio Rabasa, a Mexican jurist and Argentine Garza Galindo, under secretary of justice in Mexico. It further was announced that a third delegate to represent Huerta would be named tomorrow.

Following the conference Secretary Bryan made public the information from Mexico City which Huerta had communicated first through Ambassador Hinojosa of Spain. The further announcement was made that no delegate to represent the United States had been selected. Mr. Bryan would not discuss the details of the conference further.

Mr. Rabasa is a close friend of General Huerta and it is believed here he was his personal choice. He once had been chosen by Huerta to be ambassador to the United States in case this government had recognized the Huerta regime.

It was thought here that the third delegate to be named to represent Huerta would be either Joaquin Cisneros or Manuel D. Zamacoena.

EXPECT CARRANZA TO SEND DELEGATES

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The Mexican situation in all its aspects was again before the South American mediators when they resumed their sessions at the Argentine legation today. They planned as their first move of the day to go to the state department for a reply to their request for the appointment of a delegate from the United States. The Huerta delegates, it was believed, would be either Joaquin Cisneros, now on his way here from Carlsbad, or Zamacoena, La Lucha, former Mexican financial adviser at London, and the Carranza delegate probably Rafael Zubaran, now here.

It was learned from an authoritative source that Carranza had sent a further telegram to the mediators inquiring as to their request for the appointment of a Carranza delegate, as to the extent of their functions and as to whether this would be limited to the controversy between the United States and Huerta, beyond which Carranza has shown disinclination to negotiate.

Meantime, the mediators were chiefly concerned in not having any untoward warfare by advance posts and skirmishes to cause complications in the negotiations. Besides the actual steps they have taken they view their largest work thus far as being a suspension of a condition of war and the time this has given to consider the possibility of finding some middle ground of adjustment.

Delegates From All Parties

They were now reasonably hopeful that an open rupture and warfare was put off, except for the movement of the Carranza forces. The tense situation at Mexico City also gave some concern, as it was realized a crisis might come from that quarter at any time. But with these two dangers avoided for the present—warfare and a possible catastrophe at Mexico City—the mediators were determined to go steadily forward in shaping the procedure for their meeting with the delegates from the three parties.

Their sessions continued to be interrupted by the delegates from the three parties.

STRUCK BY TRAIN

Arthur Leclerc Run Over and One Foot May be Amputated

Arthur Leclerc of 14 Woodbury St., aged 20 years, was struck by a train while crossing the railroad tracks near the Red bridge on Broadway about 2 o'clock this afternoon and as a result he now lies at St. John's hospital with both feet badly crushed. It was stated at the hospital this afternoon that at least one of his feet would have to be amputated.

Just how the accident happened could not be learned as there were no witnesses, and young Leclerc was unable to tell the particulars. It is said that he was walking across the railroad track and was not aware that the engine was approaching upon the track which he was walking until it was within a few feet of him. He was knocked down and the wheels passed over his feet. When picked up, the young man was unable to tell whether he was struck by a freight car or an engine.

E. F. CARVIL IDENTIFIED

He Admits Shooting Providence Police Officer and Says Drink Was Cause

Word was today received from Detroit, Mich., that the young man arrested there last week under the name of Frank Ryan has been positively identified as Edward F. Carvil of this city, through finger prints taken by the local police several years ago when he was arrested charged with breaking and entering in this city. It is claimed that Carvil admitted crime during the past year or two and told the police at Detroit that he shot the Providence policeman although he did so because the latter used him roughly. When arrested last week he fought for several minutes with the arresting officer and after being brought to the station said that he had committed practically all of the crimes while under the influence of liquor.

When the Providence police suspected Carvil of the assault upon a policeman there they sent for his finger prints to be taken and sent copies of the prints to different police departments in the country. The Detroit police received a copy and found that they tallied with those taken the day of his arrest.

Last of Gettysburg Commanders Attended by Wife, Estranged 29 Years Ago

Suffrage Demonstration in Boston Cheered by 200,000 Who Lined Streets

NEW YORK, May 4.—Gen. Daniel E. Sickles died at his home shortly after the nation's capital was visited by the 9 o'clock train. The wife was at his bedside at the end.

Mrs. Sickles, who had been estranged from her husband for more than a quarter of a century, went to the general's house Saturday when she was informed he was dying and took charge of the arrangements for his care. She remained near his side through the night and watched by him until his death.

The reconciliation was brought about largely through the efforts of their son, Stanton. It is understood that the general recently having married a woman, Mrs. Stanton, who was the daughter of a prominent family, and that she was the daughter of a prominent family, and that she was the daughter of a prominent family.

Always a Fighter
Gen. Daniel E. Sickles was the last of the great commanders who fought the battle of Gettysburg. For a decade he was a fighter by profession—all his life he was a fighter by nature.

The great old warrior, with his long shot away in battle, his massive body resembling a battle-axe, was a picture of a man who had lived through the most turbulent life.

His indomitable fighting spirit was shown to the last. Born in New York city in 1825, Sickles, at the age of 27, fought the whigs as a democrat in the New York legislature. At 32 he displayed his fighting spirit as a republican attorney of New York. It was in 1861 when he secured his first real triumph. At this time his military career began as major of the 14th regiment, National Guard of New York.

Before he was 32 years old, Major Sickles had served as secretary of legation at London under Minister James Buchanan, he had won a reputation through his military career, and he was seated in the hall of fame at Washington.

Killed Wife's Friend
It was at this time that an event occurred which began the separation of the day. Sickles had been his son.

BOSTON, May 4.—Votes for women with ten thousand women lined the streets in Boston Saturday afternoon, when a grand success and the parade was one of the most beautiful that has ever been seen in Boston.

The parade was started at 10 o'clock at the corner of the city hall and proceeded down the city hall and proceeded down the city hall and proceeded down the city hall.

As the slowly moving parade of women bearing the banner of the suffrage, the parade was one of the most beautiful that has ever been seen in Boston.

The parade was a spectacle, a challenge and a demonstration of strength, which was what the women have been for many months to make it.

UNIONISTS LAST KICK

TRY TO DEFEAT HOME RULE BY BRINGING UP THE O'SHEA PARALLEL SCANDAL

LONDON, May 4.—The announcement by the Scotch that on Tuesday next it will begin the publication of the Memoirs of Katherine O'Shea Parnell, widow of the great Irish leader, has created a profound sensation.

Coming at this time on the very eve of the vote on the home rule bill, it is considered a final attempt to block it by a sensational move instigated by the Tories, but like the attempt of the London Times this too is likely to rebound.

The nationalist leaders see the sinister hand of unionist politicians in these "revelations" to come. The latter excitement has died down, and out of the chaos there was little real faction left for the unionists. Weaker now than before the Union agitation began, certain to lose any general election should one be forced, they are willing apparently to make a last desperate move.

One home rule bill was defeated by dragging a scandal to light and now they try to defeat another by rattling the dry bones of the ancient scandal set up in new form.

To Vindicate O'Shea
Mrs. Katherine O'Shea Parnell has announced even the high leaders by her frank proclamation that she intends to vindicate the memory of her first husband, Captain O'Shea, who was executed a divorce by the English courts on charges of her misconduct.

If this be her object, the nationalist leaders feel that she intends to deliberately sacrifice the memory of Charles Stewart Parnell, who married her shortly after Captain O'Shea was granted a divorce. Mr. Parnell lived but a short time and died a heart-broken man.

Mrs. Parnell's memoirs were promised nearly a year ago, but evidently were withheld awaiting the psychological moment which has now come.

Parnell a Sacrifice
About a year ago William O'Brien, M. P. for Cork City, wrote in his newspaper, "The Cork Free Press," an account of an interview he had with Sir Frank Lockwood, who was Mrs. Parnell's counsel and one of the leaders of the English bar.

Shortly after the trial Sir Frank Lockwood promptly told Mr. O'Brien that Parnell had been sacrificed by him and he felt very sorry about it. The secret of the matter was that Parnell could have been cleared substantially by certain evidence given both by himself and by others.

It was confidently asserted that the attachment between Mrs. O'Shea and Parnell had been committed to by Captain O'Shea and fostered by him in order to promote certain political adventures of his.

Counsel Remorseful
With his evidence before the court

the case would have been thrown out under the English law. Sir Frank Lockwood, knowing that Parnell would rather sacrifice himself than allow any woman to suffer on his account, refrained from using the weapon that would have won him the action.

Later he felt remorseful and told Mr. O'Brien how badly Parnell had been used and his regrets over the results of the case.

Mrs. Parnell saw the article and promptly announced that she was writing her own account of the famous case and all that led up to it.

The articles are intended no doubt to assail the political standing of some of the present leaders but any charge based on the statement of little O'Shea will be discredited in advance unless supported by convincing evidence from other sources.

MEN SHOULD OBEY WIVES

BOSTON, May 4.—The Rev. A. H. Nazarian told his congregation at People's Temple last night that many a time he had wanted to reverse the word obey as used in the marriage service and ask the man to obey the woman.

"Many a time," said he, "if the man had obeyed, the children would not have gone hungry."

The service was a woman suffrage rally, and Mrs. Marion Booth Kelley, whose husband is president of the Men's League for Equal Suffrage, made an address before an altar draped with American flags bound about with yellow suffrage pennants. Moreover, "anti" wearing red roses among the audience, applauded her address on Women's Contribution to Modern Life.

Her principal statement was that "it is that instinctive motherhood of the race that is behind the suffrage movement today."

CLOSE OF CONVENTION CHICAGO TO BOSTON

IRON MOLDERS CLOSED SUCCESSFUL CONVENTION WITH ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The Molders convention, which closed Saturday afternoon, was thoroughly successful. The quick time in which the enormous amount of important business on hand was transacted broke all records. Everything was business with the convention, no time being wasted on petty entertainment, banquets, etc. The delegates were a splendid body of men, who came here not solely for the purpose of promoting their own union, but for the purpose of promoting every labor question that would help the many hard labor unions, and the labor movement throughout the land. Their motto was "Amicable settlement between employer and employee."

The delegates were eloquent in their praise of Lowell. They left yesterday, tired but happy, for their homes. The officers elected last Saturday afternoon were as follows:

President, Chas. T. Nevins of Taunton; first vice president, H. E. Bryant of Plymouth; vice president, Daniel Sullivan, Nashua, N. H.; R. H. Browne of Middleford, Me.; Henry J. Mueller, Providence, R. I.; secretary, Chas. E. Anderson, Lowell; business manager, Eugene L. Murphy, Norwood.

The convention will meet in Providence, R. I., next year.

BIG INCREASE IN CRIME

CHICAGO REPORTS 500 HOLDUPS SINCE JAN. 1—2,000 BURGLARIES IN FLATS—400 AUTOS STOLEN

CHICAGO, May 24.—Compilations for the four months ending April 30 show an increase in crime in Chicago over any similar period in the history of the police department.

Since Jan. 1 five hundred holdup robberies have been reported, the victims reporting losses of about $10,000. There were 2,000 burglaries of flats, residences and stores amounting to $350,000. Houses and wagons and merchandise valued at $30,000 were reported stolen. About four hundred automobiles were reported stolen, but in nearly every case the machine was found abandoned after having been stripped.

AUTO KEPT GOING

AFTER INJURING A HAVERHILL YOUNG WOMAN—MAN THROWN FROM MACHINE LEFT IN ROAD

HAVERHILL, May 4.—Miss Gladys Webster, daughter of the late Jackson Webster, 2 Bradley avenue, and prominent in society, was thrown from her car when she was run into by a speeding automobile, containing five men yesterday afternoon, on the state highway near the Methuen line.

One of the men in the machine was thrown out in the collision.

After the accident the driver of the car, without stopping to aid Miss Webster or to pick up the man who fell from the machine, put on more speed and the automobile disappeared down the highway.

The automobile came upon Miss Webster before she could turn her car to one side. It nearly tipped over after striking the carriage side. The occupant of the machine who was thrown out hurried away and was seen to take a car for Lawrence. He appeared to have been injured severely.

Miss Webster was picked up by an auto party which came along a few minutes later and taken to her home. She was cut about the face and slightly bruised. The carriage was demolished, but the horse escaped injury.

SHELMSFORD

Shelmsford Centre's schoolhouse proposition will be taken up again at a meeting to be held at the Centre this evening and it is expected that a large number of North Chelmsford residents will attend, as keen interest in the controversy is felt in that section of the town. Two articles are contained in the warrant, embracing two recommendations that will be presented to the voters. One calls for the moving of the present building upon the new land, and remodeling it into a 12-room schoolhouse, at an expense of $25,000; and the other favors the erection of a 12-room brick structure to cost $55,000.

ST. JOSEPH'S PARISH 46 YRS. OLD

The Anniversary Observed With Elaborate Services Yesterday

Sermon by Rev. Fr. Forget, O. M. I., a Former Pastor

The People Greeted by the Popular Clergyman

The 46th anniversary of the founding of St. Joseph's parish, the oldest Franco-American Catholic parish in the city, was observed and a sermon delivered by a former pastor, Rev. D. N. Forget, O. M. I., now a missionary stationed at Quebec. The anniversary proper was on April 11, but as is customary, the observance was postponed to the first Sunday in May, the patron feast day of St. Joseph. The old temple in Lee street was handsomely decorated for the occasion, especially the main altar which was a mass of flowers and incandescent lights.

The attendance at the service was very large, many being forced to stand in the rear of the church. It had been previously announced that the sermon would be delivered by Rev. Fr. Forget, who was a favorite in Lowell during his three years as pastor, 1894-95, '96, and accordingly many of the clergyman's old friends and acquaintances were anxious to again listen to one of his interesting sermons after an absence of 17 years.

Fr. Forget succeeded the lamented Rev. Andre M. Garin, O. M. I., the founder of the parish, as pastor, and held the position for three consecutive years, previous to which he had been assistant pastor for three years. Fr. Forget was a favorite among the parishioners of St. Joseph's and was also held in high esteem by the citizens of Lowell, and this was proven when he started a movement for the erection of a monument to the late Fr. Garin, which now stands on a plot of land between the rectory and the church in Merrimack street.

Fr. Forget, who now does missionary work, concluded a two weeks' tour of St. Joseph's church, where he is a well known young man, Rev. V. C. Choquette, is pastor and it was with great joy that he accepted the invitation to preach the sermon at the 46th anniversary of the church. The preacher was introduced by the pastor, Rev. J. C. Racette, O. M. I., Ph. D., who referred to him as an old friend of the parish, an old friend who will never be forgotten. He spoke of his work during his three years as pastor and said he knew every parishioner, old or young, who he pleased to again listen to one who was so dear to them all.

SPANISH WAR DEAD

BIG MEMORIAL IN THEIR HONOR TO BE HELD ON BOSTON COMMONS MAY 24

BOSTON, May 24.—Veterans of the Civil and Spanish wars, militia regiments and regulars from the Charlestown navy yard will participate in the memorial exercises of Boston municipal council, United Spanish War Veterans, on Boston common, Sunday, May 24. In addition, Spanish War Veterans in the police and fire departments will march in the parade preceding the exercises.

Parade will start from the South station at 10:30 o'clock in the morning. The route will be over Summer to Washington, to School, to Beacon, to Charles street, thence to the Parkman bandstand on the common, where the exercises will be held. After the exercises the marchers will reassemble and be reviewed by state and city officials. Secretary Joseph F. Scott announces that invitations to join in the parade and exercises have been accepted by the Coast Artillery corps, U. S. A., five companies and a band; United States navy and marines from the navy yard; First Corps Artillery, 4th and 9th regiments, M. V. M.; naval militia, two squadrons; Post 32, G. A. R.; Keegan Naval Veterans; 9th regiment, Veteran association; British Army and Navy Veterans and Fusilier Veterans. By special arrangement with the Commissioner O'Meara and Fire Commissioner Grady, the policemen and firemen in the parade will be permitted to wear their war and organization badges. The policemen will be under command of Lieut. King, the department drillmaster, and the firemen will be officered by their own members.

FOR KILLING TEACHER

16-YEAR-OLD BOY WILL BE TRIED—MENTAL IRRESPONSIBILITY WILL BE DEFENCE

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., May 4.—In the Herkimer county supreme court tomorrow morning, Jean Glanini, a 16-year-old boy who murdered his teacher, Lida Lou Beecher, in Poland, on the night of March 27, will be brought to trial. Glanini fired the woman to a point on a lonely road under the pretense that he wanted her to consult his father with a view to having young Glanini reinstated in school, and stabbed her with a hunting knife and crushed her skull with a heavy wrench. The youth has admitted the crime. Glanini's defense, which will be conducted by John P. McIntyre of New York, will be mental irresponsibility. A number of alienists have been sub-

REV. J. H. RACETTE, O. M. I.

The preacher took for his subject those words of St. Paul: "Go and see the brothers to whom we have had the joy of advancing the word of God." The missionary then told of his joy to again see the temple, where during several years he had prayed with the parishioners of St. Joseph's. "I am overjoyed to see the old place of the lamented Fr. Garin in the sanctuary," said Fr. Forget, "who, each Sunday for many years you have had the pleasure of hearing. My joy is much greater at seeing one of his pupils, Rev. J. H. Racette at the head of the parish, for this young man is now called upon to continue the good work of Fr. Garin. I am pleased to salute him as your pastor, and to him I extend my heartfelt thanks for having called upon me to address you today."

"Forty-six years ago today Fr. Garin celebrated his first mass in this temple and today I am pleased to see all of you who have helped him materially in the founding of the parish. In those days the faithful were not so numerous, the decorations were not so elaborate, for church services were conducted in a very modest way, but nevertheless they were very impressive. The clergyman then reviewed the work of Fr. Garin and the growth of the parish during the past 46 years. He spoke of the sacrifices of the parishioners in those days and referred to the burning of St. Jean Baptiste church, which he said, in a few months will be reopened for service and again will be the pride of the parishioners. He also remarked that the parish should take great pride in its buildings as they are considered among the best in New England. He concluded by urging his listeners to maintain the high standard established in the early days, especially in keeping up their parochial schools.

The celebrant of the mass was the pastor, Rev. J. H. Racette, assisted by Rev. Rosario Albert, O. M. I., as deacon and Rev. Albert McDermott, O. M. I., as sub-deacon. Edmund Bailey was master of ceremonies. The choir under the direction of Telephone Malo, repeated the Easter musical program in a very commendable way. Scattered in the sanctuary were Rev. Joseph Denis, O. M. I., and Rev. Armand Baron, O. M. I.

KILLED AND ROBBED

THIEVES COMMIT MURDER AND SECURE $100 IN LOOT—BODY OF VICTIM FOUND IN POND

MILLVILLE, May 4.—The mystery of the fate of Wasil Mikovar, who went to his death on Easter Sunday, and whose body was found in a little pond near here Saturday, was increased today when an autopsy at the Worcester hospital showed that he had been killed by a violent blow on the back of the neck.

Homicide was the verdict of Medical Examiner William L. Johnson of Uxbridge, and robbery was the probable motive assigned by Inspectors McCarthy and Molt of the State police, who have been working on the case all day.

According to the widow of Mikovar, he had over $100 with him when he went out for a little walk in his Easter finery. No money or valuables were found on the corpse.

Mikovar was a highly respected citizen here and had laid by a tidy sum of money. He had been planning to take his wife and two children on a trip to his old home in Salscha, Austria, this summer.

When last seen, as far as the police can learn, he was on Fletcher street, not far from where his body was found, in the company of two men. The police have learned that he had certain enemies, and they are now hunting for the men who were with him.

The autopsy today showed no water in the dead man's lungs, clearly proving that he had been killed before he was thrown into the pond. His body was found in three feet of water.

FATAL AUTO ACCIDENTS

THREE LOST LIVES IN DASH OVER EMBANKMENT; ONE COLLIDES WITH ENGINE

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 4. Three persons were killed and three injured when an automobile turned turtle over a 14-foot embankment on the Bellevue turnpike near an Erie railroad crossing, beyond North Arlington, late Saturday night.

In another automobile smash-up in this city, yesterday, Assistant Engineer Hudson Lovell of the Jersey City fire department, speeding to a fire, was killed.

The dead in the Bellevue turnpike accident are Samuel Willis, 50 years old, a tobacco dealer, the son of Walter, 15 years old, and Mrs. Mary Walsh, all of this city. The injured are Eileen Willis, 5 years old, daughter of Samuel Willis, in Christ hospital, with severe burns on arms; her mother, Mrs. Samuel Willis, treated for burns at Christ hospital and sent to her home, and John J. Walsh, a lawyer of Jersey City, husband of Mrs. Mary Walsh, the wife of the slain.

Nearing the Erie crossing and hearing the roar of an approaching passenger train, Mr. Walsh, who was driving, tried to stop the car, but lost control of it and it shot over the embankment, falling upside down.

Mrs. Walsh and Samuel and Walter Willis were pinned in the tonneau. The others were able to extricate themselves. Flames had no effect on the car, the automobile and those caught under it, and they were dead when help arrived.

When the other accident occurred Assistant Chief Lovell was speeding to a fire in a light runabout. A fire engine responding to the same alarm dashed out of a side street and into the path of Lovell's car. The two vehicles came into collision and Lovell sustained a fracture of the skull from which he died. He was 70 years old.

Paint Up and Clean Up the Slogan Everywhere

All Up for a Spotless Town—Routine of Ash Teams

"Clean-up and Paint-up" week begins today and it is now up to the citizens, householders generally, to enter into the spirit of the occasion, and each do his share, and influence thereby his immediate neighborhood in doing his share, in fixing things about the house and yard.

Lowell had three preliminary clean-up days, including Patriots day, but the citizens are asked to devote the whole of this week to cleaning, painting and repairing. After the yard has been put in shape just take a look at the fence and if a little paint is needed or a picket missing, go to it. That the movement has created widespread interest is well known, and if the suggestions already offered are carried out, Lowell will certainly be a spotless town.

The board of health teams started out over the regular Monday route this morning and so many telephone queries relative to the daily routine of ash teams are received at the office of the board of health that Agent Bates said today he thought it would be doing the public a great service if The Sun would publish the daily routine, so here goes:

Present were delegates from the councils of Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill, Amesbury, Newburyport, Forge Village, Ipswich, Danvers, Lynn and Salem, Mass.

JOSEPH F. MONTMINY

partook of a dinner. In the afternoon at 2 o'clock a business meeting was held at St. Jean Baptiste hall and considerable business concerning the society was transacted. The meeting was opened by Joseph F. Montminy of this city, substitute to the president general, who later turned the affairs of the meeting over to the president, Joseph Cote of Salem, Mass. The most important item to come before the meeting was that of the recruiting contest, which was started Dec. 1, and which will come to a close on June 1, and it is the belief of the members of District Council, No. 4, that their council will get first prize, for all members are very active in the recruiting movement. At the close of the meeting it was voted to hold the next meeting on the first Sunday of August in Salem, Mass.

The Lowell delegates present at the meeting were: Carillon council, L. J. Corneille and J. F. Montminy; J. N. Jacques council, Hector McDonald; Laval council, Joseph Lussier; St. L. and J. council, Mrs. Clara Morier; Barrette council, Pierre A. Brousseau.

BRITISH CHAMPIONSHIP

NEW YORK, May 4.—To the list of athletes who will compete in the British championships at Stamford Bridge on July 1 the name of Harry Smith was added today when the Bronx church house announced that in recognition of his many victories for that organization it had been decided to defray his expenses to England. Smith's work on Saturday, when he captured third place and helped his mates to win the team trophy in the modified Marathon clinched his right to enter the British event, according to the announcement.

RT. REV. WM. LAWRENCE

AMONG THE TOILERS

RT. REV. WILLIAM LAWRENCE.

Confirmed Class at St. John's Church Yesterday—Sermon at St. Anne's

Speaking at St. Anne's church yesterday, Rt. Rev. William Lawrence said that what we hear is largely dependent upon what we want to hear and what our characters make us desire to hear. Those things, he said, sweep in and the others are lost. Bishop Lawrence preached from the text, "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear; but take heed what ye hear." He said in part:

"Think of the horror of a life that has accustomed itself to hear only the things that degrade. Take, for instance, a man who, from boyhood, has been in the habit of listening to foul stories. As he gets older, the habit has grown upon him so that if he hears in the distance the sound of one of those stories, his ears are pricked up and he listens; and when he aspires to other things that habit of listening holds him down.

"Again, can you conceive how a woman's character may be demoralized as she gets into the habit of listening to gossip and scandal? Lots of fine things sweep in and she is indifferent to them. As the years go by her ears become sensitive to the trivial things, and her character is disintegrated until, when she is older, she is nothing but a silly gossip. She had ears to hear, but she did not take heed what kind of things she listened to.

"Throughout history there have been those who seemed ready to catch the sound of heavenly voices. When Saul fell to the ground converted he heard, but the others did not. "What are the sounds of the city? Why, the roar of the mills or the roar of the motor cars over the pavement. Yet we walk through the streets and we do not hear them very often, when we are listening to the voice of a friend.

"Down in a certain part of the city are parents humble and poor, obliged

You Can't Brush or Wash Out Dandruff

The Simplest and Quickest Way is to Dissolve it

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. Do this tonight, and by morning most, if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you want to preserve your hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for nothing destroys the hair more quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, strangely, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everyone notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

Using High Grade Leather
"Fabrics this season are worn to some extent, but they are gradually losing their popularity. Since the prices of shoes have been advanced, some shoe manufacturers have thought it best to use a better grade of upper leather than they ever used before."—Hilde and Leather's Boston market report.

Shoe Trade in Mexico

Shoe and leather trade between the United States and Mexico was steadily increasing up to the time that difficulties arose between the two nations. Apparently, it has been a long time before it. But there is no knowing how much of a setback the American armed intervention has given to it, says the Lynn Item.

Mexico has supplied hides and skins to the United States for a great many years. Richard H. Dunn tells about collecting hides on the west coast of Mexico for the Boston market in his book, "Twenty Years Before the Mast." In recent years Mexico has been sending to the United States annually about 50,000,000 pounds of cattle hides worth $4,000,000. That was a substantial supply of hides, and it helped a lot in relieving the scarcity of hides in American markets. Mexico also sent to this country about 5,000,000 pounds of goat skins, worth more than $1,500,000. It also sent a few miscellaneous skins, like deerskins for fine buck leather and snake skins for fancy leather.

Exports of American shoes to Mexico have exceeded $1,000,000 yearly for several years. Several New England firms had good customers in Mexico, and the large exporters, like Keith Co., had retail stores in Mexico City. Many of the New England made shoes sent to Mexico were sold to Americans residing there. They were high grade shoes.

Ten years or more ago enterprising Americans undertook to develop the shoe manufacturing business in Mexico, in a promising field. There were in Mexico several millions of people who wore good shoes and only a few shoemakers, most of whom made shoes by hand on custom orders. Shoes sold in retail stores were imported from the United States or from European countries.

The United Shoe Machinery Co. sent agents to Mexico and eventually established an agency in Mexico City. Henry Chapman of Salem, who had charge of this agency, returned to the home office in Boston last year, when trouble in Mexico began, and later he went to Buenos Ayres. Other machinery companies sent agents to Mexico, or solicited business through commission houses there. The machinery companies of Salem and Peabody supplied much machinery to Mexican tanneries, which were being turned from simple shops into machine driven factories. In Mazatlan, on the west coast of Mexico, an effort was made to establish a modern shoe and leather manufacturing plant several years ago. Several New Englanders went to Mazatlan to teach Mexicans the New England ways of making shoes and leather. Among them were J. W. McDonald, who was superintendent of the Blosser tannery in Salem; J. B. Kelf, a Lynn shoe manufacturing expert, who is now in Rochester, N. Y., and Henry Brown, another Lynn shoe expert.

Some of the methods in the Mazatlan factory were unusual. It is said that when the Americans arrived in the shop they found the cutters laying three or four skins, one on top of the other, on their boards and running their knives around a pattern on them. The good pieces from the underneath skins were saved and the poor pieces were discarded. When an American remonstrated at this waste of leather the foreman of the cutting room said: "Oh the leather does not cost us anything. We get it from our own tannery."

All of the manual labor in the shoe factory and tannery was done by Mexicans and Indians. The Americans supervised it. The Mexicans showed unusual skill in some branches of shoe making, particularly in stitching of shoes. They were not educated, and they were not reliable. Nevertheless the Americans succeeded in having them turn out some very good leather and shoes.

The United States Shoe Manufacturing Co. was established in Mexico City several years ago by young men from St. Louis. This concern prospered, and in one year it paid 100 per cent. on its capital.

This present trouble with Mexico will probably have a harmful effect on the shoe and leather industry, for it will on one hand cut off the supply of Mexican hides and skins, and on the other hand it will put an end to the sale of American shoes in Mexico until conditions are readjusted.

Shipments of shoes from Lynn to Mexico have practically ceased. Some Lynn firms abandoned the Mexican trade some time ago, discontinuing the services of traveling salesmen in Mexico and refusing to fill orders from Mexican customers.

Women Should Take Warning

If the statement made at a New York Assembly of women, that healthy American women are so rare that they are almost extinct, is true, it is time for the women of America to take warning and look to their health. It may be headaches, backaches, dragging down pains, nervousness, mental depression, that are tell-tale symptoms of some organic derangement for which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—a simple remedy made from roots and herbs—is a specific and may be relied upon to restore women to a healthy normal condition.

L. W. W. LEADER BREAKS LEG

LAWRENCE, May 4.—David Kimmond, who was chairman of the Pacific Print Works strikers in the recent strike and who was to start this week on a speech-making tour of the country, as a representative of the I. W. O. will be obliged to cancel all his engagements to speak, for Saturday morning, he met with a most peculiar accident, breaking a leg.

The following account of Kimmond's misfortune was obtained from his boarding mistress and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Morgan of 411 Canal street.

When he reported for breakfast Saturday morning, he brought a man down with him, according to Mr. and Mrs. Morgan.

"Give this man a seat at the table," demanded David.

"Not at this table," said Mrs. Morgan. "I'll have no drunken bums here. You bring them around all the time."

Then Mr. Morgan asked the stranger to depart, while Kimmond went over to the stove in the kitchen where Mrs. Morgan was cooking and began to tell her in foul language, it is said, just what he thought of her.

"Where did you come from?" asked Mr. Morgan of the stranger.

"I have a home," declared the man. "Then go to it," said Mr. Morgan.

Meanwhile Kimmond was arguing with Mrs. Morgan. Finally, it is alleged, he lifted his fist to strike her, according to three people who were in the room at the time, and Mrs. Morgan gave him only a light push. Kimmond's long legs became tangled up and he fell in a heap on the kitchen floor with his leg broken.

Mr. Morgan then summoned a police officer who ordered him removed to the city hospital.

Mr. Morgan said that Kimmond was always in a fight with some one of the boarders; that he owed for board and was continually causing trouble, but no one dared to talk to him as they say they considered him a dangerous man.

COUPLE RESCUED

Perilous Plight of Pair Marooned in the Merrimack River

The bravery of a young man, identity unknown, who jumped into the Merrimack river yesterday forenoon and swam to a boat about 75 feet from the shore where a man and woman were marooned, being unable to row against the swift current, played a great part in the rescuing of the sad man and woman, who refused to give their names, at a spot located several hundred yards below the Aiken street bridge.

The pair started out to enjoy a few hours of boating about 10 o'clock but had been rowing only a short time when the swift stream proved stronger than the man at the oars and the craft was taken down stream where it caught in some bushes nearly a hundred feet from shore. The cries of the couple attracted the attention of people passing along Lakeview avenue and after all efforts to reach shore had failed a hurry call was sent into the police station and Inspector Walsh and Sgt. Petrie were soon on the scene with rope and other paraphernalia.

But the next question that confronted the rescuers was to get one end of the rope to the people in the vicinity. Fortunately, there was one young man in the group who volunteered to brave the cold waters and swim to the boat and tying the rope around his waist started out amid cheers from the bystanders. After a struggle he succeeded in reaching his destination and fastening the rope around the bow of the boat shouted to those on shore to haul it in.

When the party was landed the lady was at the point of exhaustion as a result of shouting and fright and medical attendance was required to revive her. However, the trio who took the important parts in the affair made their getaway before their names could be secured by the police.

SEVERAL SMALL FIRES

In responding to an alarm for a grass fire off Knapy avenue, Saturday evening, the high street fire auto balked in turning from High street into Rogers. The men got out to see what the trouble was and after a few minutes a great sheet of flame started under the machine. The gasoline was leaking and became ignited. But for the use of the chemicals the machine would have been destroyed.

Investigation showed that a pipe leading to the gasoline tank was broken. The chemicals were run off and the break repaired after a couple of hours' delay.

Capt. W. A. Dolan of Hose 11, while working on the blaze was burned about the face while using a chemical.

Yesterday forenoon an automobile owned and driven by Arthur Bibeault caught fire in Riverside street and an alarm from box 7 summoned the machine from the department to the scene. At 8.55 last night an alarm from box 118 was sent in for a rubbish fire at 447 Adams street. No damage was slight.

Yesterday noon another alarm from box 115 was sent in for an automobile fire in Aiken street. There was no damage.

Late Saturday afternoon an alarm from box 74 summoned a portion of the department to Varnum avenue where a brush fire was in progress. In the evening the firemen were called by telephone to the rear of Fort Hill park for a threatening brush fire.

At 8.55 last night an alarm from box 118 was sent in for a rubbish fire at 447 Adams street. No damage was slight.

THE STREET IDLERS

The summer sun that brings the flies and mosquitoes and sunburn and other disagreeable things also brings the street idler. From May until October one sees all varieties of him from the type that seems like an exaggeration of perpetual motion, perambulating from postoffice to city hall and from city hall to Merrimack square, to the other and scarcely less vicious type which looks like an adjunct of some particularly pleasant corner. In time one grows to look for him; he gets as familiar as the clock, and if by any malicious stroke of fate the routine of his ornamental existence should be varied, one would regard it in the same light as an eclipse of the sun or an earthquake or some other equally unusual event. Sometimes a specimen from some association has taken on the look of the neighborhood which he decorates, but occasionally a new addition to the line of idlers is the player in some grotesque of marvellous poses and poses. The ordinance against billboards should be widened to include this distributor of visual harmony.

New the street idler, if he restricts himself to the merely ornamental side of his negative occupation, hurts nobody in particular, unless himself possibly. If he has a father or mother or sister or wife who tolerate him, the general public has no reason to set up a howl. If he is rich enough to do anything he pleases, he stands as an object lesson for those who would preach socialism. On the other hand, too many of his variety are so very lovely and so lost in self-admiration that they are anxious for the rest of the world—especially the feminine portion of it—to take notice. They, therefore, expect all who pass by and between their cigarette puns or the expectations that result from tobacco chewing, they occasionally even go so far as to drop insulting remarks. This is where the business of the street idler becomes the business of everybody in general and the police in particular. Even at the risk of weakening the building supports or removing ancient landmarks, those who so indulge their tendency towards "mashing" should be summarily dealt with.

Even at the risk of being considered most uncharitable one cannot dismiss the street idler without a passing reference to the silly groups of girls that make a specialty of street parading. Back and forth, back and forth they go for hours inviting undesirable male interference and cheapening themselves to a degree they cannot recognize. After a while one almost unconsciously recognizes the fact that some faces are so familiar on Merrimack street as one of the fixed advertising signs. Many of these girls are going and, therefore, may be excused but parents and guardians should see to it that needless street strolling should be reduced to a minimum. One who so cheapens herself has little cause for protest if she is spoken to or otherwise interfered with by the type of young man who looks around for his own type of woman.

It is needless to state of vice or to explore the alleged immoral conditions of our cities unless preventive measures are used, and among the proper preventive measures are the proper patrolling of parks and police vigilance on the streets so that the vicious are curbed in their malicious desires and that the immature and giddy be saved from their own folly and lack of experience. If the concentration of loafers cannot be sent to work they should at least be restricted as far as possible to the ornamental side of their occupation. If like other idlers in their periods of idleness, they could be parked or kept in one section all would be well but where they are scattered through all sections of the city it is more difficult for the authorities to keep track of them. Nevertheless, it is most important that they be under observation. Idleness is still the father of a great deal of mischief and crime.

TOLLS REPEAL GAINS

While the Mexican situation has been engrossing the attention of the whole country almost to the exclusion of all other matters, the fight for revision of the Panama canal tolls clause has been steadily gaining. At the present writing its passage seems secured, and in a very short time. Evidently the impetus gained by its prompt and overwhelming success in the lower house at first discouraged those who had counted on creating a strong sentimental opposition throughout the country, and afterwards showed them the futility of trying to raise an issue where none was intended. President Wilson in his request stipulated that the question of right should not be raised.

The one important change in the bill since its passage by the house is an amendment to the effect that the United States does not forfeit its claim to "treaty or other right" in repealing the act. This, though seemingly ornamental merely and unnecessary does not change the intent of the bill and if it acts as an application of all to the troubled waters, there is no reason why it should not be appended. As it has the approval of the president, there is every likelihood that it strengthens the cause of repeal. At this late date a few of the senators favor submitting the matter to arbitration, but the suggestion is not timely and there is really nothing to arbitrate. If repeal advances any American interest it will be conserved by the proposed amendment.

FRUITS OF ANARCHY

Out from the depths of the industrial whirlpool which has almost overwhelmed the coal districts of Colorado comes many an indication of the spirit that has plagued the state into a condition very like civil war. For years past the mines have been the Mecca for the preacher of advanced labor views, and the miners have been told that it is unjust that they should work for a wage, no matter how high or how low the wage may be. Other influences have tried to combat the advance of religion and gradually a feeling of rebellion has crept in against all forms of constituted authority. The result was inevitable. Once the barriers of society are removed and the dangerous doctrines of anarchy and advanced socialism implanted in an organized group of workers, where is government or law? Unfortunately the state troops who went to quell the labor disturbances acted neither wisely nor too well and they gave the armed workers the argument that follows the murder of women and children. Now that the federal troops have taken hold the rebellion will undoubtedly be quelled but the spirit that worked havoc in Colorado must eventually be suppressed by the force of logic instead of the force of arms. The recent conditions should warn the rest of the country against the propaganda of those who teach rebellion against the flag and religion.

OUR FISHERMEN

The news that the United States bureau of fisheries has stocked the lakes and ponds in the vicinity of Lowell with the largest supply of fish ever sent to any one section by the government will bring gladness to the hearts of our local fishermen, whose names are legion. For many years past the supply for a wide radius has been steadily decreasing, and those who wished to enroll themselves among the followers of Bass and Walton were compelled to fold their tents like the Arabs and to silently steal away to ponds and rivers remote. Nature has supplied Massachusetts with some of the finest fishing grounds in New England, but so ardent was the spirit of our fishermen that the perch, pickerel and trout were gradually but surely disappearing. In a very short time it will not be necessary for the devotees of the sport which cultivates patience to seek the Maine wilds or the lakes of New Hampshire, and those unlucky ones who wound up their fishing trips by a visit to a nearby fish market may well take heart anew. There are good times ahead for the Lowell fisherman, and we heartily congratulate him.

THE FLY NURSERIES

Speaking of clean-up week in Boston the Herald says, with special reference to the elimination of the fly nuisance: "Three months from now all the fly traps and sticky paper in the state will not accomplish what a little thought and a scrubbing brush can do today." This is a sentence that all our housewives should be acquainted with, particularly during the coming week when the city will emerge from its winter gloom and shine out in all the spotlessness of a thorough renovation. Rubbish heaps, garbage cans, damp corners under kitchen sinks, neglected stables and other filthy and damp quarters are prolific fly nurseries and if such places are thoroughly cleaned out and made sanitary during the coming week, millions of flies will be prevented. The woman who deliberately neglects this precaution will deserve little sympathy in the days to come when she will be compelled to bang nasty fly paper all over the house and exercise for an hour or two daily with a swatter.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

In almost all parts of the city some householder has an article for which he has no use, and in an opposite section somebody is looking round for just what the other wishes to get rid of. Neither knows of the other's existence. A little newspaper advertisement will prove the means medium-bringing the seller and the buyer together without fuss or delay and with the minimum of expense. So on in all lines of business. If men could send thought messages, there would be movement in many lines where now there is nothing but stagnation. Until mental telepathy is better developed the newspaper advertisement is the greatest medium for promoting business relationship, and people are realizing the fact more and more daily. If you have a room to let,

Although he has formerly favored the policy of local option with regard to the liquor traffic, Cardinal Gibbons has come out in favor of no-license in a statement to the Anti-Saloon league of Charles county, Md. "I congratulate the people of Charles county," he said, "in that they will have the right to settle this question by ballot on May 16 next, and realizing the damage which has been done by the liquor traffic in this country, I sincerely trust that at the coming election they will banish forever the licensed saloon, as

I believe that it will be to the best interests of their people."

Mayor Curley of Boston has made the extraordinary discovery that same garage owners of that city charge more for repairs of city autos than the cars are worth. We have had autos repaired, too. Too bad he has not looked up steam roller repairs while he was about it.

"Scarlet fever closes church" is the heading of a Boston news despatch. Occasionally churches are closed because of too many uncharitable speeches about the "scarlet woman."

SEEN AND HEARD

You couldn't knock sense into some men with a pile-driver.

It is mean for a little man to embarrass a stout lady in a crowded street car by getting up and offering her his seat.

If some hen laid an egg every time a rooster crows, the price of eggs would be reduced so much that perhaps we shouldn't mind being waked up early in the morning.

Buy a grammar of any foreign language second-hand and you are pretty sure to find that while the first two pages may show some signs of wear, the last half of the book is perfectly clean.

Never offer your advice, and before you give it when it is asked for always try to find out what wishes the applicant desires.

One of the exasperating experiences of life is to have central suddenly cut you off while you are in the middle of a telephone conversation and then tell you that the line is busy, because the person you were talking with is trying to get you.

I don't suppose any of the officials of the Bay State Street railway ever get over Pawtucketville way. If they had occasion to ride across the Pawtucket bridge every day they might find out that bad piece of rail between the bridge and Varnum avenue. It's like the "rocky road to Dublin" and many a poor passenger has been suddenly taken off his underpinnings when trying to alight at this point.

A patronizing young lord was seated opposite a famous scientist at a dinner one evening not long ago. During a lull in the conversation, he adjusted his monocle and leaned toward the scholar.

"Aw, know, Mr. Jones," he drawled, "I passed your house this morning."

"Thank you," said Jones, quietly. "Thank you very much," flattered the scholar.

Two Marseilleses were discussing the best method of eating game.

"Well," said one, "it is a woodcock, I hang it up on a nail by the back and fasten some larks onto its claws. After a week I throw away the woodcock and eat the larks, which by that time have absorbed all the flavor of the woodcock."

"I do the same," replied the other, "but to be outdoors, except that I throw away the larks as well as the woodcock, and eat the duck!"—Don Vivant.

In the schoolroom, one teacher is inclined to begin every command with the words "Do not." "Do not whisper." "Do not read in such a noisy tone." "Do not recite your history lesson like a parrot." Another teacher entitles her pupils with her own love of knowledge. In the reading classes she makes them feel that they are speaking their own words. In the history class they are present on the battlefield. And, somehow, there is seldom any noise in the schoolroom from mischief or weariness or laziness, there is only the air of interest and industry. By using the positive method she has awakened in her pupils high ideals and aspirations.

You are to go up to O'Brien's farm," said the doctor, "get up and go to bed with the birds, mow and pitch the hay, shuck the corn, and all that sort of thing. And you'll cut out the booze, absolutely, and—"

"Oh, yes," said the patient wearily. "I expected that."

"And one clear day."

"Oh, do—not that."

"One clear day!" reiterated the doctor, inexorably.

"Oh, very well."

Six months later the patient returned to report.

"Well, how did you like it?"

"Fine business, doctor. I'm fit as a fiddle. Me for that early to bed and early to rise thing. It's great."

"Liked it all, eh?"

"Everything but the one clear day. That pretty nearly killed me."

"The tobacco habit," began the doctor.

"At my age, doctor, it's no joke to take up smoking."—National Monthly.

CARNATIONS

Carnations and my first love! And he was seventeen.

And I was only twelve years—a state—by girlhood.

I bought them on the morning the school dance was to be.

To pin among my ribbons in hopes that he would be won through.

With curly crest and grand air that swept the heart from you.

And why he paused at my side is more than I can know.

The sheets of the small girls that all I passed went by this mawing.

"Thank you," said Jones, quietly. "Thank you very much," flattered the scholar.

"Carnations are your flowers," he said as he strode by.

Carnations and my first love! The years are gone a score.

And I recall his first name, and scarce an eyelid move.

And those were all the love-words that either of us said—

Perhaps he may be married—perhaps he may be dead.

And yet I lay to small carnations, their spicy, heavy sweet.

Perfuming all some sick room, or passing on the street.

Then still the school lights flicker and still the lancers play.

And still the girls hold breathless the while he goes his way.

And still my child-heart quivers in that first ecstasy.

"Carnations are your flowers," my first love said to me.

FRESH AIR AND HEALTH

Mental work calls an unusual supply of blood to the brain; the process of digestion calls the blood to the stomach. Brain work immediately after a hearty meal often causes indigestion because the blood first called to the supply of blood that should be helping the stomach.

Wherever in the economy of the body, work is to be done there is a demand for bright red blood. This blood or blood dark with impurities will not do because it is the oxygen carried by the blood that does the work and oxygen-bearing blood is bright and red. This life-sustaining oxygen is taken up by the blood from the air which it meets in the lungs. Hence the great need of fresh air every hour of the day and night. But fresh air is useless if the blood cannot take up more oxygen which it gives. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enable the blood to take up more oxygen because they increase the part of the blood that carries the oxygen. This corrects the lassitude, palpitation of the heart, shakiness and the pallor that are the results of thin, impure blood.

You must have pure, rich blood to enjoy complete health. A booklet "Brighten Up the Blood" will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

EAT TOO MUCH

Beware of Hardened Arteries, Says Dr. W. H. Smith in Lecture

BOSTON, May 4.—Dr. W. H. Smith, who delivered the next to the last public lecture of the season at Harvard medical school yesterday afternoon, says most people over 40 eat too much. It is to this habit that he attributes in part arterio-sclerosis, that hardening of the arteries which chiefly characterizes old age.

He thinks that people should consult their physician at intervals just to see what condition they are in. "Food can be purchased and made to serve as well as one's own," he said, "yet see how conscientiously people visit their dentist every three to six months to see if there is anything to be done. Yet these same people neglect their more vital structures."

"The hardening of the arteries should be diagnosed early, that special diet and other hygiene may be prescribed. A man is as old as his arteries." I have seen men who were young men at 80, and I have seen gentle old men at 45. And the same is true of women.

"All of large heads and short necks, full bodies and given to drinking overmuch wine, are often thought to die of a sudden attack of indigestion, or to take on the foolishness of old age, when it is arterio-sclerosis. While there are many causes of this disease, it is frequently brought on by the abuse of alcohol and the misuse of food, too little exercise, worry and emotional strain."

"First line salts are deposited in the arteries, the vessels harden, an additional strain is put on the heart in pumping the blood through them, less blood reaches the organs to which the diseased vessels lead, those organs become starved and poisoning results, or a sudden strain may cause a break, and death results."

He showed lantern slides of X-ray photographs of diseased tissue.

RUN DOWN BY HORSES

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER—MANY WOMAN AND CHILDREN THROWN INTO PANIC

BOSTON, May 4.—Frightened by the breaking of a rein, two horses attached to a hack plunged down the steep grade of Brooks street, East Boston, yesterday noon, trampling Mrs. Mary E. Howes and her daughter Christina, of 29 Trenton street and throwing several hundred people who were just leaving church into a panic.

Nearly a score of women and children about to board a car at the corner of Lexington street were standing in the path of the maddened animals. They crushed one another in a frenzied effort to get into the car and give the span of horses a clear path. All succeeded except Mrs. Howes and her 13-year-old daughter.

Both were knocked to the ground. The daughter was struck by one of the flying hoofs and at the East Boston hospital it was found that she fearfully bruised as she was dragged over the rough pavement from the force of the blow.

M. J. Conley of 425 Meriden street, was passing in an automobile. He picked up the injured woman and rushed them to the Relief hospital. Mrs. Howes recovered sufficiently to go to her home, although suffering severely from a shock.

Christina's condition is severe and the authorities reported at midnight that her recovery is doubtful. In seeking to shield her mother the young girl received the full force of the blow when the horses dashed over them.

SHOT DOWN BY WOMAN

ONE-LEGGED BOSTON NEWSBOY FIGHTING FOR HIS LIFE IN HOSPITAL—WOMAN IS SORRY

BOSTON, May 4.—With a revolver bullet lodged somewhere among the muscles, nerves and delicate organs of his neck, Lewis Gold, the one-legged Boston newsboy who was shot down late Saturday night in Haymarket square by a woman giving her name as Mary Germaine, is today fighting valiantly for his life at the Relief station, a short distance from where he fell.

He has a chance of recovery, but it is on the dangerous list. The Germaine woman will be arraigned in the police court this morning charged with assault on Gold with intent to kill. She declares, with every evidence of regret, that she is sorry she hit Gold and intended him no harm at all.

The man who was trying to bring down a supposedly insane Quinto, an employee of the Grotto, a North End cafe, who was captured running from Haymarket square after the shooting. He claims he lives at 83 Lubec street, East Boston.

Quinto is held by the police and will be in court today facing a white slave charge.

A scuffle at bystanders, there was a sharp quarrel at the subway entrance before the shooting between the Germaine woman and Quinto. A second man was in the group, but both the woman and Quinto agree that he was not involved in the dispute, but simply happened to be with Quinto.

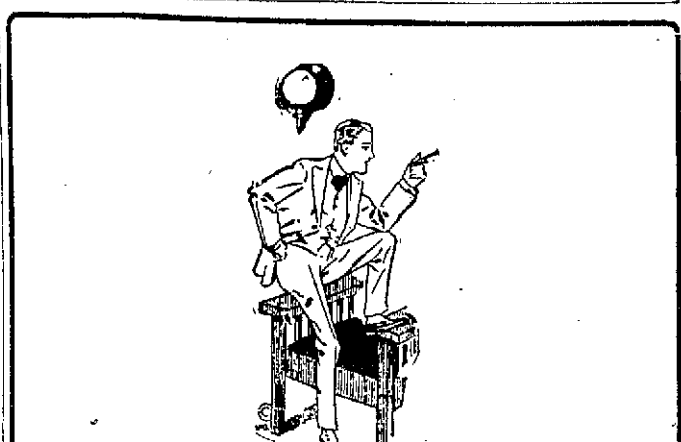

Witnesses say that just before the woman drew the revolver from her pocket and began firing Quinto had struck her in the face with a package which looked like a pair of shoes.

The surgeons at the Relief station have not as yet thought it best to probe for the bullet in Gold's throat because of the danger of injuring some of the delicate organs or nerves. If there is evidence that blood poisoning is setting in the throat probably will be X-rayed and an attempt made to get the lead out. Gold has been conscious ever since he was hit and says he had never before seen the woman who shot him.

BODY IN RESERVOIR

BROOKLINE WOMAN USED FLAT-IRON TO DROWN HERSELF, ACCORDING TO THE POLICE

BOSTON, May 4.—With a seven-pound flatiron tied to the lapel of her coat, the body of an unidentified woman was found in the old Boston reservoir in Brookline yesterday morning. Medical Examiner Cutts declared she had committed suicide, and very recently.

The woman was evidently a domestic. Her body was spied floating in the water by Percival H. Lombard, who lives near by, on Hillsdale avenue. He dragged it ashore and notified the police.

The body bears several rather remarkable characteristics, which it is thought will lead to a speedy identification. Her teeth were heavily filled with gold and a gold band held her lower teeth in place. She had a very prominent mole on her cheek.

She was about 35 years old, four feet 10 inches tall and wore a gray coat with purple lining, a blue serge suit, low-cut black shoes, a black straw hat and black stockings.

TOMBSTONES SMASHED

VANDALS WRECKED CEMETERY AT MILLBURY—$10,000 WORTH OF PROPERTY DESTROYED

MILLBURY, May 4.—Marble monuments and tombstones worth more than $10,000 were upset and ruthlessly smashed in the cemetery here some time Saturday night. State police inspectors, investigating the affair, said yesterday it was the strangest act of vandalism that has ever come to their attention.

Four magnificent shafts, weighing tons, were piled loose from their bases and toppled onto the graves they were set to mark, crumbling smaller stones in their fall. One of these was the monument that occupied the center of the family lot of the Greenwoods, around the base of which are buried some of the town's most noted residents. It was 15 feet high, mounted on a three-foot-high base, with a huge ball on top, and is said to have cost $1500.

A veritable gang armed with crow-bars and other tools must have taken part in the work of destruction, according to the police. They say one or two men could never have managed the amount of devastation to the heavy monuments.

The tale of wreckage comprised four shafts and 34 gravestones, many of these large and some of beautiful workmanship. Simple vandalism was the apparent motive, for no attempt was made to harm the graves themselves.

Most of the damage was done within 300 yards of the entrance of the cemetery, on the main road. This is not far from the Millbury station, and inspectors McCarthy and Mott, who are working on the case, are of the opinion that a gang of men, possibly on a lark, got off a train, invaded the cemetery and then took a later train out. There is no local clue of any kind apparent.

RICHARD OLNEY TO BE HEAD OF RESERVE BOARD

President Wilson Selects Massachusetts Man to be Governor of Federal Reserve Board—Names Paul Warburg of New York, a Member of Board

WASHINGTON, May 4.—President Wilson has selected Richard Olney, secretary of state in the Cleveland administration, to be governor of the federal reserve board and Paul Warburg of New York to be a member of the board.

Although the president has offered the governorship to Mr. Olney word of his acceptance was being awaited today but friends here were inclined to believe he would not decline. Mr. Olney was offered the ambassadorship to Great Britain by President Wilson early last year, but expressed an unwillingness to leave the country on account of his business interests. He is being strongly urged by friends of the president to accept this place, which the president has spoken of as of equal importance to a place on the bench of the supreme court of the United States.

Mr. Olney Active at 78

Mr. Olney, although 78 years old, is active and has had a long experience in the business world and finance which the president and his advisers believe would especially be adapted for the head of the reserve board.

Mr. Warburg, who was connected with Kuhn, Loeb & Co., has been offered membership on the board and has accepted. Final announcement of his selection as well as the other members of the board, besides the governor, is expected to be made within the next two or three days as offers are being made to the men whom the president has selected. It is understood that a southern banker is to be made one of the three, but no intimation has come as yet as to his identity.

Will Start Currency Law

Official Washington, as well as banking circles generally, are awaiting the announcement of the full personnel of the federal reserve board with intense interest, as it formally will set in motion the new currency law which was signed Dec. 23 last. With the selection of the 12 regional reserve banks, the organization of the board has been the most vital step in the operation of the new currency law. The banks are being organized and the expectation of officials is that within a month the entire system will be in full swing, although there are certain transitions which will occupy a greater length of time.

$12,000 a Year

The complete reserve board will consist of seven members at salaries of $12,000 a year. The secretary of the treasury and the comptroller of the currency are ex-officio members and the two other members are to be appointed by the president. The law stipulates that the members shall be appointed with reference to the "geographical, commercial and financial divisions of the country."

With Mr. Olney representing New England and Mr. Warburg, New York, it was expected that the other members to be selected would represent the south, the middle west and the far west. The appointees will serve ten years.

147 Seek Appointments

Senator Owen conferred with the president today about selections for the board. He said he did not discuss individuals but rather talked over the general banking viewpoint he believes should be held by the men selected. Senator Owen said that the remaining appointments would be made from a list of 147 men before the president. These names were left after consideration of a much larger list.

OLNEY SMILED WHEN INFORMED OF APPOINTMENT BY PRESIDENT

BOSTON, May 4.—Richard Olney smiled when informed today that President Wilson had selected him for governor of the federal reserve board. He declined to comment on the announcement or indicate whether he would accept.

Mr. Olney is in his 78th year and though vigorous and active was influenced by his advanced years as well as by his business interests to decline the diplomatic office tendered him a year ago.

HACKS VALUABLE PAINTING

Portrait of Henry James, Novelist, Ruined by Suffragette Belonging to "Wild Women"

LONDON, May 4.—One of the finest of all the paintings of John Singer Sargent, a portrait of Henry James, the celebrated novelist, was virtually ruined this afternoon by a suffragette. The painting had been on exhibition at the National academy.

The woman who committed the outrage, Mrs. Wood, belonged to the group of militants called the "wild women." Armed with a butcher's cleaver, Mrs. Wood approached the painting in a casual way. Opportunity offering she suddenly dashed forward, produced the cleaver from under her cloak and was successful in slashing the picture a number of times before bystanders seized and stopped her.

Mrs. Wood was accompanied by a man who attempted to impede those persons who restrained her. Spectators of the incident turned on him and beat him with their fists. Mrs. Wood was handed over to the police.

The academy was opened to the pub-

Severely Punished

The man with Mrs. Wood characterized her course as an act of courage in a voice loud enough to be heard by the spectators. The crowd became angry and rushed upon him with shouts of "throw him out." He was being severely punished when the police intervened and ejected him from the gallery. The mutilations of the picture consist of three gashes across the face. The largest cut is on the left side and obliterated an eye. Another is across the mouth and the third near the chin. The rent on the left side of the face is three inches long and the torn ends of the canvas are frayed and uneven. The picture was removed at once from the exhibition. An artist who witnessed the outrage says the canvas is irreparably ruined.

TROOPS IN STRIKE ZONE

Heavy Patrols of Federal Soldiers Gave Colorado Officials a Sense of Security Today

DENVER, May 4.—Heavy patrols of federal troops scattered throughout the strike zones of Colorado gave state officials a sense of security today which they had not felt since the inception of the industrial strike. Practically all of the Colorado National Guardsmen have been withdrawn.

The matter of disarmament has not been undertaken yet and probably will not be until the arrival late today of Col. James Lockett with the 11th regiment, United States cavalry. Officials of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Co. declared that just as soon as the commander of the federal troops is ready to disarm the men and afford protection at the mines, the guards in the employ will turn over their arms. No intimation had been received, however, as to the manner in which the strikers would observe the proclamation of disarmament.

PICKETS ON DUTY AT ROCKEFELLER RESIDENCE IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, May 4.—Silent picketing by crepe-sleeved men and women who held John D. Rockefeller and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., responsible for conditions in the Colorado mine war continued today in front of the Standard Oil building here and outside the gates of the Rockefeller estate at Pocantico hills. The younger Rockefeller, it was said, would not come to his office today. His absence was due to a cold and not to the demonstrations, said his secretaries.

PAPER IN ROME COMMENTS ON MASSACRE IN COLORADO—DEMANDS REDRESS

ROME, May 4.—The Giornale d'Italia, commenting today on what it characterizes as the answer of Secretary Bryan in the matter of the standing of Italians in the Colorado strike zone, declares this communication to be insincere. The paper makes reference to what it calls the massacre of Italians in Colorado and demands satisfaction from the federal government, whose lack of precaution, it says, caused the conflict.

The man killed was Herbert Loveday, organist and choirmaster of St. Mary's Episcopal church here. Charles Spreckley, sexton of the church, was seriously injured and his wife had her arm broken besides sustaining internal injuries. Spreckley was hurt internally and his leg was broken. Alexander Norris of Tuxedo was less seriously hurt. Mr. Wrenn escaped injury.

AUTO LICENSE FEES

STATE OF NEW YORK COLLECTS OVER $1,000,000 IN ABOUT TWO MONTHS

How quickly the money paid in for automobile licenses mounts up is shown by the report of Secretary of State Mitchell May of New York, covering the period from February 1 to April 25. Since the opening of new registrations motorists have contributed $1,008,588.25, against $891,172.50 collected in the period last year.

The importance of the New York bureau may be seen from the fact that this city received about one-half the sum. The takings at the office in West Seventy-fourth street were $568,337.25. The rest was divided about equally between the Albany and Buffalo offices.

Police Commissioner Woods of New York, speaking at the dinner to William P. Egan given at the Automobile club of America the past week, said that Gen. Bingham had tried to get the legislature to put the matter of passing on applicants for chauffeurs' licenses in the hands of the police department. Commissioner Woods commented that this seemed proper to him and he thought that the members of the city's street traffic commission should vote to that end.

Mr. Bingham, the guest of honor, expressed the opinion that affairs in the traffic squad had gone back since the days of Gen. Bingham. He said he believed in "scales of safety" and thought that the rotary or gyratory system, rather than the block system of regulating traffic would vastly increase the traffic capacity of the city. He also said that he thought the business of taxicab inspection and supervision was being splendidly handled by John Drennon, who is inspector in charge of such matters.

Capt. A. R. Piper, who was dispatched abroad to study traffic regulation systems when Gen. F. V. Greene was police commissioner, told about the early days of regulation. He said that in his opinion the hardest place to regulate was at Park Row and Centre street.

The directors of the Orphans Automobile Day association of New York, Inc., have arranged for the use of Wiltz's Park, Colosse Point, on June 1. This park affords a pleasant automobile ride of about twelve miles and gives the children ample room in which to play and get the noonday luncheon.

The response to the hundreds of letters sent to automobile dealers and private owners of cars asking for the use of their machines for the day has been generous, but it is evident that many are waiting until the week or so prior to the day of the outing before entering their cars.

A ladies' auxiliary has been organized with Mrs. Joan Newton Cuneo as chairman to assist in the work. Any ladies wishing to give their aid and who desire to become members of this committee may communicate with the secretary, A. L. Prindle, 7 East Forty-second street, New York. Donations of cars, trucks or cash may also be sent to the secretary.

Treasurer Bonnell reported additional contributions as follows: Rosch Magneto company, $25; Hess-Bright company, $5; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Saxe, $10; Brundage & Field, $10; Hartford Lunch company, $10; Alfred Reeves, $10; August S. Hutchins, $10; J. S. Josephs, $5, and C. B. Zabriske, $5. Use of touring cars has been offered by J. W. Scott, George L. Woodruff, F. J. H. Kracke (two cars), Mrs. N. D. Downs and Truly Warner. The Hecker-Jones-Jewell Milling company offers the use of two trucks and Burns Bros. and the Innovation Ingeniuties, Inc., one truck each.

SUDDEN DEATH

Patrick Kennedy Dropped Dead at His Home Saturday Afternoon

Patrick Kennedy, a well known resident of this city, died suddenly late Saturday afternoon at his home, 309 Chapel street, the cause of death being heart disease.

Mr. Kennedy worked all forenoon and after dinner he went out for a walk. When he returned late in the afternoon he was suddenly seized with a weak spell and dropped to the floor of his home. The family physician was summoned in haste, but when he arrived, the man had passed away. The body was later viewed by Assistant Medical Examiner Smith, who signed the death certificate "heart disease."

Deceased is survived by two daughters, Misses Nellie and Annie Kennedy of this city; a son, John Kennedy of Chicago. He was a member of Div. 1, A. O. H. and of St. Peter's Holy Name society. Deceased had been employed at the Lowell water works for a number of years and was held in high esteem by all who knew him.

MR. DUNLAP A DIRECTOR

Elected By the Lowell Electric Light Corporation—Company Controlled Locally

At a recent meeting of the Lowell Electric Light Corporation, Harry Dunlap was chosen one of the board of directors and as director of the corporation he will be the only Lowell resident connected with the board. It has often been stated that the firm of Stone & Webster held a controlling interest in the Lowell Electric Light Corporation, while as a matter of fact the ownership of the company is very widely diffused and the Stone & Webster people own 100 shares, or less than one per cent. of the outstanding stock, and figures as manager of the property only because the stockholders apparently believe in its ability to handle the company's affairs for the best interest of all concerned. The total number of shares outstanding is 11,704, held by 478 different shareholders. The average of the holdings per stockholder is only 24 shares. The number of trustees holding this stock is 123, and the number of women shareholders is 318. These together form nearly three-quarters of the total number of shareholders, or to be exact, 71 per cent. Twenty-seven of the stockholders live in Lowell. Ten only of all the stockholders reside outside Massachusetts.

ON THE SAND LOTS

Lowell, May 1, 1914. (Lineup: Olin Sullivan p. Albert Laprise c. Edward Gath D. Joe DeLooney 2b. Douglas Sullivan ss. Patrick Burns 3b. Leo Rusty rf. Tom Labele lf. Richard Marble of Joe Buckley mascot. Send you to form a baseball league of teams composed of 17-year-old boys. There are a number of 17-year-old teams in this city, for instance, "Shamrock," "Glenora," "Rams," "Lancers," "Ramblers," "A. C.," and "Mystic." and I was told a team to be called the "Ghosts" will be organized and ready to play by May 7. These teams could form an eight-team league. A schedule could be made and at the close of the season the winning team would be the 17-year-old champions of the city, and there wouldn't be a dozen claimants for the championship. The schedule could consist of 14 games for each team, and at the end of the season the winning team could play out-of-town teams and decide the 17-year-old championship of the state. Will you look into this and see what you can do. I would advise that you be made president of such a league if it should be formed. From a Follower of the Sand Lots Amateurs.

We will be only too glad, friend, to help all we can in forming such a league. Anything that you managers want to get together and hold a session, we'll meet you in the Sun's sporting department and assist in any way possible. But as to accepting the presidency of such a league—nothing doing. We take chances enough in this newspaper game without running any more risk. Anything but that and you'll find us right at hand, boys!

Here's a chance for the Howard Street Stars. They been doing a lot of talking lately and we guess it is all talk. The Giants will play any team that Howard street ever had and beat the life out of 'em. The Giants is too good for any 17-year-old team and we ain't 12 yet. How's that? Here is the Giants' lineup when they play good teams: Silverblatt c. L. Levine p. W. Smolensky ss. J. Ziskind 2b. L. Shuman 3b. S. Schwartz lf. S. Ginsburg rf. S. Greenberg cf. E. Zimberg cf. E. Zimberg was captain of the Howard Street Stars but he resigned and is now our right-hander. He knows a good team all right. L. Levine, 112 Grand street, is our manager.

The Glenora defeated the champion Shamrock team at the old fair grounds by the score of 11 to 5. The pitching of Morris of the Glenora was the feature of the game. The Glenora will play the Glenora of the fair grounds next Saturday.

GAMES TOMORROW

We are a talented team and can beat any 17-year-old baseball players in the city. Sometimes they call us the Geometry Stars, but our right name is Richardson's Pets. You see, Miss Richardson is our teacher and she is all right. She likes a good ball game. We will play you for a dollar ball. How's that? We ain't big enough to throw a dollar ball, but we got sick of hearing all you guys talk about quarter balls, so we play for a dollar ball. Here's our lineup: A. Palm p. L. Edwards c. T. Fletcher lf. C. Black 2b. S. Brandon cf. S. Hase 3b. S. McGuire rf. M. Smith cf. P. Henry rf.

The Wampanit A. C. would like a game with any 17-year-old team in the city.

LEWISTON BALL TEAM LAWRENCE AGAIN

Headed by Billy "It" McMahon of Local Fame Here for Two Game Series—Suits Gone Astray

Billy "It" McMahon, alias "Red," and his band of Lewiston ball players gave Lowell a thorough inspection this morning while waiting over here for their two game series with the champions. In comparison to Haverhill the Lewiston players thought that Lowell was a large metropolis.

The local player, who is managing the Lewiston club, took some of the team over to the South common and showed them where he got his early baseball experience. "And believe me," congratulated "Red" we've had better games on this old diamond than were ever played inside of any league park."

Lewiston Suits Lost Part of the Lewiston suits have been lost on the way from the Spalding factory. Caps and stockings are missing and the team was minus both of these articles when they opened up in Haverhill. This afternoon McMahon's club wore the caps of last year's Lowell team.

Banks John McMahon Emory Banks, the youngster who tried out with the Lowell club as a pitcher, will be given a chance to see what he can do in a Lewiston uniform. "Red" did not sign him this morning, but Banks was in uniform on the visiting bench and the Lewiston manager informed the writer that he expected to sign him up tonight if terms can be made mutually agreeable. Banks will be used as a catcher.

Back of Practice The Lewiston club is worse off for practice than are the champions. The opening game last Friday with Haverhill was the first time that the nine men who started the game had ever played together and "Red" announced himself as well pleased at the showing they made.

McMahon expects Swanson, the Red Sox second sacker, to report when the club swings around the circuit toward home again and is looking for Paul Howard's smiling face any day now. In fact he thought that Howard would

Sturtevant's Batting a Feature of Contest—Vanderlick Shines

In one of the loast played games which the local team has been a party to this season, Lowell Textile went down to defeat Saturday afternoon before the fast team of Cushing academy on the latter's home grounds by the score of 7 to 6. Free hitting as well as loose fielding featured the contest.

It was the second defeat out of seven games played by Textile. Sturtevant and Brickett both worked in the box for the local team while Colby did the mound work for Cushing. Colby was very effective with men on bases. On several occasions nothing but airtight pitching kept Textile from sewing up the game.

Sturtevant was there as usual with the wand. His two ringing doubles helped out in the run column. Brickett, Baker and Carlson also batted well for Textile while Vanderlick's baton waved against the ball three times for safeties for Cushing. The score:

be here in Lowell when he arrived and was disappointed when no sign of the outfielder was forthcoming. If both of these men report Lewiston will be faced present a formidable lineup.

Haverhill Field Worst Ever From all accounts the new baseball park erected by Dan Clokey in Haverhill is the worst ever. Practically the first thing McMahon did when he arrived in Lowell was to call up Jimmy Gray and ask for a half-dozen balls. "You see," explained "Red," "the fence is so close to the plate down in Haverhill that we lost 12 balls in the river during practice." That night he came back all right. If all of the clubs keep losing their spheres that way perhaps Mr. Clokey will be asked to replace them.

Pieper's Men Defeat Lowell—Short Fences Feature of Victory

Lawrence took the second game from the Champions Saturday in as many days and opened their season before a large crowd for this time of the year. Nearly three thousand fans saw the down-river team take the locals into camp by the score of 9 to 4.

As usual when Lowell meets Lawrence, the latter had all the breaks. This does not mean that Lowell deserved to win, as a reversal of baseball luck on several occasions might have changed the final result considerably.

The short fence in right and center field played a big factor in the run-getting of the Lawrence club. With two out and one on base, Conley hit a ball which was level with his cap and sent it over the center field fence for the first tally of the game in the second inning. Pearson lifted another ball over the same spot in the fourth under exactly the same conditions.

Lohman and Temple both essayed to stop the Lawrence sluggers but to no avail. Lohman started the game and, although he appeared to have everything on the ball Pieper's men hit him hard at opportune times. Temple, who succeeded him, fared little better.

Alce Pearson was in the points for Lawrence, and Lowell found him for 10 hits. In the sixth inning a batting rally netted the Champions three runs.

Potter's healthy smash sailed over the right field fence for the circuit, while two men scored ahead of him. The error column also showed Lowell to be inferior in fielding to their opponents. Five times did Jimmy Gray's boys commit slips that proved costly. Burke and Kelley made several wonderful fielding plays while the hitting of Potter, Stumpen and Conley were features. The score:

Wednesday will be "Cordon day" at Spalding park and the many friends of the Billerica boy now plying for Lynn are planning a pretentious reception for him. "Pete" is a prominent member of the Y. M. C. I. and other local organizations and with good weather there is certain to be a large number of his Billerica neighbors present as well.

The opening in Lawrence was under much more propitious auspices than the one heretofore as the weather was concerned. The parade and trip to the grounds was made through streets crowded with spectators and Pieper's band was lustily cheered all along the line of march. Mayor Scanlon rode in the auto with Managers Pieper and Gray.

Louis Pieper is a lawyer in Lawrence and practices during the winter months. He is associated with his brother in the law and with his brother-in-law, Noonan, in the ownership of the Lawrence club. It's all in the family anyway.

If you remember Lowell lost the first two games last season to Dury's Portland crew. Two games is two games and they count just as much now as later on but a bad start does not necessarily preclude a bad finish.

Those Lawrence players certainly had on their batting togs. The ball that Conley clipped over the fence was a high fast one and the offering that Alce Pearson hit on for his home run contribution was intended by Lohman for a waste ball. When they are hitting them like that you can't do very much but let 'em hit.

Burke and Kelley once more gave a beautiful exhibition of how their respective positions should be played. Kelley was yanked in both hands in the third inning but continued after having his hands dressed and bandaged. His playing throughout the remainder of the game bore no indications of the injuries. Burke was all over the infield whenever wood rang against horsehide. They're a great pair.

Both of the Lowell catchers are under the weather. "Pete" Wagoner has not yet reached a point where his eyes are reconciled to the New England climate and "Spud" Thomas also complains of the same indisposition. We'd be in a fine predicament if both of them were laid up just now.

"Red" McMahon and his game of Lewiston ball tapers will be with us again tomorrow and on Wednesday. Dury Mahority and the Lynn club will report at Spalding park. Saturday's number with Plumburg should also prove a drawing card at the local park.

Lynn fans have gone wild over the success of their club in its first four games. The defeat of Worcester was the greatest pitime in the Lynn team's cap for Burke has a fine looking aggregation this year. Bushelman and Van Dyke have both been forced to hit the dust but these two pitchers can't be beaten every day by a long shot. Worcester has a good ball club this season and will be heard from shortly.

Frank Kramer, the American champion cyclist, took the first race from Walter Rutt, the German wonder, at Newark, N. J., yesterday. The men will meet three times, each race being decided by heats. Kramer took his race yesterday in straight heats from the world's champion.

Bill Carrigan will endeavor to put a big crimp in the Athletics' standing in their present series and incidentally boost his own club a trifle higher in the race. Neither Boston club has made a showing yet which deserves heavy patronage.

If a batter hits a ball to the outfield and reaches second base only to be called out for not touching first base does it count as a hit?—A. S. O.

No, the batter being called out for not touching first base robs him of a hit but counts as a time at bat.

Umpire Hardy worked in Lawrence as well as up here in our opener and he isn't the worst that we ever saw. The first of the season is harder on the players for the former haven't even seen a ball. Hardy ran his game in good style down there Saturday.

DIAMOND NOTES

"Boys" if on starting your career in baseball ambition is to earn a place along with Ty Cobb, Crawford and Veach in the "Tigers" heavy artillery, don't learn to hit left-handed.

This is advice direct from Frank J. Navin, the big boss of the Detroit club, who has his force of scouts ready to scour the country thoroughly for men who had right-handed and hit the ball a mile on a second down towards third base.

The better of the bitters of the big leagues are left-handed. In the American league, for instance, Cobb, Crawford, Jackson, Speaker, Eddie Collins, Baker, Strunk, Milan, Gus Williams and others of the leaders had from the left side of the plate.

The success of the left-handed hitters has led youngsters just starting their baseball careers to bat left-handed, even if they are natural right-handers. It has brought up through the minors and into the majors an overbalance of life-handed hitters.

The Feds have put over another one of their organized baseball. It is not in the way of politics of the game but just a publicity stunt. They will go down on record as the first league which has had to move back the fence of one of its parks to keep its players from batting home runs over the ramparts. All this took place in Chicago, too. Yesterday afternoon a force of fifty men are said to have started work moving back the left field fence twenty-five feet and then putting a wire netting on the top of the bounds to prevent the balls from going over. Home runs over this fence have become too numerous, it is declared, and must be stopped. How could the Feds obtain better advertisement for their slingers than to take official cognizance of the fact that they have to move back their fences to keep the balls in the lot. No wonder the crowds are flocking to the Feds' games.

WALTER JOHNSON, THE GREAT, AS HE LOOKS SIZING UP THE BATTERS

JOHNSON

Before the present baseball season opened alarming reports came from Washington that Walter Johnson had a sore arm. Judging from the way in which the big pitcher has been mowing down opposing batters, the soreness must have been in his left arm. In his career in the major leagues Johnson has struck out over 1400 batters and leads the field of pitchers in this respect.

BABE ADAMS

Babe Adams, the able Pittsburgh pitcher, has shown noticeable effectiveness this season, and the coming of warm weather should make him as dangerous to batsmen as he was when he won a world's championship for the Pirates against Detroit. With Adams in his old time form Captain Clarke's pennant chances have grown brighter.

TO FIGHT DUEL

Caillaux and Allieres
Ignore Decision of
Arbitrators

PARIS, May 4.—In spite of the decision of the arbitrators to the contrary, Joseph Caillaux, former minister of finance, and Fernand D'Allieres are to fight a duel. M. Allieres was M. Caillaux's opponent in the recent election to the chamber of deputies. Referring to the killing last March of Gaston Calmette, editor of the Piraro, by M. Caillaux's wife, he posted bills in the constituency saying clean doctors would refuse to become "accomplices in crime." M. Caillaux consequently challenged him to a duel.

CITY HALL NOTES

The park board will meet tonight and the municipal council tomorrow forenoon. It is expected that at the meeting of the park board the controversy over the purchase of a wagon for the park department by the purchasing agent will be ironed out. Commissioner Rountree is going to take the purchasing agent to task for buying a wagon other than the one recommended by the commission. Mr. Rountree was appointed on a committee to select a wagon and he selected it, but the purchasing agent purchased another wagon because he believed it was better suited for the purpose than the wagon selected by Mr. Rountree.

The purchasing agent will call for bids to open Saturday forenoon on the following material for the water department: 25,000 2 1/2-inch extra strong Ryers wrought iron pipe; 25 8-inch post hydrants with 5-inch valve; three 2 1/2-inch outlets of gate pattern and tested to 300 pounds pressure; 10 8-inch hub and water gates, opening to the right and tested to 300 pounds pressure.

NAVAL ACADEMY, VERA CRUZ, AFTER AMERICAN BOMBARDMENT

MEXICO SITUATION

mal, no vote having been taken up to this time and all decisions having been reached by unanimous agreement. They began late this morning, having been continued last night until nearly one o'clock.

In circles close to the Huerta representatives the news of Carranza's refusal to agree to an armistice was not taken as final. It was pointed out that it would have been surprising if the constitutionalists had accepted the armistice on the eve of getting possession of Saltillo. Huerta's reported declaration that he will never resign is not taken seriously in Huertista circles here.

Expect Announcement

The mediating envoys reached the state department and went into conference with Secretary Bryan shortly before noon. Ambassador Du Gues, of Brazil, and Minister Naon of Argentina arrived first. A few minutes later the Chilean minister, Mr. Suarez, joined them. Secretary Bryan said that some announcement might be made later.

REFUGEES TELL OF

REPORTED RUPTURE
VERA CRUZ, Mexico, May 4.—American refugees continue to arrive from the capital and they bring diverse stories of the situation there. Arrangements are being made today to send a naval vessel to Puerto Mexico, to meet a large number of refugees due there Tuesday morning.

Latest arrivals from Mexico City

MARINES MARCHING TO BARRACKS, VERA CRUZ

This was snapped as a detachment of United States marines marched to the temporary barracks in Vera Cruz during the occupation of that city.

confirm the previous reports of a growing unrecurrent of feeling against the Huerta regime and tell of a rumor of a rupture between Huerta and Gen. Blanquet, minister of war. It was the latter with the crack 29th regiment that took the military coup which resulted in the downfall of President Madero.

Some of the returning Americans who claim to have information from those close to Huerta declare he is retreating to confidants that he will never resign but talks of the possibility of a coup against him.

Several of the American business men say the foreign diplomatic representatives counseled them not to leave the capital, that there was no necessity to do so as there was practically no danger and the whole situation would be clarified soon.

The refugees generally expressed disappointment at the lack of any indication of an advance of the American army on the capital. They say the best class of Mexicans share this view.

Customs Revenues
There is speculation in official circles regarding the disposition of the customs revenues of this port, said to aggregate over a million dollars in gold a month.

The federal officers who fled inland took important papers from the customs house files and it is difficult for the American officials to clear up business in the warehouses or to ascertain the exact distribution that has formerly been made of the revenue. Mexican customs receipts are pledged in part as security for the old national loan and the remainder was pledged by Huerta for the recent French loan.

For the present all the customs receipts will be impounded to await instructions from Washington. Several cargoes have been unloaded during the last few days and more ships are reported as cleared for this port from the United States and Europe so that the accumulated receipts will soon reach a considerable amount.

Demand American Currency

The demand for fractional American currency was suddenly increased today when H. M. Robinson, superintendent of the United States railroad mail service who has taken charge of the post-office, placed American postage stamps on the market and stipulated they must be paid for in American money.

The administration of Col. Edward Plummer, the provost marshal, began today at the point where the civil government under Robert J. Kerr had carried it when ousted by orders from Washington. Col. Plummer had been given wide latitude by Gen. Funston, who wants to devote as much of his own time as possible to military duties, although all cases requiring his personal attention will be carried to the commander-in-chief of the land forces.

Col. Plummer had assigned to him army and navy men for heads of all departments and several enlisted men to be used in clerical work, but these will be added to by civilians. Plummer's government starts with $326,500 worth of revenue stamps and $70,000 in cash, recovered by C. H. Stewart, treasurer under Kerr's administration.

FEDERAL FORCES HAVE

MINED PANUO RIVER

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Reports to the navy department from Rear-Admiral Mayo indicate that the Mexican Federal forces have mined the Panuco river, the inlet to the city of Tampico from the Gulf of Mexico.

The river is navigable to Tampico for only comparatively light draft vessels. Two weeks ago the scout cruiser Chester, the gunboat Dolphin and one or two other American vessels were lying in front of Tampico in the river. The entire city was directly under their guns and Admiral Mayo was convinced he could have taken the place without the loss of a man.

It seemed available, however, to order the ships from the harbor to the Gulf. This scarcely had been accomplished it is said, before the Mexicans placed mines in the river to prevent the ships from again entering.

FINED $75 EACH

Continued

Judge Wright found the three defendants guilty and ordered each to pay a fine of $75. Each appealed and was held in the sum of $200 surety for the superior court.

Sergeant Petrie

Sergeant David Petrie, the first witness called by the government, testified that he went to the room of Mr. Marshall in Appleton street on the evening of April 24 and as the latter refused to admit that he had any "pool tickets" in his possession, he started to search the room and found envelopes, with numbers on the outside, slips and several packages of papers containing lettering and names in a bureau drawer. An American Express Co. receipt for the transfer of tables and chairs from 22 Hurd street to J. H. Carney of Concord, N. H., was shown by the complainant but on the objection of Lawyer Toye it was not submitted as evidence.

Continuing, the witness said that he brought the tickets to the station at the same time as he did Mr. Marshall. Sergeant Petrie said that his prisoner was very anxious to secure the white slips which contained names of different persons.

Referring to Mr. Roach, the witness stated that he went to his house and found envelopes, tickets, etc., on tables and desks in a room that the defendant occupied. There was money in the room but the officer did not count it. He said that Mr. Roach told him on the evening of the arrest that he intended to deliver the tickets the next morning. He was to sell them for fifty cents each.

Ser. Petrie was then asked to tell what he knew about the system used. He read a slip which he got in one of the rooms telling the rules under which the alleged matter was to be conducted.

Two slips one pink and one white, were submitted containing numbers which it is claimed represented the different clubs and Supt. Welch told the court that the person who secured the largest number of runs during a week was given the first prize and the other prizes were arranged for by the management.

Witness then told of going to a Merrimack street barber shop where Frain is employed and there found tickets and slips similar to those found in the other places. He said that this defendant claimed he had sold 37 tickets one week and six another week.

Officer Clark

Special Officer Clark was sworn in and testified that two of the defendants told him that the tickets represented a part of the baseball pool paraphernalia and that they were selling them for a J. H. Carney.

Supt. Welch

Supt. Welch was the next witness and testified that he talked with the three men a short time after the arrests were made and they all admitted selling baseball pool tickets. The defendants explained to him how the tickets were sold and how the prizes were divided.

None of the three defendants was called to testify. Lawyer Toye asked that they be discharged as there was no evidence to show that they had lottery tickets in their possession. He called attention to the fact that the cases were brought under the charge of having lottery tickets in their possession while several other actions of the law referred to the selling of "pool tickets." Mr. Toye argued that pool-selling as the result of a game of chance is a lottery, but said that a baseball game or baseball games

PASS TRUST LEGISLATION

Pres. Wilson Wants Bills Enacted
Before Congress Adjourns —
Agreement Reached

WASHINGTON, May 4.—After a conference with President Wilson today, Majority Leader Underwood announced that an agreement had been reached to put through the Clayton omnibus anti-trust bill, the Covington inter-state trade commission bill and a bill to regulate the issuance of stock securities as well as a rural credits measure before congress adjourns.

Mr. Underwood announced he would call a democratic caucus to ratify the program which he arranged with the president and it was the aim of the president and himself to have congress adjourn by July 1.

"The president thinks it is absolutely necessary," he said, "to pass trust legislation consisting of the Clayton omnibus bill, the Covington inter-state trade commission bill and a bill to come from the interstate commerce commission for the regulation of stock securities. Also we will put through a rural credit bill and the appropriation bills before adjournment."

The president was very desirous of pressing the presidential primary bill and that was on the original program but Judge Tucker, chairman of the committee on elections has been ill and that has delayed the subject so that it is not now a definite part of the program; but the president is still hopeful that we may be able to take it up.

He said that the manager of a baseball pool has nothing to do with the baseball game and that no evidence was shown in this case to the effect that the buyers could not pick their own combinations. He further said that there was no evidence to show that they were lottery tickets and that there is nothing to show that baseball tickets are a lottery.

Supt. Welch cited several decisions of Massachusetts courts to the effect that conducting a game of this sort is a lottery.

In considering the evidence Judge Enright said that he believed it was a lottery. Lawyer Toye then asked for a very small fine as the baseball pool selling has been stopped in Lowell and many other places.

The court said that this game ought to be stopped as it is an injury to baseball, the best game we have. The court then imposed the fine of $75 each.

Fined For Selling Liquor

Pasquale Colepietro was arraigned in police court on a complaint charging him with unlawfully selling intoxicating liquors in the town of Dracut. It was alleged that on last Saturday he sold one pint of ale to a fellow countryman. Through an interpreter, he pleaded guilty and asked for an opportunity to pay a fine. As this was the defendant's first offence he was ordered to pay a fine of $50.

"I expect to call a caucus to endeavor to get the program ratified and we expect to drive it through both houses of congress by the first of July."

Mr. Underwood was asked if he thought the program could be gotten through both houses as early as July 1st.

"Yes," he replied, "it can if we all get together and play ball, which we will do."

The house leader said that the Mexican situation might, of course, at any time absorb the attention of congress and interfere with the program but he did not see any prospect of such a development as yet.

PRES. WILSON DISCUSSES NATION'S BUSINESS IN OPEN AIR

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The nation's business, Mexican imbroglio and all, was moved into the open air today when President Wilson left the staff office for the cool shade of a tent straw in the White House grounds. Representative Underwood, majority leader of the house, was the first visitor to be shown to the open air office. For an hour the president and he sat about the summery shade and considered a legislative program that would permit congress to adjourn in July. Senator Hughes of New Jersey also talked over the situation in the open air presidential office.

DEMAND BETTER WAGES

FALL RIVER, May 2.—In order to make an effective fight against the Master Painters' association for an increase in wages, the English and French-speaking branches of the Painters' union are to be consolidated and the struggle of a year ago for better wages and improved working conditions resumed.

Who was so bold as to take out Dr. B. F. Head's horse from its stable in Dracut yesterday morning and return the animal a few hours later? This is the problem that the owner of the horse would like to solve. It seems that the doctor was awakened at about 2 o'clock yesterday morning by a strange noise about the stable. He quickly made an investigation and found that his horse had been stolen. The doctor set right out to notify the police of the theft and when he returned to the stable a couple of hours later, strange to say, he found his horse in the stall in the stable. The only evidence that the horse was taken out was its sweaty condition. The carriage which are kept on the first floor of the stable had not been disturbed, and it is believed that the culprit meant to get away with the horse alone.

This is the first actual picture to show the burning of Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, as viewed from Laredo, Texas, on the American side of the Rio Grande. The Mexican federales set fire to the town and blew up many of the buildings rather than see the place fall into the hands of the American forces. They also tried to blow up the international bridge, seen in the picture, but the American soldiers drove the federales back by a hot fire of bullets.

BOSTON, May 4.—The possibility of a strike of firemen and engineers on the Boston & Maine hinged on a conference to be held today between officials of the road and a joint committee of the Brotherhood of local engineers and of firemen and engineers. The officials had agreed to announce today their final decisions as to whether they would grant the demands of the men for a remedying of grievances as to hours of labor and train runs. The brotherhood representatives had announced that in case of an adverse decision a strike vote would be ordered at once. The claim of the engineers and firemen was that the company had violated the terms of the working agreements with its employees.

Close Tampico Incident First

DANGER FROM FIRE AT THE EDSON SCHOOL MEDIATORS WILL THEN TAKE UP INDEMNITY

State Inspector Orders Commissioner Donnelly to Correct Dangerous Condition on Third Floor and Provide Additional Egress

Besides being minus a master, the Edson school, according to J. J. Carey, state building inspector, is in a dangerous condition in case of fire. He says that the conditions existing there, especially on the third floor, should be corrected at once. He calls attention to the fact that two stairways leading from the third floor land in the same corridor and are very close together and that additional egress should be provided.

The state inspector has recommended a number of changes in school-houses, and Commissioner Donnelly says it will take considerable money to make all of the repairs ordered by the inspector. The commissioner stated today that he would not tackle the repairs until the vacation season and he will probably ask for a special appropriation.

Inspector Carey's letter relative to the Edson school is as follows: Commissioner James E. Donnelly, City Hall, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: In compliance with the provisions of the statutes of the Commonwealth, chapter 552, acts of 1912, relating to the inspection of public buildings, on the first day of May, 1914, I inspected the Edson school, located on Highland street, Lowell, and you are directed to provide additional egress from third floor of this building, make stationary swinging railings on third floor corridor and throughout building; protect ceiling over boiler in basement with approved fire resisting material; provide approved hardware on all exit doors and exit signs to indicate all means of egress; provide additional means of exit from fire.

Your attention is called to the fact that the conditions existing in this building, and especially on the third floor, are dangerous in case of fire on account of the fact that two stairways leading from said third floor to second floor land in the same corridor and are very close together. Said dangerous condition should be changed immediately. Respectfully, J. J. Carey, State Building Inspector.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—General Huerta's acceptance of the request of the Latin-American envoys that he send delegates to confer with them in efforts to mediate the difficulties between Mexico and the United States was announced today at the state department, together with the names of two Mexicans who will represent the Huerta government in the negotiations. The mediators at a conference with Secretary of State Bryan communicated to the department that Huerta had selected to represent his interests in the negotiations to Emilio Rabasa, a Mexican jurist and Augustine Garza Garibay, under secretary of justice in Mexico. It further was announced that a third delegate to represent Huerta would be named tomorrow.

Following the conference Secretary Bryan made public the understanding from Mexico City which Huerta had communicated that through Ambassador Riano of Spain. The further announcement was made that no delegate to represent the United States had been selected. Mr. Bryan would not discuss the details of the conference further.

Mr. Rabasa is a close friend of General Huerta and it is believed here he was his personal choice. He once had been chosen by Huerta to be ambassador to the United States in case this government had recognized the Huerta regime.

It was thought here that the third delegate to be named to represent Huerta would be either Joaquin De Casas or Manuel D. Zambrano.

Tampico Incident First.

A general understanding after the state department conference was that the mediators had decided to limit their activities at this time to a settlement of the Tampico incident solely and that the appointment of the Huerta delegates was made on that basis. This would constitute the mediators an international court of honor to decide whether the United States was justified in its demand for reparation for the "insult to the flag" at Tampico and what form that reparation should take. After that point had been settled they would be confronted by the question of indemnity which probably would be claimed by the United States for its Vera Cruz expedition and the other expenses incident to the present difficulties. In considering indemnity the question would again be raised as to whether the Huerta government, not recognized by this country, could properly be held responsible for indemnity.

BIDS ON OLD GLORY

Foreign Firms Underbid Lowell Manufacturers — Bunting for Flag Should be Made at Home

Shall the bunting for the American flag be made at home or abroad? This is a real live question today and Lowell is very much interested inasmuch as Lowell has been selling flag bunting to Uncle Sam for nigh onto 30 years.

The New England Bunting Co. in Davidson street have had government orders for bunting for at least 26 years and now the question hinges as to whether this company shall be awarded the contract for 250,000 yards for the navy department. Two or three foreign companies have bid two or three cents a yard less than the New England Bunting Co., but the chances are that Uncle Sam will not suffer to have it said that he went abroad for his bunting just because it was a few cents cheaper. Perish the thought!

The U. S. Bunting Co. of this city has also made bunting for United States flags for a number of years and this company submitted a bid on the bunting wanted by the navy. The local companies allow that the matter will be properly straightened out in Washington. The United States requires that the bunting shall be of a certain standard and the chances are that the foreign manufacturers who have submitted bids have not taken this fact into consideration.

The following despatch from Washington has to do with the contract in question:

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 4.—England through two firms has entered bids with the navy department to make the bunting for the United States flags used by the navy, and the city of Lowell has become excited about it, for this bunting has been made by either the U. S. Bunting company or the New England Bunting company, both of Lowell, for the last half century, and they are in danger of losing their contracts so long enjoyed.

The contracts amount to about $40,000 annually and have heretofore been uncompleted for by any foreign source, but this time the English firms alluded to have submitted bids, which have just been opened by the navy department and which, if accepted by the United States government, would mean a saving of $5000 over the bids submitted by the American firms.

It is recalled that Secretary Daniels has encouraged bidding for navy supplies by foreign firms to reduce the price charges made by Americans in bidding on navy materials. It has been declared that Americans have been accustomed to demand several prices in supplying the navy, far in excess over what they asked private firms.

The bunting is the raw material of flags. It is sent to the navy yards, where it is sewn into flags.

Congressman Rogers has presented the appeal to the bureau of construction, repairs and supplies and they will make an inquiry before laying the matter before the secretary of the navy.

Meantime there are some who are looking with great horror upon the idea of American flags used by the navy being made in England. They are expected to make the eagle scream.

EXPECT CARRANZA TO SEND DELEGATES

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The Mexican situation in all its aspects is again before the South American mediators when they resumed their sessions at the Argentine legation today. They planned as their first move of the day to go to the state department for a reply to their request for the appointment of a delegate from the United States. The Huerta delegates, it was believed, would be either Joaquin De Casas, now on his way here from Carlsbad, or Zambrano to Indian, former Mexican financial adviser at London, and the Carranza delegate probably Rafael Zubaran, now here.

It was learned from an authoritative source that Carranza had sent a further telegram to the mediators inquiring as to their request for the appointment of a Carranza delegate, as to the extent of their functions and as to whether this would be limited to the controversy between the United States and Huerta, beyond which Carranza has shown disinclination to negotiate.

Meantime, the mediators were chiefly concerned in not having any untoward warfare by advance posts and skirmishes to cause complications in the negotiations. Besides the actual steps they have taken they view their largest work thus far as being a suspension of a condition of war and the time this

New Team's First Appearance in Lowell—Local Boy Manager—Bill Carrigan Present

The Lewiston team with Bill Carrigan of the Red Sox, Mike McDonough of Lewiston, and "Crabtree" Joe Burns of Lewiston, as the men behind, and our own "Billy" McMahon as playing manager, have here today this noon for their first appearance.

The weather man was more kindly disposed today, for a chill had been taken out of the atmosphere and while there was a slight suspicion of rain in the air the weather was such as to make the ordinary fan feel at ease with the world.

After two defeats in "recessions," some of the warty ones went no further than Merrimack square determined to save their little quarters until such time as the team got going right.

The Lewiston players must have thought they were some attraction when they found a couple of hundred men standing around the curbs to give them the once over when they awaited their cars for the grounds. But it was not the team but another attraction that drew the crowd, for the spectacle of a powerful safe being hauled up to a third story window at Chaffin's corner was what drew and held the multitude.

Lewiston has been attracting more than ordinary interest in the papers along the circuit, on account of Bill Carrigan's alleged connection with the team, and the report that it is to be turned into a sort of farm-school for the Red Sox. Already two likely looking Red Sox recruits have donned the Lewiston uniform, while a third is said to be on the way.

Today's lineup

The lineup for today's game was announced as follows:

Lowell	Lewiston
Burke 2b	Maloney 1f
Kelly 1b	McMahon ss
Stimpson 1f	Judd 3b
Pottenger 1f	Phoenix 2b
Mathewson 1f	Shea 1f
Dee ss	McDevitt cf

First inning

Maloney opened the fireworks for the visitors by hitting the first ball pitched for a pretty single to short left-center. Billy McMahon received a big round of applause as he stepped to the plate. McMahon flied out to Pottenger in deep center field. Judd hit a grounder to Kelly who tagged first and sent the ball to second but Maloney had written a good start and beat out the ball. Weaver allowed Phoenix to walk. Shea flied out to Stimpson. No runs.

For Lowell, Burke hit to left center for a three runner and got the fans started. It was a peach. Kelly hit to McMahon and died at first while Burke was held at third. Stimpson hit one too hard for O'Connell to handle and Burke scored Pottenger walked to first. Mathewson fanned out. Dee hit a grounder to Phoenix forcing Pottenger at second. One run.

Last of Gettysburg Commanders Suffrage Demonstration in Boston Cheered by 200,000 Who Lined Streets

29 Years Ago

NEW YORK, May 4.—The death of Gen. Daniel Sickles, one of the most brilliant military leaders of the American Civil War, was announced today. He died at his home in New York City, after a long illness.

Gen. Sickles was born in 1829 and served in the Civil War, where he was wounded at Gettysburg. He was a member of the Union League and a supporter of the suffrage movement.

granted a divorce. Mr. Parnell lived but a short time and died a heart-broken man.

Mrs. Parnell's memoirs were promised nearly a year ago, but evidently were withheld awaiting the psychological moment, which has now come.

Parnell a Sacrifice

About a year ago William O'Brien, M. P. for Cork City, wrote in his newspaper, The Cork Free Press, an account of an interview he had with Sir Frank Fortwood, who was Mrs. Parnell's counsel and one of the leaders of the English bar. Shortly after the trial Sir Frank Fortwood promptly told Mr. O'Brien that Parnell had been sacrificed by him and he felt very sorry about it. The secret of the matter was that Parnell could have been cleared substantially by certain evidence given both by himself and by others.

It was confidently asserted that the attachment between Mrs. O'Shea and Parnell had been kindled at by Captain O'Shea and fostered by him in order to promote certain political adventures of his.

Counsel Remorseful

With his evidence before the court the case would have been thrown out in advance unless supported by convincing evidence from other sources.

MEN SHOULD OBEY WIVES

BOSTON, May 4.—The Rev. A. H. Nazarian told his congregation at People's Temple last night that many a time he had wanted to reverse the word obey as used in the marriage service and ask the man to obey the woman. "Many a time," said he, "if the man had obeyed, the children would not have come hungry."

The service was a woman suffrage rally, and Mrs. Marion Booth Kelley, whose husband is president of the Men's League for Equal Suffrage, made an address before an altar draped with American flags bound about with yellow suffrage pennants. Moreover, "anti" wearing red roses among the audience, applauded her address on "Woman's Contribution to Modern Life."

Her principal statement was that "it is in that instinctive motherhood of the race that is behind the suffrage movement today."

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Mr. Alfred Harvey and Miss Maria Litterer took place yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Augustin Gruber, O. M. I. The couple were attended by J. B. Lawrence and Miss Bonifazi. At the close of the ceremony the bride and groom, accompanied by the bridesmaids, went to the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Anna Day, at 27 Pawtucket street, where a reception was held. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey who were the recipients of many most gifts will make their home at 27 Pawtucket street upon their return from a brief wedding trip.

PARSON CALLAHAN

Mr. E. Parson and Mrs. Mary Callahan of North Chatham were united in matrimony at St. John's rectory Sunday afternoon. The wedding ceremony being performed by Rev. Edward T. Schenck. A reception was afterwards held at the home of the bride at the corner of Hope and Holmes streets, which was attended by a large number of relatives and friends. The wedding party left late in the evening for Canada, where several places will be visited.

MRS. FISKE AT OPERA HOUSE

That the people of Lowell are rather averse to attending theater on Saturday evening is well known and this may be undoubtedly due to the rather small attendance at the appearance of Mrs. Fiske at the opera house in the role of Mrs. Remond-Louis. The crowd of the night show a hint of rare, about 1,000, but it is a higher rank in society by changing her name and assuming one upon an ancestry that existed only in her imagination. The difficulty of breaking into high society and taking her mother and sister along with her was the basis of the play and it was indeed a beautiful performance. The talent of Mrs. Fiske in the title role being the leading feature. Next to her, Miss Jeanne as Peter Swallow was the leader of the company which, as a whole, proved equal to every requirement. Miss Fiske's second daughter, and Miss Kate Fisher as the mother, Mrs. De Kall, gave a fine interpretation of their roles. Kenneth Hunter played the role of the father, never to permit the performance was highly successful and deserving better patronage.

ment of the army in charge of the government of Vera Cruz would eliminate Mr. Kerr. It was also indicated by the secretary that army officers would take the places of the two other civilians who were appointed with Mr. Kerr to fill the functions of other offices under the civil government for martial law established by Admiral Fletcher at Vera Cruz. This would displace William William P. Buckle as administrator of justice and Charles H. Stewart as treasurer of the newly established government. Mr. Kerr is a Chicago lawyer.

SECOND BECKER TRIAL

DIST. ATTY. WHITMAN WILL CALL 70 WITNESSES—WILL OPEN ON WEDNESDAY

NEW YORK, May 4.—For the second trial of Charles Becker, former police lieutenant, on a charge of having instigated the murder of Herman Rosenthal which will begin on Wednesday, District Attorney Charles S. Whitman will call 70 witnesses, many of whom did not testify in the first trial. The court of appeals in granting Becker a new trial disregarded the testimony of Sam Schepps and made it valueless at the coming trial. It is said that Becker is anxious to take the stand in his own behalf and that Martin T. Manton, his counsel, may permit him to do so. It is expected that several days will be occupied in securing a jury. The trial probably will occupy three weeks or a month.

DEFEATED HILLSIDES OF LAWRENCE IN ONE-SIDED GAME—SUN ENDS WITHOUT T. R. & T'S

The South End club's baseball team proved much for the Hillside of Lawrence Saturday in their contest on the South End well grounds and the local amateur team by the score of 13 to 1. South was on the mound for the South End club and had four hits, four runs and two home runs. South and W. P. were the heavy hitters for the club.

Another amateur game which attracted a great deal of interest locally was the South End T. R. & T's game played at North Billerica. The South End produced a lineup which was too strong for the North Billerica aggregation and won by a 7-0 score. The batting of Clark and the fielding of Gage and Gallagher for the South End and the all round work of Hartley and Mcweeney for the losers were the features.

EDITOR WAS GAME

WENT TO JAIL RATHER THAN VIOLATE JOURNALISTIC ETHICS IN DISCLOSING NAME

HALIFAX, N. S., May 4.—W. R. McCurdy, news editor of the Halifax Herald and Evening Mail, ended a sentence of 48 hours' imprisonment at the county jail, which had been imposed upon him by the provincial legislature. The sentence was the first of its kind in a quarter century.

Editor McCurdy was brought to the bar of the house of assembly to give the name of a letter published by the Mail on April 19. This letter, which referred to a bill for temporary privileges, was construed by government members of the legislature as an insult to that body. It was signed "Dan McCurdy."

The editor refused to reveal the name of the author, on the ground that it would be a violation of journalistic ethics. The house discussed the matter for nine hours, the alleged insult, the editor's refusal and the proposed punishment before final vote was reached. The verdict was reached on a straight party vote, the government members voting against a resolution, in which the premier joined, calling for the arrest and imprisonment of McCurdy and the opposition objecting.

RT. REV. WM. LAWRENCE

RT. REV. WILLIAM LAWRENCE.

Confirmed Class at St. John's Church Yesterday—Sermon at St. Anne's

Speaking at St. Anne's church yesterday, the Rev. William Lawrence said that what we hear is largely dependent upon what we want to hear and what our characters make us desire to hear. Those things, he said, sweep in and the others are lost. Bishop Lawrence preached from the text, "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear; but take heed what ye hear." He said in part:

"Think of the horror of a life that has accustomed itself to hear only the things that degrade. Take, for instance, a man who from boyhood has been in the habit of listening to foul stories. As he gets older, the habit has grown upon him so that if he hears in the distance the sound of one of those stories, his ears are pricked up and he listens; and when he applies to other things that habit of listening holds him down."

"Again, can you conceive how a woman's character may be demoralized as she gets into the habit of listening to gossip and scandal? Lots of fine things sweep in and she is indifferent to them. As the years go by her ears become sensitive to the trivial things, and her character is disintegrated until, when she is older, she is nothing but a silly gossip. She has ears to hear, but she did not take heed what kind of things she listened to."

"Throughout history there have been those who seemed ready to catch the sound of heavenly voices. When Saul fell to the ground converted he heard, but the others did not."

"What are the sounds of the city? Why the roar of the mills or the roar of the motor cars over the pavement. Yet we walk through the streets and we do not hear them very often, when we are listening to the voice of a friend."

"Down in a certain part of the city are parents humble and poor, obliged to live in tenements it may be over upper saloons or in streets where children are evil. We can hear, if we will, the voice of the father and mother as they talk, wondering how they can keep their children pure under those conditions. The hardship of poverty is not in the poverty, but in the conditions that poverty brings."

"Again, there is the cry, the prayer of the mother as she thinks of her wayward child; the desire, spoken in stronger words, of those who seek finer and higher things. The foreigner who has been in America, that he does not understand. Those voices are loud, if we listen to them."

"In our social life, there are those who are dependent and those who are over-successful and who think that they are leaders of the world."

"Those of us who are middle-aged, should we not refine our auditory nerves a bit, occasionally? Young people are looking to us to find a response to the fine ideals and the enthusiasms that they feel. These voices are all about us, even though we hear them not. It is well that we who are older and have become over-sensitive or lacking in idealism, shall keep our ears attuned to their voices. O, you that have ears to hear, listen and take heed what you hear."

Continuation at St. John's
Bishop Lawrence continued a class at St. John's in the morning and at St. Anne's in the evening. Forty-nine were confirmed at St. Anne's, and twenty-one at St. John's. It was his annual visit to Lowell churches.

At St. John's church, the bishop spoke on "Christianity." In his opening he expressed gratitude over the splendid improvement of the church since his last visit.

He then referred to the beautiful sanctuary window which was given by Mrs. Greenleaf, a sister of the poet Lowell, as a thank offering for her unflinching avoidance of serious accident, while driving with the family of one of the rectors of the church.

Speaking on the progress of Christianity he said that vital statistics show that in Christian countries life is much longer than in heathen countries, and the people are stronger and healthier than the pagans. This fact shows conclusively that the religion of Christ has a very positive material effect upon our bodies, although the first effect is a mental one.

First Universalist Church

"The Great Affirmations of Religion" was Rev. Dr. Fisher's sermon subject at the First Universalist church Sunday morning. He said that thousands of dollars had been spent for the propagation of religion. The first question that arises in the mind is, What good is religion to the world? This query is a most pertinent one, in view of the fact that many church members have gone wrong, and have thus cast a reflection upon the church. We cannot expect that all affirmations as to religion will agree, as we see things from varying angles of thought. There is much negative preaching that lacks a higher affirmation to take its place. The first great affirmation was the existence of God, and as the world grows broader in its interpretation of things spiritual, the ideals of God become higher and nobler. Another great affirmation was the personality of Jesus Christ, and that line of thought has been becoming more and more unified with the conviction that that personality was so sweet and tender, as well as grand and exalting, as to enter into human hearts, sweetening and uplifting them. The third great affirmation was salvation, which, according to the preacher, was simply the elimination of the evil in one's nature, and the development of nobility of character.

Pawtucket Church

At Pawtucket church Sunday evening, Mr. Sidney R. Fleet repeated the program of organ music which he gave recently at a recital in the Kirk Street church. The organ numbers were varied by two baritone solos by Mr. Edward L. Gerry of Haverhill, who sang Luther Buck's setting of "Fear Not Ye O Israel," and a devotional number, "In My Father's House are Many Mansions," by McDermid. The recital was given in place of the usual evening service.

AMONG THE TOILERS

The Lynn Carpet company is one of Lowell's thriving industries.

Everybody will be up to the Machinists' ball Thursday evening.

Henry Carr, park commissioner, is one of Lowell's toilers all right. He has started a grand movement, and once he starts, he never stops until the job is finished.

Charles E. Anderson was again elected secretary-treasurer of the New England conference board of the International Moulder's union. This is a deserved reward for service well rendered. This is his ninth term.

The delegates at the moulder's convention were surprised at the number of Lowell mills, but there was still more surprise in store for them, when they learned the amount of goods produced by Lowell's great industries.

William "Hunker" Harrington, at present working in Manchester, N.H., occupied his usual seat in the choir at the immaculate Conception church, yesterday, unable to keep away from his home city. "Hunker" is a pupil of David P. Martin, and some singer. He reports business conditions good in the New Hampshire city, but can't see it as a place to make one's home.

"Goady" Wynne, the old time South End ball player, is employed at present in a mill outside of Worcester, he gets The Sun every day and read the "Quarter of a Century" article about himself a few days ago. "Goady" is a strong union man and when he was manager of the South Ends in the old Urban and Suburban league it was necessary at times to delay the league meetings in order to allow "Goady" to finish a game of "Forty-Fives" at the union rooms.

Using High Grade Leather

"Charles this season are worn to some extent, but they are gradually losing their popularity. Since the prices of shoes have been advanced, some shoe manufacturers have thought it best to use a better grade of upper leather than they ever used before."—Atlas and Leather's Boston market report.

Shoe Trade in Mexico

Shoe and leather trade between the United States and Mexico was steadily increasing up to the time that difficulties arose between the two nations. Apparently, it had a bright future before it. But there is no knowing how much of a setback the American armed intervention has given to it, says the Lynn Item.

Mexico has supplied hides and skins to the United States for a great many years. Richard H. Dana tells about collecting hides on the west coast of Mexico for the Boston market in his book, "Twenty Years Before the Mast." In recent years Mexico has been sending to the United States annually about 30,000,000 pounds of cattle hides, worth $4,000,000. That was a substantial supply of hides, and it helped a lot in relieving the scarcity of hides in American markets. Mexico also sent to this country about 5,000,000 pounds of goat skins, worth more than $1,500,000. It also sent a few miscellaneous skins, like deerkins for fine buck leather and snake skins for fancy leather.

Exports of American shoes to Mexico have exceeded $1,000,000 yearly for several years. Several New England firms had good customers in Mexico, and the large exporters, like Keith Co., had retail stores in Mexico City. Many of the New England made shoes sent to Mexico were sold to Americans residing there. They were high grade shoes.

Ten years or more ago enterprising Americans undertook to develop the shoe manufacturing business in Mexico. It was a promising field. There were in Mexico several millions of people who wore good shoes and only a few shoemakers, most of whom made shoes by hand on custom orders. Shoes sold in retail stores were imported from the United States or from European countries.

The United Shoe Machinery Co. sent agents to Mexico and eventually established an agency in Mexico City. Henry Chapman of Salem, who had charge of this agency, returned to the home office in Boston last year, when trouble in Mexico began, and later he went to Buenos Ayres. Other machinery companies sent agents to Mexico, or solicited business through commission houses there. The machinery companies of Salem and Peabody supplied much machinery to Mexican tanners, which were being turned from simple

If the statement made at a New York Assembly of women, that healthy American women are so rare that they are almost extinct, is true, it is time for the women of America to take warning and look to their health. It may be headaches, backaches, dragging down pains, nervousness, mental depression, that are tell-tale symptoms of poor hygiene, derangement for which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—a simple remedy made from roots and herbs—is a specific and may be relied upon to restore women to a healthy normal condition.

In Mazatlan on the west coast of Mexico, an effort was made to establish a modern shoe and leather manufacturing plant several years ago. Several New Englanders went to Mazatlan to teach Mexicans the New England ways of making shoes and leather. Among them were J. W. McDonald, who was superintendent of the Mosser tannery in Salem; J. B. Kelf, a Lynn shoe manufacturing expert, who is now in Rochester, N. Y., and Henry Brown, another Lynn shoe expert.

Some of the methods in the Mazatlan factory were unusual. It is said that when the Americans arrived in the shop they found the cutters laying three or four skins, one on top of the other, on their boards and running their knives around a pattern on them. The good pieces from the underneath skins were saved and the poor pieces were discarded. When an American remonstrated at this waste of leather the foreman of the cutting room said: "Oh the leather does not cost us anything. We get it from our own tannery."

All of the manual labor in the shoe factory and tannery was done by Mexicans and Indians. The Americans supervised it. The Mexicans showed unusual skill in some branches of shoemaking, particularly in stitching of shoes. They were not educated, and they were not reliable. Nevertheless the Americans succeeded in having them turn out some very good leather and shoes.

The United States Shoe Manufacturing Co., established in Mexico City several years ago by young men from St. Louis. This concern prospered, and in one year it paid 100 per cent. on its capital.

This present trouble with Mexico will probably have a harmful effect on the shoe and leather industry, for it will on one hand cut off the supply of Mexican hides and skins, and on the other hand it will put an end to the sale of American shoes in Mexico until conditions are readjusted.

Shipments of shoes from Lynn to Mexico have practically ceased. Some Lynn firms abandoned the Mexican trade some time ago, discontinuing the services of traveling salesmen in Mexico and refusing to fill orders from Mexican customers.

I. W. W. LEADER BREAKS LEG

LAWRENCE, May 4.—David Kimmond, who was chairman of the Patriotic Works strikers in the recent strike and who was to start this week on a special-making tour of the country, as a representative of the I. W. W., will be obliged to cancel all his engagements to speak, for Saturday morning, he met with a most peculiar accident, breaking a leg.

The following account of Kimmond's misfortune was obtained from his boarding mistress and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Morgan of 411 Central street.

When he reported for breakfast Saturday morning, he brought a man down with him, according to Mr. and Mrs. Morgan.

"Give this man a seat at the table," demanded David.

"Not at this table," said Mrs. Morgan. "I'll have no drunken bums here. You bring them around all the time."

Then Mr. Morgan asked the stranger to depart, while Kimmond went over to the stove in the kitchen where Mrs. Morgan was cooking and began to tell her in foul language, it is said, just what he thought of her.

"Where did you come from?" asked Mr. Morgan of the stranger.

"I have a home," declared the man. "Then go to it," said Mr. Morgan.

Meanwhile Kimmond was arguing with Mrs. Morgan. Finally, it is alleged, he lifted his fist to strike her, according to three people who were in the room at the time, and Mrs. Morgan gave him only a light push. Kimmond's long legs became tangled up and he fell in a heap on the kitchen floor with his leg broken.

Mr. Morgan then summoned a police officer who ordered him removed to the city hospital.

Mr. Morgan said that Kimmond was always in a fight with some one of the boarders; that he owed for board and was continually causing trouble, but no one dared to talk to him as they say they considered him a dangerous man.

COUPLE RESCUED

Marooned in the Merrimack River

The bravery of a young man, identity unknown, who jumped into the Merrimack river yesterday forenoon and swam to a boat about 75 feet from the shore where a man and woman were marooned, being unable to row against the swift current, played a great part in the rescuing of the said man and woman, who refused to give their names, at a spot located several hundred yards below the Aiken street bridge.

The pair started out to enjoy a few hours of boating about 10 o'clock but had been rowing only a short time when the swift stream proved stronger than the man at the oars and the craft was taken down stream where it caught in some bushes nearly a hundred feet from shore. The cries of the couple attracted the attention of people passing along Lakeview avenue and after all efforts to reach shore had failed, a patrol wagon was sent into the police station and Inspector Walsh and Sgt. Petrie were soon on the scene with rope and other paraphernalia.

But the next question that confronted the rescuers was to get one end of the rope to the people in the boat as there was no other craft in the vicinity. Fortunately, there was one young man in the group who volunteered to brave the cold waters and swim to the boat and tying the rope around his waist started out amid cheers from the bystanders. After a struggle he succeeded in reaching his destination and fastening the rope around the bow of the boat shouted to those on shore to haul it in.

When the party was landed the lady was at the point of exhaustion as a result of shouting and fright and medical attention was required to revive her. However, the tyro who took the important part in the affair made their getaway before their names could be ascertained by the police.

SEVERAL SMALL FIRES

In responding to an alarm for a grass fire off Knapp avenue, Saturday evening, the 11th street fire auto barked in turning from High street into Rogers. The men got out to see what the trouble was and after a few minutes a great sheet of flame started under the machine. A gas-burner was leaking and became ignited. But for the use of the chemicals the machine would have been destroyed. The Investigation showed that a pipe leading to the gasoline tank was broken. The chemicals were run off and the break repaired after a couple of hours delay.

Capt. W. A. Dolan of Hose 11, while working on the blaze was burned about the face while using a chemical.

Yesterday forenoon an automobile owned and driven by Arthur Bibeault caught fire in Riverside street and an alarm from box 7 summoned the members of the department to the scene. At 8:55 last night an alarm from box 115 was sent in for a rubbish fire at 447 Adams street. No damage was slight.

Yesterday noon another alarm from box 115 was sent in for an automobile fire in Aiken street. There was no damage.

Late Saturday afternoon an alarm from box 74 summoned a portion of the department to Varnum avenue where a brush fire was in progress. In the evening the firemen were called by telephone to the rear of Fort Hill park for a threatening brush fire.

At 8:55 last night an alarm from box 115 was sent in for a rubbish fire at 447 Adams street. No damage was slight.

You Can't Brush or Wash Out Dandruff

The Simplest and Quickest Way is to Dissolve it

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon, apply it at night when retiring, use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and itching of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you want to preserve your hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for nothing destroys the hair more quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everyone notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

THE STREET IDLERS

The summer sun that brings the flies and mosquitoes and gum and other disagreeable things also brings the street idler. From May until October one sees all varieties of him from the type that seems like an exemplification of perpetual motion, perambulating from postoffice to city hall and from city hall to Merrimack square, to the other and scarcely less vicious type which looks like an adjunct of some particularly pleasant corner. In time one grows to look for him as familiar as Page's clock and if by any malicious stroke of fate the routine of his ornamental existence should be varied, one would reward it in the same field as an eclipse of the sun or an earthquake of some other equally unusual event. Sometimes a specimen from long association has taken on the look of the neighborhood which he decorates, but occasionally a new addition to the line effects in the change of his mode of dress, of his gait, of his manner, of his attitude, of his very being. The vigilance against billboards should be extended to include this disorder of visual harmony.

Now the street idler, if he restricts himself to the merely ornamental side of his negative occupation, hurts nobody in particular, unless himself possibly. If he has a father or mother or sister or wife who tolerates him, the general public has no reason to set up a howl. If he is rich enough to do anything he pleases, he stands as an object lesson for those who would preach socialism. On the other hand, too many of the variety are so very lovely and so lost in self-admiration that they are anxious for the force of the world—especially the feminine portion of it—to take notice. They, therefore, catch all who pass by and between their elaborate puffs or the expectations that result from tobacco chewing, they occasionally even go so far as to drop insulting remarks. This is where the business of the street idler becomes the business of everybody in general and the police in particular. Even at the risk of wounding the feelings of those who so indulge their tendency towards "mashing" should be summarily dealt with.

Even at the risk of being considered most undisciplined one cannot dismiss the street idler without a passing reference to the silly groups of girls that make a specialty of street parading. Their and forth, back and forth they go for hours inviting undesirable male interference and cheapening themselves to a degree they cannot remember. After a while one almost unconsciously recognizes the fact that some faces are as familiar on Merrimack square as one of the fixed advertising signs. Many of these girls are young and, therefore, may be excused but parents and guardians should see to it that needless street strolling should be reduced to a minimum. One who so cheapens herself has little cause for protest if she is spoken to or otherwise interfered with by the type of young man who looks around for his own type of woman.

It is needless to praise of vice or to deplore the alleged immoral conditions of our city unless preventive measures are used, and among the proper preventive measures are the proper policing of parks and police vigilance on the streets so that the vicious are curbed in their malicious desires and that the immature and giddy be saved from their own folly and lack of experience. If the accusation of loafers cannot be sent to work they should at least be restricted as far as possible to the ornamental side of their occupation. If, like other utilities in their periods of idleness, they could be parked or kept in one section all would be well but where they are scattered through all sections of the city it is more difficult for the authorities to keep track of them. Nevertheless, it is most important that they be under observation. Idleness is still the father of a great deal of mischief and crime.

TOLLS REPEAL GAINS

While the Mexican situation has been engendering the attention of the whole country almost to the exclusion of all other matters, the fight for repeal of the Panama canal tolls clause has been steadily gaining. At the present writing its passage seems secured, and in a very short time. Evidently the impetus gained by its prompt and overwhelming success in the lower house at first discouraged those who had counted on creating a strong sentimental opposition throughout the country, and afterwards showed them the futility of trying to raise an issue where none was intended. President Wilson in his request stipulated that the question of right should not be raised.

The one important change in the bill since its passage by the house is an amendment to the effect that the United States does not forfeit its claim to "treaty or other right" in repealing the act. This, though seemingly ornamental merely and unnecessary does not change the intent of the bill and if it acts as an application of oil to the troubled waters, there is no reason why it should not be appended. As it has the approval of the president, there is every likelihood that it strengthens the cause of repeal. At this late date a few of the senators favor submitting the matter to arbitration, but the suggestion is not timely and there is really nothing to arbitrate. If repeal endangers any American interest, it will be conserved by the proposed amendment.

FRUITS OF ANARCHY

Out from the depths of the industrial whirlpool which has almost overwhelmed the coal districts of Colorado comes many an indication of the spirit that has plunged the state into a condition very like civil war. For years past the mines have been the Mecca for the preacher of advanced labor views, and the miners have been told that it is unjust that they should work for a wage, no matter how high or how low the wage may be. Other influences have tried to combat the advance of religion and gradually a feeling of rebellion has crept in against all forms of constituted authority. The result was inevitable. Once the barriers of society are removed and the dangerous doctrines of anarchy and advanced socialism implanted in an organized group of workers, where is government or law? Unfortunately the state troops who went to quell the labor disturbances acted neither wisely nor too well and they gave the armed workers the argument that follows the murder of women and children. Now that the federal troops have taken hold the rebellion will undoubtedly be quelled but the spirit that worked havoc in Colorado must eventually be suppressed by the force of logic instead of the force of arms. The recent conditions should warn the rest of the country against the propaganda of those who teach rebellion against the flag and religion.

OUR FISHERMEN

The news that the United States bureau of fisheries has stocked the lakes and ponds in the vicinity of Lowell with the largest supply of fish ever sent to any one section by the government will bring gladness to the hearts of our local fishermen, whose names are legion. For many years past the supply for a wide radius has been steadily decreasing, and those who wished to enroll themselves among the followers of Isaac Walton were compelled to fold their tents like the Arabs and to silently steal away to ponds and rivers remote. Nature has supplied Massachusetts with some of the finest fishing grounds in New England, but so ardent was the spirit of our fishermen that the perch, pickerel and trout were gradually but surely disappearing. In a very short time it will not be necessary for the devotees of the sport which cultivates patience to seek the Maine wilds or the lakes of New Hampshire, and those unlucky ones who wound up their fishing trips by a visit to a nearby fish market may well take heart anew. There are good times ahead for the Lowell fisherman, and we heartily congratulate him.

THE FLY NURSERIES

Speaking of clean-up week in Boston the Herald says, with special reference to the elimination of the fly nuisance: "Three months from now all the fly traps and sticky paper in the state will not accomplish what a little thought and a scrubbing brush can do today." This is a sentence that all our housewives should be acquainted with, particularly during the coming week when the city will emerge from its winter gloom and shine out in all the spotlessness of a thorough renovation. Rubbish heaps, garbage cans, damp corners under kitchen sinks, neglected stables and other filthy and damp quarters are prolific fly nurseries and if such places are thoroughly cleaned out and made sanitary during the coming week, millions of flies will be prevented. The woman who deliberately neglects this precaution will deserve little sympathy in the days to come when she will be compelled to hang nasty fly paper all over the house and exercise for an hour or two daily with a swatter.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

In almost all parts of the city some household has an article for which he has no use, and in an opposite section somebody is looking round for just what the other wishes to get rid of. Neither knows of the other's existence. A little newspaper advertisement will prove the magic medium-bringing the seller and the buyer together without fuss or delay and with the minimum of expense. So on in all lines of business. If men could send thought messages, there would be movement in many lines where now there is nothing but stagnation. Until mental telepathy is better developed the newspaper advertisement is the greatest medium for promoting business relationship, and people are realizing the fact more and more daily. If you have a room to let,

Although he has formerly favored the policy of local option with regard to the liquor traffic, Cardinal Gibbons has come out in favor of no-license in a statement to the Anti-Saloon league of Charles county, Md. "I congratulate the people of Charles county," he said, "in that they will have the right to settle this question by ballot on May 16 next, and realizing the damage which has been done by the liquor traffic in this country, I sincerely trust that at the coming election they will banish forever the licensed saloon, as

I believe that it will be to the best interests of the their people."

Major Curley of Boston has made the extraordinary discovery that some garage owners of that city charge more for repairs of city autos than the cars are worth. We have had autos repaired, too. Too bad he has not looked up steam roller repairs while he was about it.

SEEN AND HEARD

You couldn't knock sense into some men with a pile-driver.

It is mean for a little man to embarrass a stout body in a crowded street car by getting up and offering her his seat.

If some hen laid an egg every time a rooster crows, the price of eggs would be reduced so much that perhaps we shouldn't mind being waked up early in the morning.

One of the exasperating experiences of life is to have a central suddenly cut you off while you are in the middle of a telephone conversation and then when you try to renew the connection tell you that the line is busy, because the person you were talking with is trying to get you.

I don't suppose any of the officials of the Day State Street Railway ever got over Pawtucketville way. If they had occasion to ride across the Pawtucket bridge every day they might find it up that bad place of rail between the bridge and Varnum avenue. It's like the "rocky road to Dublin" and many a poor passenger has been suddenly lurching off his underpinnings when trying to alight at this point.

A patronizing young lord was seated opposite a famous scientist at a dinner one evening not long ago, during a lull in the conversation he adjusted his monocle and leaned toward the scholar.

"Aw, jeez, Mr. Jones," he drawled, "I passed your house this morning." "Thank you," said Jones, quietly. "Thank you very much," Harper's Magazine.

Two Massachusetts were discussing the best method of eating game. "Well," said one, "if it is a woodcock, I hang it up on a nail by the neck and fatten some larks onto its claws. After a week I throw away the woodcock and eat the larks, which by that time have absorbed all the flavor of the woodcock."

In the schoolroom, one teacher is inclined to begin every command with the words "Do not." "Do not whistle." "Do not read in such a noisy manner." "Do not recite your history lesson like a parrot." Any teacher enthralls her pupils with her own love of knowledge. In the reading classes she makes them feel that they are speaking their own words. In the history class they are present on the battlefield. And, somehow, there is seldom any noise in the schoolroom from mischief or weariness or laziness. There is only the stir of interest and industry. By using the positive method she has awakened in her pupils high ideals and aspirations.

You are to go up to O'Brien's farm," said the doctor, "get up and go to bed with the birds, mow and pitch the hay, and all that sort of thing. And you'll cut out the booze, absolutely, and—"

"Oh, yes," said the patient wearily, "I expected that."

"And one cigar a day."

"Oh, doctor, not that?"

"One cigar a day," reiterated the doctor, inexorably.

"Oh, very well."

Six months later the patient returned to report.

"Well, how did you like it?"

"Pine business, doctor. I'm fit as a fiddle. Me for that early to bed and early to rise thing. It's great."

"Liked it all, eh?"

"Everything but the one cigar a day. That pretty nearly killed me."

"The tobacco habit," began the doctor.

CARNATIONS

Carnations and my first love! And he was so young!

And I was only twelve years—a state-ly girl between!

I bought them on the morning the first time I saw him.

To pin among my ribbons in hopes that he might see;

And all the girls stood breathless to watch as he went through.

With curly crest and grand air that swept the heart from you!

And why he paused at my side is more than I can know—

The sight of the small girls that all adored him so.

I said it with my prayer-times—I looked at him with head held high—

"Carnations are your flowers," he said as he strode by.

Carnations and my first love! The years are gone and scarce a trace of him remains.

I recall his first name, and scarce an eyelash more;

And those were all the love-words that he ever said to me.

Perhaps he may be married—perhaps he may be dead.

And yet I pray, to smell carnations, performing all some sick room, or passing on the street.

Then still the school lights flicker and fade to the light of the moon.

And still the girls hold breathless while he goes his way;

And still my child-heart quivers in the thought of him.

"Carnations are your flowers," my first love said to me!

—Margaret Widener in May Every-body's.

FRESH AIR AND HEALTH

Mental work calls an unusual supply of blood to the brain; the process of digestion calls the blood to the stomach. Brain work immediately after a hearty meal often causes indigestion because the brain has first call on a supply of blood that should be helping the stomach.

Wherever in the economy of the body, work is to be done there is a demand for bright red blood. Thin blood or blood dark with impurities will not do because it is the oxygen carried by the blood that does the work and oxygen-bearing blood is bright and red. This life-sustaining oxygen is taken up by the blood from the air which it meets in the lungs. Hence the great need of fresh air every hour of the day and night. But fresh air is useless if the blood cannot take up more oxygen which it gives. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enable the blood to take up more oxygen because they increase the part of the blood that carries the oxygen. This corrects the sluggishness, palpitation of the heart, slinky nerves and the pallor that are the results of thin, impure blood. You must have rich blood to enjoy complete health. A booklet "Building Up the Blood" will be sent on request by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

EAT TOO MUCH

Beware of Hardened Arteries, Says Dr. W. H. Smith in Lecture

BOSTON, May 4.—Dr. W. H. Smith, who delivered the next to the last public lecture of the season at Harvard medical school yesterday afternoon, says most people over 40 eat too much. It is to this habit that he attributes in part, arterio-sclerosis, that hardening of the arteries which chiefly characterizes old age.

He thinks that people should consult their physicians at intervals just to see what condition they are in. "Teeth can be purchased and made to serve as well as one's own," he said, "yet see how conscientiously people visit their dentist every three to six months to see if there is anything to be done. Yet these same people neglect their more vital structures."

"The hardening of the arteries should be diagnosed early, that special diet and other hygiene may be prescribed. A man is as old as his arteries." I have seen men who were young men at 50, and I have seen scrawny old men at 40. And the same is true of women."

"Men of large heads and short necks, full bodies and given to drinking overmuch wine, are often thought to die of a sudden attack of indigestion, or to take on the foolishness of old age, when it is arterio-sclerosis. While there are many causes of this disease, it is frequently brought on by the abuse of alcohol and the misuse of food, too little exercise, worry and emotional strain."

"First line salts are deposited in the arteries, the vessels harden, an additional strain is put on the heart in pumping the blood through them, less blood reaches the organs to which the diseased vessels lead, those organs become impaired, and poisoning results, or a sudden strain may cause a stroke, and death results."

He showed lantern slides of X-ray photographs of diseased tissue.

RUN DOWN BY HORSES

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER—MANY WOMAN AND CHILDREN THROWN INTO PANIC

BOSTON, May 4.—Frightened by the breaking of a rein, two horses attached to a hack plunged down the steep grade of Brooks street, East Boston, yesterday noon, trampling Mrs. Mary E. Howes and her daughter Christina, of 59 Trenton street and throwing several hundred people who were just leaving church into a panic.

Nearly a score of women and children asked to board a car at the corner of Lexington street were standing in the path of the maddened animals. They crashed one another in a frenzied effort to get into the car and give the span of horses a clear path. All succeeded except Mrs. Howes and her 19-year-old daughter.

Both were knocked to the ground. The daughter was struck by one of the flying hoofs and at the East Boston hospital it was found that she fearfully bruised as she was dragged over the rough pavement from the force of the blow.

M. J. Conley of 425 Meridian street was passing in an automobile. He picked up the injured women and rushed them to the Relief hospital. Mrs. Howes recovered sufficiently to go to her home, although suffering severely from a shock.

Christina's condition is severe and hospital authorities reported at midnight that her recovery is doubtful. In seeking to shield her mother the young girl received the full force of the blow when the horses dashed over them.

SHOT DOWN BY WOMAN

ONE-LEGGED BOSTON NEWSBOY FIGHTING FOR HIS LIFE IN HOSPITAL—WOMAN IS SORRY

BOSTON, May 4.—With a revolver bullet lodged somewhere among the muscles, nerves and delicate organs of his neck, Lewis Gold, the one-legged Boston newsboy who was shot down Saturday night in Haymarket square by a woman giving her name as Mary Germinio, today is fighting valiantly for his life at the Relief station, a short distance from where he fell. He has a chance of recovery, but is on the dangerous list.

The Germinio woman will be arraigned in the police court this morning charged with assault on Gold with a deadly weapon. She declares, with every evidence of regret, that she is sorry she hit Gold and intended him no harm at all.

The man she was trying to bring down apparently is Germinio Quinto, an employee of the Grotto, a North End cafe, who was captured running from Haymarket square after the shooting. He claims he lives at 83 Lubec street, East Boston.

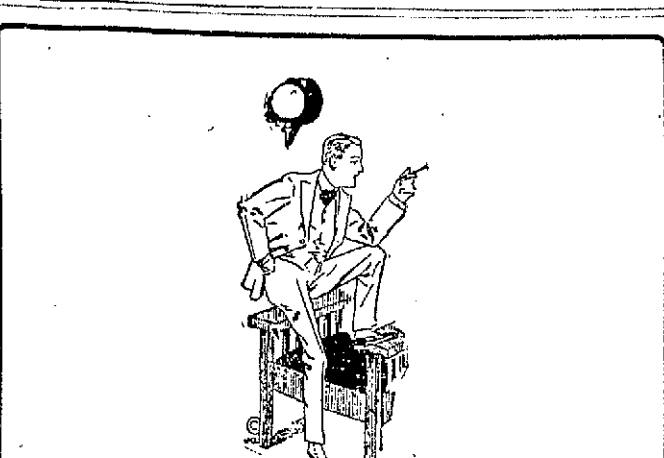

Quinto is held by the police and will be in court today facing a white slave charge.

According to bystanders, there was a sharp quarrel at the subway entrance before the shooting between the Germinio woman and Quinto. A second man was in the group, but both the woman and Quinto agree that he was not involved in the dispute, but simply happened to be with Quinto. Witnesses say that just before the woman drew the revolver from her gown and began firing Quinto had struck her in the face with a package which looked like a pair of shoes.

The surgeons at the Relief station have not as yet thought it best to probe for the bullet in Gold's throat because of the danger of injuring some of the delicate organs or nerves. If there is evidence that blood poisoning is setting in the throat probably will be X-rayed and an attempt made to get the lead out. Gold has been conscious ever since he was hit and says he had never before seen the woman who shot him.

BODY IN RESERVOIR

BROOKLINE WOMAN USED PLAT-IRON TO DROWN HERSELF, ACCORDING TO THE POLICE

BOSTON, May 4.—With a seven-pound flatiron tied to the lapel of her coat, the body of an unidentified woman was found in the old Boston reservoir in Brookline yesterday morning. Medical Examiner Cutts declared she had committed suicide, and very recently.

The woman was evidently a domestic. Her body was spied floating in the water by Percival H. Lombard, who lives near by, on Hillsdale avenue. He dragged it ashore and notified the police.

The body bears several rather remarkable characteristics, which it is thought will lead to a speedy identification. Her teeth were heavily filled with gold and a gold band held her lower teeth in place. She had a very prominent mole on her cheek.

She was about 35 years old, four feet 10 inches tall and wore a gray coat with purple lining, a blue serge suit, low-cut black shoes, a black straw hat and black stockings.

TOMBSTONES SMASHED

MILLBURY, May 4.—Marble monuments and tombstones worth more than $10,000 were upset and ruthlessly smashed in the cemetery here last Saturday night. State police inspectors, investigating the affair, said yesterday it was the strangest act of vandalism that has ever come to their attention.

Four magnificent shafts, weighing tons, were piled high from their bases and toppled onto the graves they were set to mark, crumbling smaller stones in their fall. One of these was the monument that occupied the center of the family lot of the Greenwoods, around the base of which are buried some of the town's most noted residents. It was 15 feet high, mounted on a three-foot-high base, with a huge ball on top, and is said to have cost $150.

A veritable gang armed with crow-bars and other tools, must have taken part in the work of destruction, according to the police. They say one or two men could never have managed the amount of devastation to the heavy monuments.

The tale of wreckage comprised four shafts and 34 grave-stones, many of these large and some of beautiful workmanship. Simple vandalism was the apparent motive, for no attempt

It is expected that the young couple will make their home in Cincinnati, where Mr. Taft is practicing law.

RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

It's Me For Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and colonics old-timer, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative. No gripping is the keynote of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a drowsy feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Co., Columbus, O. All druggists.

President Wilson Selects Massachusetts Man to be Governor of Federal Reserve Board—Names Paul Warburg of New York, a Member of Board

WASHINGTON, May 4.—President Wilson has selected Richard Olney, secretary of state in the Cleveland administration, to be governor of the federal reserve board and Paul Warburg of New York to be a member of the board.

Although the president had offered the governorship to Mr. Olney of his acceptance was being awaited today but friends here were inclined to believe he would not decline. Mr. Olney was offered the ambassadorship to Great Britain by President Wilson early last year, but expressed an unwillingness to leave the country on account of his business interests. He is being strongly urged by friends of the president to accept this place, which the president has spoken of as of equal importance to a place on the bench of the supreme court of the United States.

Mr. Olney Active at 78

Mr. Olney, although 78 years old, is active and has had a long experience in the business world and finance which the president and his advisers believe would especially be adapted for the head of the reserve board.

Mr. Warburg, who was connected with Kuhn, Loeb & Co., has been offered membership on the board and has accepted. Formal announcement of his selection as well as the other members of the board, beside the governor, is expected to be made within the next two or three days as offers are being made to the men whom the president has selected. It is understood that a southern banker is to be made one of the three, but no information has come as yet to his identity.

Will Start Currency Law

Official Washington, as well as banking circles generally, are awaiting the announcement of the full personnel of the federal reserve board with intense interest, as it is felt that it will set in motion the new currency law which was signed Dec. 23 last. With the selection of the 12 national reserve banks, the organization of the board has been the most vital step in the operation of the new currency law. The banks are being organized and the expectation of officials is that within another month the entire system will be in full swing, although there are certain transitions which will occupy a greater length of time.

$12,000 a Year

The complete reserve board will consist of seven members at salaries of $12,000 a year. The secretary of the treasury and the controller of the currency are ex-officio members and the five other members are to be appointed by the president. The law stipulates that the members shall be appointed with reference to the "geographical, commercial and financial divisions of the country."

With Mr. Olney representing New England and Mr. Warburg, New York, it was expected that the other members to be selected would represent the south, the middle west and the far west. The appointments will serve ten years.

147 Seen Appointments

Senator Owen conferred with the president today about selections for the board. He said he did not discuss individuals but rather talked over the general banking viewpoint. He believes should be held by the men selected. Senator Owen said that the remaining appointments would be made from a list of 147 men now before the president. These names were left after consideration of a much larger list.

OLNEY SMILED WHEN INFORMED OF APPOINTMENT BY PRESIDENT

BOSTON, May 4.—Richard Olney smiled when informed today that President Wilson had selected him for governor of the federal reserve board but declined to comment on the announcement or indicate whether he would accept.

Mr. Olney is in his 78th year and though vigorous and active was influenced by his advanced years as well as by his business interests to decline the diplomatic office tendered him a year ago.

HACKS VALUABLE PAINTING

Portrait of Henry James, Novelist, Ruined by Suffragette Belonging to "Wild Women"

LONDON, May 4.—One of the finest of all the paintings of John Singer Sargent, a portrait of Henry James, the celebrated novelist, was virtually ruined this afternoon by a suffragette. The painting had been on exhibition at the National academy.

The woman who committed the outrage, Mrs. Wood, belonged to the group of militants called the "wild women." Armed with a butcher's cleaver, Mrs. Wood approached the painting in a casual way. Opportunity offering she suddenly dashed forward, produced the cleaver from under her cloak and was successful in slashing the picture a number of times before bystanders seized and stopped her.

Mrs. Wood was accompanied by a man who attempted to impede those persons who restrained her. Spectators of the incident turned on him and beat him with their fists. Mrs. Wood was handed over to the police.

The academy was opened to the pub-

Severely Punished

The man with Mrs. Wood characterized her course as an act of courage in a voice loud enough to be heard by the spectators. The crowd became angry and rushed upon him with shouts of "throw him out." He was being severely pummeled when the police entered and ejected him from the gallery.

The mutilations of the picture consist of three gashes across the face. The largest cut is on the left side and obliterated an eye. Another is across the mouth and the third near the chin. The rent on the left side of the face is three inches long and the torn ends of the canvas are frayed and uneven. The picture was removed at once from the exhibition. An artist who witnessed the outrage says the canvas is irreparably ruined.

Charles A. Donohue sub-deacon. Among the floral tributes was a pillow inscribed "Mother" from Mrs. John F. Halloran; wreath on base inscribed "Grandma," the Halloran children. Others who sent flowers were Mrs. T. Grant, Mrs. J. Martin Halloran, the Misses Halloran, Mrs. P. O'Connell and family, Mr. and Mrs. James O'Leary and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Paddy, Mr. and Mrs. J. O'Leary and Mary O'Leary, employees of Middlesex Street Laundry.

The bearers were Michael Markham, James Freeman, John Callahan, James O'Day, Daniel O'Connell and Thomas O'Day. Burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the funeral prayers were read by Rev. Daniel Heffernan. Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons had charge.

TROOPS IN STRIKE ZONE

Heavy Patrols of Federal Soldiers Gave Colorado Officials a Sense of Security Today

DENVER, May 4.—Heavy patrols of federal troops scattered throughout the strike zones of Colorado gave state officials a sense of security today which they had not felt since the inception of the industrial strife. Practically all of the Colorado National Guardsmen have been withdrawn. The matter of disarmament has not been undertaken yet and probably will not be until the arrival late today of Col. James Lockart with the 11th regiment, United States cavalry. Officials of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Co. declared that just as soon as the commander of the federal troops is ready to disarm the men and afford protection at the mines, the guards in their employ will turn over their arms. No information had been received, however, as to the manner in which the strikers would observe the proclamation of disarmament.

PICKETS ON DUTY AT ROCKEFELLER RESIDENCE IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, May 4.—Silent picketing by crepe-sleeved men and women

who held John D. Rockefeller and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., responsible for conditions in the Colorado mine war continued today in front of the Standard Oil building here and outside the gates of the Rockefeller estate at Pocantico hills. The younger Rockefeller, it was said, would not come to his office today. His seclusion was due to a cold and not to the demonstrations, said his secretaries.

PAPER IN ROME COMMENTS ON MASSACRE IN COLORADO—DEMANDS REDRESS

ROME, May 4.—The Giornale d'Italia, commenting today on what it characterizes as the answer of Secretary Bryan in the matter of the striking of Italians in the Colorado strike zone, declares this communication to be insufficient. The paper makes reference to what it calls the massacre of Italians in Colorado and demands satisfaction from the federal government, whose lack of precaution, it says, caused the conflict.

of persons at the entrance of Tuxedo park late last night, killing one man and injuring two men and a woman. The man killed was Herbert Loveday, organist and choirmaster of St. Mary's Episcopal church here. Charles Speckley, sexton of the church, was seriously injured and his wife had her arm broken besides sustaining internal injuries. Speckley was hurt internally and his leg was broken. Alexander Norris of Tuxedo was less seriously hurt. Mr. Wrenn escaped injury.

AUTO LICENSE FEES

How quickly the money paid in for automobile licenses mounts up is shown by the report of Secretary of State Mitchell May of New York, covering the period from February 1 to April 25. Since the opening of new registrations motorists have contributed $1,008,598.25, against $591,172.80 collected in the period last year.

The importance of the New York bureau may be seen from the fact that this city received about one-half the sum. The takings at the office in West Seventy-fourth street were $566,331.25. The rest was divided about equally between the Albany and Buffalo offices.

Police Commissioner Woods of New York, speaking at the dinner to William P. Eno given at the Automobile Club of America the past week, said that Gen. Bingham had tried to get the legislature to put the matter of passing on applicants for chauffeurs' licenses in the hands of the police department. Commissioner Woods commented that this seemed proper to him and he thought that the members of the City street traffic commission should work to that end.

Mr. Eno, the guest of honor, expressed the opinion that affairs in the traffic squad had gone back since the days of Gen. Bingham. He said he believed in "isles of safety" and thought that the rotary or gyratory system, rather than the block system of regulating traffic would vastly increase the traffic capacity of the streets. He also said that he thought the business of taxicab inspection and supervision was being splendidly handled by John Drennen, who is inspector in charge of such matters.

Capt. A. R. Piper, who was despatched abroad to study traffic regulation systems when Gen. F. V. Greene was police commissioner, told about the early days of regulation and said that in his opinion the hardest place to regulate was at Park Row and Centre street.

The directors of the Orphans Automobile Day association of New York, Inc., have arranged for the use of Wilcox's Park, College Point, on June 4. This park affords a pleasant automobile ride of about twelve miles and gives the children ample room in which to play and get the noonday luncheon.

The response to the hundreds of letters sent to automobile dealers and private owners of cars asking for the use of their machines for the day has been generous, but it is evident that many are waiting until the week or so prior to the day of the outing before entering their cars.

A ladies' auxiliary has been organized with Mrs. Joan Newton Cuneo as chairman to assist in the work. Any ladies wishing to give their aid and who desire to become members of this committee may communicate with the secretary, A. L. Priole, 1 East Forty-second street, New York. Donations of cars, trucks or cash may also be sent to the secretary.

Patrick Kennedy Dropped Dead at His Home Saturday Afternoon

Patrick Kennedy, a well known resident of this city, died suddenly late Saturday afternoon at his home, 100 Chapel street, the cause of death being heart disease.

MR. DUNLAP A DIRECTOR

Elected By the Lowell Electric Light Corporation—Company Controlled Locally

At a recent meeting of the Lowell Electric Light Corporation, Harry Dunlap was chosen one of the board of directors and as director of the corporation he will be the only Lowell resident connected with the board. It has often been stated that the firm of Stone & Webster hold a controlling interest in the Lowell Electric Light Corporation, while the company is very widely diffused and the Stone & Webster people own 100 shares, or less than one per cent. of the outstanding stock, and figures as manager of the property only because the stockholders apparently believe in its ability to handle the company's affairs for the best interest of all concerned. The total number of shares outstanding is 11,794, held by 479 different shareholders. The average holding is 24 shares. The number of trustees holding this stock is 123, and the number of women shareholders is 218. These together form nearly three-quarters of the total number of shareholders, or to be exact, 71 per cent. Twenty-seven of the stockholders live in Lowell. Ten only of the stockholders reside outside Massachusetts.

Caillaux and Allieres
Arbitrators

PARIS, May 4.—In spite of the decision of the arbitrators to the contrary, Joseph Caillaux, former minister of finance, and Fernand D'Allieres are to fight a duel. M. Allieres was M. Caillaux's opponent in the recent election to the chamber of deputies. Referring to the killing last March of Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro, by M. Caillaux's wife, he posted bills in the constituency saying "clean elections would refuse to become accomplices in crime." M. Caillaux consequently challenged him to a duel.

CITY HALL NOTES

The park board will meet tonight and the municipal council tomorrow forenoon. It is expected that at the meeting of the park board the controversy over the purchase of a wagon for the park department by the purchasing agent will be ironed out. Commissioner Rountree is going to take the purchasing agent to task for buying a wagon other than the one recommended by the commission. Mr. Rountree was appointed on a committee to select a wagon and he selected it, but the purchasing agent purchased another wagon because he believed it was better suited for the purpose than the wagon selected by Mr. Rountree.

The purchasing agent will call for bids to open Saturday forenoon on the following material for the water department: 25,000 2 1/2-inch extra strong Byers wrought iron pipe; 25 6-inch post hydrants with 5-inch valve; three 2 1/2-inch outlets of gate pattern and tested to 300 pounds pressure; 10 8-inch hub and water gates, opening to the right and tested to 300 pounds pressure.

The tulip beds about the city hall are the best in the city and in fact an automobile driver who called at the hall today said they are the best that he has seen anywhere and he said he had covered considerable territory within the last week.

City Solicitor Hennessy and his assistant, Capt. McDonald, went to Boston today to attend to matters having to do with the graft crossing controversy and other matters in which the city is interested.

MEXICO SITUATION

mal, no vote having been taken up to this time and all decisions having been reached by unanimous agreement. They began late this morning, having been continued last night until nearly one o'clock.

In circles close to the Huerta representatives the news of Carranza's flat refusal to agree to an armistice was not taken as final. It was pointed out that it would have been surprising if the constitutionalists had accepted the armistice on the eve of getting possession of Saltillo. Huerta's reported declaration that he will never resign is not taken seriously in Huertista circles here.

Expect Announcement

The mediating envoys reached the state department and went into conference with Secretary Bryan shortly before noon. Ambassador Du Gama, of Brazil, and Minister Naon of Argentina arrived first. A few minutes later the Chilean minister, Mr. Suarez joined them. Secretary Bryan said that some announcement might be made later.

the accumulated receipts will soon reach a considerable amount.

Demand American Currency

The demand for fractional American currency was suddenly increased today when H. M. Robinson, superintendent of the United States railroad mail service who has taken charge of the post-office, placed American postage stamps on the market and stipulated they must be paid for in American money.

The administration of Col. Edward Plummer, the provost marshal, began today almost at the point where the civil government under Robert J. Kerr had carried it when ended by orders from Washington. Col. Plummer had been given wide latitude by Gen. Funston, who wants to devote as much of his own time as possible to military duties, although all cases requiring his personal attention will be carried to the commander-in-chief of the land forces.

Col. Plummer had assigned to him army and navy men for heads of all departments and several enlisted men to be used in clerical work, but these will be added to by civilians. Plummer's government starts with $225,000 worth of revenue stamps and $2,000 in cash, recovered by C. H. Stewart, treasurer under Kerr's administration.

FEDERAL FORCES HAVE

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Reports to the navy department from Rear Admiral Mayo indicate that the Mexican Federal forces have mined the Panuco river, the inlet to the city of Tampico from the Gulf of Mexico.

The river is navigable to Tampico for only comparatively light draft vessels. Two weeks ago the scout cruiser Chester, the gunboat Dolphin and one or two other American vessels were lying in front of Tampico in the river. The entire city was directly under their guns and Admiral Mayo was convinced he could have taken the place without the loss of a man.

It seemed advisable, however, to order the ships from the harbor to the Gulf. This scarcely had been accomplished it is said, before the Mexicans placed mines in the river to prevent the ships from again entering.

FINED $75 EACH

Continued

Judge Wright found the three defendants guilty and ordered each to pay a fine of $75. Each appealed and was held in the sum of $500 surety for the superior court.

Sergeant Petrie

Sergeant David Petrie, the first witness called by the government, testified that he went to the room of Mr. Marshall in Appleton street on the evening of April 24 and as the latter refused to admit that he had any "pool tickets" in his possession, he started to search the room, and found envelopes, with numbers on the outside, slips and several packages of papers containing lettering and names in a bureau drawer. An American Express Co. receipt for the transfer of tables and chairs from 22 Hurd street to J. H. Carney of Concord, N. H., was shown by the complainant but on the objection of Lawyer Toye it was not submitted as evidence.

Continuing, the witness said that he brought the tickets to the station at the same time as he did Mr. Marshall. Sergeant Petrie said that his prisoner was very anxious to secure the white slips which contained names of different persons.

Referring to Mr. Roach, the witness stated that he went to his house and found envelopes, tickets, etc., on tables and desks in a room that the defendant occupied. There was money in the room but the officer did not count it. He said that Mr. Roach told him on the evening of the arrest that he intended to deliver the tickets the next morning. He was to sell them for fifty cents each.

Sergeant Petrie was then asked to tell what he knew about the system used. He read a slip which he got in one of the rooms telling the rules under which the alleged matter was to be conducted.

Two slips one pink and one white, were submitted containing numbers which it is claimed represented the different clubs and Supt. Welch told the court that the person who secured the largest number of runs during a week was given the first prize and the other prizes were arranged for by the management.

Witness then told of going to a Merrimack street barber shop where Frain is employed and there found tickets and slips similar to those found in the other places. He said that this defendant claimed he had sold 31 tickets one week and six another week.

Officer Clark

Special Officer Clark was sworn in and testified that two of the defendants told him that the tickets represented a part of the baseball pool paraphernalia and that they were selling them for a J. H. Carney.

Supt. Welch

Supt. Welch was the next witness and testified that he talked with the three men a short time after the arrests were made and they all admitted selling baseball pool tickets. The defendants explained to him how the tickets were sold and how the prizes were divided.

None of the three defendants was called to testify. Lawyer Toye asked that they be discharged as there was evidence to show that they had lottery tickets in their possession. He called attention to the fact that these cases were brought under the charge of having lottery tickets in their possession while several other sections of the law referred to the selling of "pool tickets." Mr. Toye argued that pool-selling as the result of a game of chance is a lottery, but said that a baseball game, or baseball games

Pres. Wilson Wants Bills Enacted Before Congress Adjourns—Agreement Reached

WASHINGTON, May 4.—After a conference with President Wilson today, Majority Leader Underwood announced that an agreement had been reached to put through the Clayton antitrust bill, the Covington interstate trade commission bill and a bill to regulate the issuance of stock securities as well as a rural credits measure before congress adjourns.

Mr. Underwood announced he would call a democratic caucus to rally the program which he arranged with the president and it was the aim of the president and himself to have congress adjourn by July 1.

"The president thinks it is absolutely necessary," he said, "to pass trust legislation consisting of the Clayton omnibus bill, the Covington interstate trade commission bill and a bill to come from the interstate commerce commission for the regulation of stock securities. Also we will put through a rural credit bill and the appropriation bills before adjournment."

"The president was very desirous of pressing the presidential primary bill and that was on the original program but Judge Rucker, chairman of the committee on elections has been ill and that has delayed the subject so that it is not now a definite part of the program; but the president is still hopeful that we may be able to take it up."

He said that the manner of a baseball pool has nothing to do with the baseball game and that no evidence was shown in this case to the effect that the buyers could not pick their own combinations. He further said that there was no evidence to show that they were lottery tickets and that there is nothing to show that baseball tickets are a lottery.

Supt. Welch cited several decisions of Massachusetts courts to the effect that conducting a game of this sort is a lottery.

In considering the evidence Judge Wright said that he believed it was a lottery. Lawyer Toye then asked for a very small fine as the baseball pool selling has been stopped in Lowell and many other places.

The court said that this game ought to be stopped as it is a lottery. To baseball, the best game we have. The court then imposed the fine of $75 each.

Fined For Selling Liquor

Pasquale Colepietro was arraigned in police court on a complaint charging him with unlawfully selling intoxicating liquors in the town of Dracut. It was alleged that on last Saturday he sold one pint of ale to a fellow countryman. Through an interpreter, he pleaded guilty and asked for an opportunity to pay a fine. As this was the defendant's first offense he was ordered to pay a fine of $50.

"I expect to call a caucus to endeavor to get the program ratified and we expect to drive it through both houses of congress by the first of July."

Mr. Underwood was asked if he thought the program could be gotten through both houses as early as July 1st.

"Yes," he replied, "if we all get together and play ball, which we will do."

The house leader said that the Mexican situation might, of course, at any time absorb the attention of congress and interfere with the program but he did not see any prospect of such a development as yet.

PRES. WILSON DISCUSSES NATION'S BUSINESS IN OPEN AIR

OFFICE

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The nation's business, American industry and all, was moved into the open air today when President Wilson left the study office for the cool shade of a tent spread in the White House grounds. Representative Underwood, majority leader of the house, was the first visitor to be shown to the open air office. For an hour the president and he sat about the country shade and considered a legislative program that would permit congress to adjourn in July. Senator Hughes of New Jersey also talked over the situation in the open air presidential office.

DEMAND BETTER WAGES

FALL RIVER, May 2.—In order to make an effective stand against the Master Tailors' association for an increase in wages, the English and French-speaking branches of the Tailors' union are to be consolidated and the struggle of a year ago for better wages and improved working conditions resumed.

Who was so bold as to take out Dr. E. F. Heald's horse from its stable in Dracut yesterday morning and return the animal a few hours later? This is the problem that the owner of the horse would like to solve. It seems that the doctor was awakened at about 2 o'clock yesterday morning by a strange noise about the stable. He quickly made an investigation and found that his horse had been stolen. The doctor set right out to notify the police of the theft and when he returned to the stable a couple of hours later, strange to say, he found his horse in the stall in the stable. The only evidence that the horse was taken out was the sweat condition. The carriages which are kept on the first floor of the stable had not been disturbed, and it is believed that the culprit meant to get away with the horse alone.

MARINES MARCHING TO BARRACKS, VERA CRUZ

confirm the previous reports of a growing undercurrent of feeling against the Huerta regime and tell of a rumor of a rupture between Huerta and Gen. Blanquet, minister of war. It was the latter with the crack 25th regiment that took the military coup which resulted in the downfall of President Madero.

Some of the returning Americans who claim to have information from those close to Huerta declare he is reiterating to confidants that he will never resign but talks of the possibilities of a coup against him.

Several of the American business men say the foreign diplomatic representatives counseled them not to leave the capital, that there was no necessity to do so as there was practically no danger and the whole situation would be clarified soon.

The refugees generally expressed disappointment at the lack of any indication of an advance of the American army on the capital. They say the best class of Mexicans share this view.

Customs Revenues
There is speculation in official circles regarding the disposition of the customs revenues of this port, said to aggregate over a million dollars in gold a month.

The federal officers who fled inland took important papers from the customs house files and it is difficult for the American officials to clear up business in the warehouses or to ascertain the exact distribution that has formerly been made of the revenue. Mexican customs receipts are pledged in part as security for the old national loan and the remainder was pledged by Huerta for the recent French loan.

For the present all the customs receipts will be impounded to await instructions from Washington. Several cargoes have been unloaded during the last few days and more ships are reported as cleared for this port from the United States and Europe so that next three or four days would broaden the horizon of their negotiations to include the entire Mexican problem. Carranza declining the suggestion of a truce asserted a suspension of hostilities "would only accrue to the benefit of Huerta in the civil war now going on in Mexico between the usurper Huerta and the constitutionalist army under my command."

Hope that Carranza's followers eventually might be brought into the proceedings was based upon a prospect for appointment of delegates of all parties in the dispute to meet with the mediators. First response to the envoy's request for the naming of delegates was seen here in some quarters in the ordering of Joaquin De Casasus, former Mexican ambassador to the United States, from Carlsbad to Washington and it was believed he had been chosen to act for Huerta in the proposed conferences.

Mexico City rumors coming by way of Vera Cruz that Huerta might resign and a provisional president be appointed with whom Carranza might consent to treat with the object of facilitating mediation were received here without comment.

NEW YORK, May 4.—Early movement of stocks today was narrow and regular. Only a small amount of orders came in over the week-end and with no change of moment in conditions here or abroad to give traders a lead they did little. London prices were barely changed, except for a renewed advance in Canadian Pacific. The upward tendency of the day in stock here but otherwise the list gave no signs of weakness. Active buying of Missouri Pacific was resumed and the quotation was forced up 1/8. The whole list stiffened after half an hour's trading, several stocks gaining a point.

E. F. CARVIL IDENTIFIED

He Admits Shooting Providence Police Officer and Says Drink Was Cause

Word was today received from Detroit, Mich., that the young man arrested there last week under the name of Frank Ryan has been positively identified as Edward F. Carvil of this city, through finger prints taken by the local police several years ago when he was arrested charged with breaking and entering in this city.

It is claimed that Carvil admitted that he had committed considerable crime during the past year or two and told the police at Detroit that he shot the Providence policeman although he did so because the latter used him roughly. When arrested last week he fought for several minutes with the arresting officer and after being brought to the station said that he had committed practically all of the crimes while under the influence of liquor.

When the Providence police suspected Carvil of the assault upon a policeman there they sent for his finger prints and then sent copies of the finger prints to different police departments in the country. The Detroit police received a copy and found that they tallied with those taken the day of his arrest.

REVERE STREET STRUCK BY TRAIN

City Council Will Vote Arthur Leclerc Run Over to Relocate Western and One Foot May be Amputated

A resolution to relocate the western line of Revere street as petitioned for by the Appleton Co. will be submitted at the meeting of the municipal council to be held tomorrow forenoon. The old resolution, dating back as far as 1892, called for a 40 foot street, but as a matter of fact the street is but 20 feet wide and that is the width that will be mentioned in the resolution to be submitted tomorrow. All the Appleton company asks for is to make the line a legal one. The company has big improvement and extension plans and to avoid the possibility of future controversy in the matter the company has asked the city government to describe the lines in legal terms.

The Appleton Co. as has already been stated in The Sun, intends to build a big store house in Revere street and to extend one of its mills for a distance of 50 feet. The plans also call for a big deep pocket and in the carrying out of the plans it will be necessary to tunnel under the street.

Mayor Murphy, Commissioner Morse and City Engineer Kearney visited Revere street today for the purpose of acquainting themselves with conditions there.

NEW YORK, May 4.—Gen. Daniel Sickles died at his home shortly after 4 o'clock last night. He was 82 years old at the time.

Mrs. Sickles, who had been separated from her husband for more than a quarter of a century, was at the bedside when he died. She was informed that he was dying and rushed to his side. She remained by his side until his death.

The general was born in New York and served in the Civil War. He was one of the most prominent military leaders of the Union army.

BOSTON, May 4.—Votes for women—with ten thousand women lined up in summer flimsy and carrying banners and placards, bearing inscriptions advocating the cause, and over 200,000 people on the sidewalks, the first big suffrage demonstration in this state, held here Saturday afternoon, was a grand success and the largest ever seen in Boston.

The sun was shining brightly when the huge host started the long procession a few minutes after a o'clock at Massachusetts avenue and Beacon street. The electric lights were blazing and the throngs were still massed against the ropes stretched along Tremont street, the final car of the Winnet Victoria completed the assigned route.

As the slowly moving parade of women bearing the Lincoln wreath of battle advanced at the very head of the long procession the spectators had their first indication that they were to witness a parade strikingly different from any they have ever seen. And throughout the three miles of marching women and crowded automobiles there were picturesque features which caught the fancy and admiration of the multitude and stirred them often to cheers.

The greatest enthusiasm was manifested at the state house, where the governor and his guests reviewed the procession, and everywhere along the route there was respectful attention shown the marchers and frequently volleys of applause came down from the crowded windows balconies of Beacon street.

The parade was a spectacle, a challenge and a demonstration of strength, which was what its designers had in mind for many months to make it. From the balconies and windows along the route it looked like a stream of yellow flowing between dark banks.

The women who marched in the costumes of old world countries made one of the most picturesque features of the entire pageant. Gayly bedight, with Bosnia leading the way, they traversed the city and you shall be brought general in command.

Sickles raised the famous Excelsior Brigade in New York, taking command of one of its regiments as colonel. Lincoln kept his word and in 1861 raised him to brigadier general. His fighting spirit early won him his spurs. On the peninsula and at Antietam his distinguished himself as a soldier and leader.

After the war his fighting spirit led him into the regular army, and he became first brigadier and then major general. He continued active service until 1869, when he was appointed minister to Spain by President Grant.

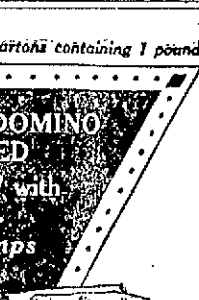

At the court of Spain, Sickles' vigorous personality made him a dominating figure. Four years of brilliant diplomacy brought him the epithet of "The Yankee King of Spain."

granted a divorce.

Mr. Parnell lived but a short time and died a heartbroken man.

Mrs. Parnell's memoirs were published nearly a year ago, but evidently were withheld awaiting the psychological moment, which has now come.

Parnell a Sacrifice

About a year ago William O'Brien, M. P. for Cork City, wrote in his newspaper, The Cork Free Press, an account of an interview he had with Sir Frank Parnell, who was Mrs. Parnell's counsel and one of the leaders of the English bar. Shortly after the trial Sir Frank Parnell had been sacrificed by him and he felt very sorry about it. The secret of the matter was that Parnell could have been cleared substantially by certain evidence given both by himself and by others.

It was confidently asserted that the attachment between Mrs. O'Shea and Parnell had been conceived at by Captain O'Shea and fostered by him in order to promote certain political adventures of his.

Counsel Remorseful

the case would have been thrown out under the English law.

Sir Frank Lockwood, knowing that Parnell would rather sacrifice himself than allow any woman to suffer on his account, refrained from using the weapon that would have won him the action.

Later he felt remorseful and told Mr. O'Brien how badly Parnell had been used and his regrets over the results of the case.

These facts were used by Mr. O'Brien in the course of his article.

Mrs. Parnell saw the article and promptly announced that she was writing her own account of the famous case and all that led up to it.

The articles are intended no doubt to assail the political standing of some of the present leaders but any charge based on the statement of

MEN SHOULD OBEY WIVES

BOSTON, May 4.—The Rev. A. H. Nazarian told his congregation at People's Temple last night that many a time he had wanted to reverse the word obey as used in the marriage service and ask the man to obey the woman. "Many a time," said he, "if the man had obeyed, the children would not have gone hungry."

The service was a woman suffrage rally, and Mrs. Marion Booth Kelley, whose husband is president of the Men's League for Equal Suffrage, made an address before an altar draped with American flags bound about with yellow suffrage pennants. Moreover, "antile" wearing red roses among the audience, applauded her address on women's Contribution to Modern Life.

50 LIVES LOST

In Fire at Valparaiso, Chile—Several Buildings Destroyed

VALPARAISO, Chile, May 4.—More than 50 lives were lost in a fire which last night broke out in the commercial section of this city.

Several buildings were destroyed. Their flimsy construction rendered the efforts of the firemen virtually useless.

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Mr. Alfred Harvey and Miss Maria Loring took place yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Augustin Gratton, O. M. I. The couple were attended by J. R. LaFreniere and Adolphe Blanchard. At the close of the ceremony the bride and groom were escorted to the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Armand Jodel, 87 Pawtucket street, where a reception was held. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey who were the recipients of many useful gifts, will make their home at 87 Pawtucket street and their return from a brief wedding trip.

FARRON-CALLAHAN

Mr. E. Farron and Mrs. Mary Callahan of North Chelmsford were united in marriage at St. John's rectory Sunday afternoon, the wedding ceremony being performed by Rev. Edmund T. Schenckel. A reception was afterwards held at the home of the bride, at the corner of Hope and Holmes streets, which was attended by a large number of relatives and friends. The wedding pair left later in the evening for Canada, where several places will be visited.

MRS. FISKE AT OPERA HOUSE

That the people of Lowell are rather averse to attending theatres on Saturday evenings is well known and this may and undoubtedly does explain the rather small attendance at the appearance of Mrs. Fiske at the Opera House in the role of Mrs. Thompson. The thread of the play shows a girl of rare talents lifting herself into a higher rank in society by changing her name and assuming airs upon an ancestry that existed only in her imagination. The difficulty of breaking into high society and taking her mother and sister along with her was the basis of the play and it was indeed a delightful performance. The talent of Mrs. Fiske in the title role being the leading feature. Next to her, Miss Helen Duncan as Peter Sealow, was the leader of the company, which as a whole, proved equal to every requirement. Miss Faye Palmer, the second daughter, and Miss Kate Maher as the mother, Mrs. De Sille, gave a fine interpretation of their roles. Kenneth Hunter played the role of the father's lover to perfection. The performance was highly successful and deserving better patronage.

DROWNED IN MERRIMACK

BODY OF GEO. FEUGILL, WHO LOST LIFE AT VARNUM'S LANDING, RECOVERED

LAWRENCE, May 4.—The body of George Feugill, 29, who was drowned in the Merrimack river March 29 by the capsizing of his canoe on Varnum's Landing, near Lowell, was recovered from the river today about two miles below the scene of the fatality.

WITH MILITARY HONORS

GENERAL SICKLES, WHO DIED LAST NIGHT MAY BE BURIED IN ARLINGTON

NEW YORK, May 4.—While the funeral arrangements for General Daniel F. Sickles, who died last night, had not been finally completed today, it was said that the old soldier, last of the old brigade commanders of the Civil war, would be buried with military honors. He may be buried in Arlington beside the military leaders of the nation. With General Sickles when he died were his son Stanton and his wife from whom he had been estranged for 23 years. A reconciliation was effected only last Thursday and since then Mrs. Sickles had been nursing the veteran.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

CHICAGO CLUB HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE—LOSS ESTIMATED AT $150,000

CHICAGO, May 4.—Lightning struck the clubhouse of the Homewood Country club at Swarthmore, south of here, last night, causing a fire which destroyed the building. The loss estimated at about $150,000.

EDITOR WAS GAME

WENT TO JAIL RATHER THAN VIOLATE JOURNALISTIC ETHICS IN DISCLOSING NAME

HALIFAX, N. S., May 4.—W. R. McCurdy, news editor of the Halifax Herald and Evening Mail, ended a sentence of 45 hours' imprisonment at the county jail, which had been imposed upon him by the provincial legislature. The sentence was the first of its kind in a quarter century.

Editor McCurdy was brought to the bar of the house of assembly to give the name of a letter published by the Mail on April 16. This letter, which referred to a bill for franchise privileges, was construed by government members of the legislature as an insult to that body. It was signed "Dan MacLean."

The editor refused to reveal the name of the author on the ground that it would be a violation of journalistic ethics. The house discussed vigorously for nine hours, the alleged insults, the editor's refusal and the proposed punishment before final vote was reached. The verdict was reached on a straight party vote, the government members voting to sustain a resolution in which the premier found, calling for the arrest and imprisonment of McCurdy and the opposition objecting.

GOVERNOR OF VERA CRUZ

ROBERT J. KERR'S TERM WILL BE VERY BRIEF—TO BE DISPLACED BY ARMY

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Robert J. Kerr's term as civil governor of Vera Cruz, during the American occupation, will be very brief. Secretary of War Garrison announced that the establishment of the army in charge of the government of Vera Cruz would eliminate Mr. Kerr. It was also indicated by the secretary that army officers would take the places of the two other civilians who were appointed with Mr. Kerr to fill the functions of other offices under the civil government for martial law established by Admiral Fletcher at Vera Cruz. This would displace William William F. Buckle as administrator of justice and Charles H. Stewart as treasurer of the newly established government. Mr. Kerr is a Chicago lawyer.

SECOND BECKER TRIAL

DIST. ATT. WHITMAN WILL CALL 70 WITNESSES—WILL OPEN ON WEDNESDAY

NEW YORK, May 4.—For the second trial of Charles Becker, former police lieutenant, on a charge of having instigated the murder of Herman Rosenthal which will begin on Wednesday, District Attorney Charles S. Whitman will call to witnesses, many of whom did not testify in the first trial.

The court of appeals in granting Becker a new trial disregarded the testimony of Sam Scheps and made it worthless at the coming trial. It is said that Becker is anxious to take the stand in his own behalf and that Martin T. Manton, his counsel, may permit him to do so. It is expected that several days will be occupied in securing a jury. The trial probably will occupy three weeks or a month.

AFFAIRS IN MEXICO

TO BE DISCUSSED AT MEETING OF AMERICAN PEACE SOCIETY AT SPRINGFIELD

SPRINGFIELD, May 4.—Abstract discussions on the question of peace were expected to give way today to discussions of affairs in Mexico at the annual meeting of the American Peace society.

The Rev. Phillip Moxon was chosen to preside and the topic of his opening address was announced as "The General Outlook for World Peace." Other speakers on the program for today's session were George S. Smith of Boston; Mrs. George Sumner Ladd, lecturer of the state summer James F. Duncan, international president of the Granite Building International Association of America and George P. Morris of Boston.

WIN FOR THE BUNTINGS

DEFEATED HILLSIDES OF LAWRENCE IN ONE-SIDED GAME—SO, ENDS SHOOT T. R. & T. S.

The Bunting club's baseball team proved too much for the Hillside of Lawrence Saturday in their contest at the South Lowell grounds and the local amateur won by the score of 15 to 4. South was on the mound for the Buntings and pitched but four hits. Smith and W. T. were the heavy hitters for the home team. Another amateur game which attracted a great deal of interest locally was the South End-T. R. & T. game played at South Billerica. The South End pitched a lineup which was too strong for the North Billerica aggregation and won by a 7-0 score. The batting of Clark and the fielding of Gray and Gallagher for the South End and the all round work of Hartley and McSwaney for the losers were the features.

RT. REV. WM. LAWRENCE

AMONG THE TOILERS

RT. REV. WILLIAM LAWRENCE.

Confirmed Class at St. John's Church Yesterday—Sermon at St. Anne's

Speaking at St. Anne's church yesterday, Rt. Rev. William Lawrence said that what we hear is largely dependent upon what we want to hear and what our characters make us desire to hear. Those things, he said, sweep in and the others are lost. Bishop Lawrence preached from the text, "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear; but take heed what ye hear." He said in part:

"Think of the horror of a life that has accustomed itself to hear only the things that degrade. Take, for instance, a man who, from boyhood, has been in the habit of listening to foul stories. As he gets older, the habit has grown upon him so that if he hears in the distance the sound of one of those stories, his ears are picked up and he listens; and when he aspires to finer things that habit of listening holds him down."

"Again, can you conceive how a woman's character may be demoralized as she gets into the habit of listening to gossip and scandal? Lots of fine things sweep in and she is indifferent to them. As the years go by her ears become sensitive to the trivial things, and her character is disintegrated until, when she is older, she is nothing but a silly gossip. She had ears to hear, but she did not take heed what kind of things she listened to."

"Throughout history there have been those who seemed ready to catch the sound of heavenly voices. When Saul fell to the ground converted he heard, but the others did not."

"What are the sounds of the city? Why, the roar of the mills or the roar of the motor cars over the pavement. Yet we walk through the streets and we do not hear them very often, when we are listening to the voice of a friend."

"Down in a certain part of the city are parents humble and poor, obliged to live in tenements it may be over liquor saloons or in streets where children are evil. We can hear, if we will, the voices of the father and mother as they talk, wondering how they can keep their children pure under those conditions. The hardship of poverty is not in the poverty, but in the conditions that poverty brings."

"Again, there is the cry, the prayer of the mother as she thinks of her wayward child; the desire, spoken in stronger words, of those who seek peace and higher things. The foreigner sees that his children are caught with the spirit of Americanism, that he does not understand. Those voices are loud, if we listen to them."

In our social life, there are those who are dependent and those who are over-successful and who think that they are leaders of the world."

"Those of us who are middle-aged, should we not refine our auditory nerves a bit, occasionally? Young people are looking to us to find a response to the high ideals and the enthusiasms that they feel. Those voices are all about us, even though we hear them not. It is well that we who are older and have become over-sensitive or lacking in idealism, shall keep our ears attuned to their voices. O, you that have ears to hear, listen and take heed what you hear."

Confirmation at St. John's
Bishop Lawrence confirmed a class at St. John's in the morning and at St. Anne's in the evening. Forty-nine were confirmed at St. Anne's, and twenty-one at St. John's. It was his annual visit to Lowell churches.

At St. John's church, the bishop spoke on "Christianity." In his opening he expressed gratitude over the splendid improvement of the church since his last visit.

He then referred to the beautiful sanctuary window which was given by Mrs. Greenleaf, a sister of the poet Longfellow, as a thank offering for her miraculous avoidance of serious accident, while driving with the family of one of the rectors of the church.

Speaking on the progress of Christianity he said that vital statistics show that in Christian countries life is much longer than in heathen countries, and the people are stronger and healthier than the pagans. This fact shows conclusively that the religion of Christ has a very positive material effect upon our bodies, although the first effect is a mental one.

First Universalist Church

"The Great Affirmations of Religion" was Rev. Dr. Fisher's sermon subject at the First Universalist church, Sunday morning. He said that thousands of dollars had been spent for the propagation of religion. The first question that arises in the mind is, What good is religion to the world? This query is a most pertinent one, in view of the fact that many church members have gone wrong, and have thus cast a reflection upon the church. We cannot expect that all affirmations as to religion will agree, as we see things from varying angles of thought. There is much negative preaching that lacks a higher authority to take its place. The first great affirmation was the existence of God, and as the world grows broader in its interpretation of things spiritual, the ideals of God become higher and nobler. Another great affirmation was the personality of Jesus Christ, and in that line of thought humanity is becoming more and more unified with the conviction that that personality was so sweet and tender, as well as grand and exalted, as to enter into human hearts, sweetening and uplifting them. The third great affirmation was salvation, which, according to the preacher, was simply the elimination of the evil in one's nature, and the development of nobility of character.

Pawtucket Church

At Pawtucket church Sunday evening, Mr. Sidney R. Fleet repeated the program of organ music which he gave recently at a recital in the Kirk Street church. The organ numbers were varied by two baritone solos by Mr. Edward L. Gerry of Haverhill, who sang Dudley Buck's setting of "Fear Not Ye O Israel," and a devotional number, "In Father's House are Many Mansions," by McDermid. The recital was given in place of the usual evening service.

Everybody will be up to the machinists' ball Thursday evening.

Henry Carr, park commissioner, is one of Lowell's toilers all right. He has started a grand movement, and once he starts, he never stops until the job is finished.

Charles E. Anderson was again elected secretary-treasurer of the New England conference board of the International Moulder's union. This is a deserved reward for service well rendered. This is his ninth term.

The delegates at the moulder's convention were surprised at the number of Lowell mills, but there was still more surprise in store for them, when they learned the amount of goods produced by Lowell's great industries.

William "Hunker" Harrington, at present working in Manchester, N.H., occupied his usual seat in the choir at the immaculate Conception church, yesterday, unable to keep away from his home city. "Bill" is a pupil of David P. Martin, and some singer. He reports business conditions good in the New Hampshire city, but can't see it as a place to make one's home.

"Goody" Wayne, the old time South End ball player, is employed at present in a mill outside of Worcester, but he gets The Sun every day and reads the "Quarter of a Century" article about himself a few days each. "Goody" is a strong union man and when he was manager of the South Ends in the old Urban and Suburban league it was necessary at times to delay the league meetings in order to allow "Goody" to finish a game of "Forty-Fives" at the union rooms.

Unlaid High Grade Leather

"Fabrics this season are worn to some extent, but they are gradually losing their popularity. Since the prices of shoes have been advanced, some shoe manufacturers have thought it best to use a better grade of upper leather than they ever used before."—Hilde and Leather's Boston market report.

Shoe Trade in Mexico

Shoe and leather trade between the United States and Mexico was steadily increasing up to the time that difficulties arose between the two nations. Apparently, it had a bright future before it. But there is no knowing how much of a setback the American armed intervention has given to it, says the Lynn item.

Mexico has supplied hides and skins to the United States for a great many years. Richard H. Dana tells about collecting hides on the west coast of Mexico for the Boston market in his book, "Twenty Years Before the Mast." In recent years Mexico has been sending to the United States annually about 30,000,000 pounds of cattle hides, worth $4,000,000. That was a substantial supply of hides, and it helped a lot in relieving the scarcity of hides in American markets. Mexico also sent to this country about 5,000,000 pounds of goat skins, worth more than $1,500,000. It also sent a few miscellaneous skins, like deerskins for fine buck leather and snake skins for fancy leather.

Exports of American shoes to Mexico have exceeded $1,000,000 yearly for several years. Several New England firms had good customers in Mexico, and the large exporters, like Keith Co., had retail stores in Mexico City. Many of the New England made shoes sent to Mexico were sold to Americans residing there. They were high grade shoes.

Ten years or more ago enterprising Americans undertook to develop the shoe manufacturing business in Mexico. It was a promising field. There were in Mexico several millions of people who wore good shoes and only a few shoemakers, most of whom made shoes by hand on custom orders. Shoes sold in retail stores were imported from the United States or from European countries.

The United Shoe Machinery Co. sent agents to Mexico and eventually established an agency in Mexico City. Henry Chapman of Salem, who had charge of this agency, returned to the home office in Boston last year, when trouble in Mexico began and later he went to Buenos Ayres. Other machinery companies sent agents to Mexico, or conducted business through commission houses there. The machinery supplied of Salem and Peabody companies much machinery to Mexican tanneries, which were being turned from simple

If the statement made at a New York Assembly of women, that healthy American women are so rare that they are almost extinct, is true, it is time for the women of America to take warning and look to their health. It may be headaches, backaches, dragging down pains, nervousness, mental depression, that are tell-tale symptoms of some organic derangement for which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—a simple remedy—made famous by its use by so many women—may be relied upon to restore women to a healthy normal condition.

In Mazatlan, on the west coast of Mexico, an effort was made to establish a modern shoe and leather manufacturing plant several years ago. Several New Englanders went to Mazatlan to teach Mexicans the New England ways of making shoes and leather. Among them were J. W. McDonald, who was superintendent of the Mosser tannery in Salem; J. B. Keir, a Lynn shoe manufacturing expert, who is now in Rochester, N. Y., and Henry Brown, another Lynn shoe expert.

Some of the methods in the Mazatlan factory were unusual. It is said that when the Americans arrived in the shop they found the cutters laying three or four skins, one on top of the other, on their boards and running their knives around a pattern on them. The good pieces from the underneath skins were saved and the poor pieces were discarded. When an American remonstrated at this waste of leather the foreman of the cutting room said: "Oh the leather does not cost us anything. We get it from our own tannery."

All of the manual labor in the shoe factory and tannery was done by Mexicans and Indians. The Americans supervised it. The Mexicans showed unusual skill in some branches of shoe-making, particularly in stitching of shoes. They were not efficient, and they were not reliable. Nevertheless the Americans succeeded in having them turn out some very good leather and shoes.

The United States Shoe Manufacturing Co. was established in Mexico City several years ago by young men from St. Louis. This concern prospered, and in one year it paid 100 per cent. on its capital.

This present trouble with Mexico will probably have a harmful effect on the shoe and leather industry, for it will on one hand cut off the supply of Mexican hides and skins, and on the other hand it will put an end to the sale of American shoes in Mexico until conditions are readjusted.

Shipments of shoes from Lynn to Mexico have practically ceased. Some Lynn firms abandoned the Mexican trade some time ago, discontinuing the services of traveling salesmen in Mexico and refusing to fill orders from Mexican customers.

L. W. W. LEADER BREAKS LEG

LAWRENCE, May 4.—David Kimmond, who was chairman of the Pacific Print Works strikers in the recent strike and who was to start this week on a speech-making tour of the country, was obliged to cancel all his engagements to speak, for Saturday morning, he met with a most peculiar accident, breaking a leg.

The following account of Kimmond's misfortune was obtained from his boarding mistress and her husband, and Mrs. Peter Morgan of 411 Canal street.

When he reported for breakfast Saturday morning, he brought a man down with him, according to Mr. and Mrs. Morgan.

"Give this man a seat at the table," demanded David.

"Not at this table," said Mrs. Morgan. "I'll have no drunken bums here. You bring them around all the time."

Then Mr. Morgan asked the stranger to depart, while Kimmond went over to the store in the kitchen where Mrs. Morgan was cooking and began to tell her in foul language. It is said, just what he thought of her.

"Where did you come from?" asked Mr. Morgan of the stranger.

"I have a home," declared the man. "Then go to it," said Mr. Morgan. Meanwhile Kimmond was arguing with Mrs. Morgan. Finally, it is alleged, he lifted his fist to strike her, according to three people who were in the room at the time, and Mrs. Morgan gave him only a light push. Kimmond's long legs became tangled up and he fell in a heap on the kitchen floor with his leg broken.

Mr. Morgan then summoned a police officer who ordered him removed to the city hospital.

Mr. Morgan said that Kimmond was always in a fight with some one of the boarders; that he owed for board and was continually causing trouble, but no one dared to talk to him as they say they considered him a dangerous man.

COUPLE RESCUED

Perilous Plight of Pair Marooned in the Merrimack River

The bravery of a young man, identity unknown, who jumped into the Merrimack river yesterday forenoon and swam to a boat about 75 feet from the shore where a man and woman were marooned, being unable to row against the swift current, played a great part in the rescuing of the said man and woman, who refused to give their names, at a spot located several hundred yards below the Aiken street bridge.

The pair started out to enjoy a few hours of boating about 10 o'clock but had been rowing only a short time when the swift stream proved stronger than the man at the oars and the craft was taken down stream where it caught in some bushes nearly a hundred feet from shore. The cries of the couple attracted the attention of people passing along Lakeview avenue and after all efforts to reach shore had failed a hurry call was sent into the police station and Inspector Walsh and Sergeant Brown were soon on the scene with rope and other paraphernalia.

But the next question that confronted the rescuers was to get one end of the rope to the people in the boat as there was no other craft in the vicinity. Fortunately, there was one young man in the group who volunteered to brave the cold waters and swim to the boat and tying the rope around his waist started out amid cheers from the bystanders. After a struggle he succeeded in reaching his destination and fastening the rope around the bow of the boat shouted to those on shore to haul it in.

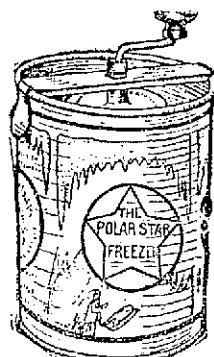

When the party was landed the lady was at the point of exhaustion as a result of shouting and fright and medical attendance was required to revive her. However, the trio who took the important parts in the affair made their getaway before their names could be secured by the police.

SEVERAL SMALL FIRES

In responding to an alarm for a grass fire off Knap avenue, Saturday evening, the High street fire auto balked in turning from High street into Rogers'. The men got out to see what the trouble was and after a few minutes a great spot of flame started under the machine. The engine was leaking and became ignited for the use of the chemicals the machine would have been destroyed.

Investigation showed that a pipe leading to the gasoline tank was broken. The chemicals were run off and the break repaired after a couple of hours' delay.

Yesterday noon another alarm from box 115 was sent in for an automobile fire in Aiken street. There was no damage.

Late Saturday afternoon an alarm from box 74 summoned a portion of the department to Yarnum avenue where a brush fire was in progress. In the evening the firemen were called by telephone to the rear of Fort Hill park for a threatening brush fire. At 3.55 last night an alarm from box 119 was sent in for a rubbish fire at 147 Adams street. No damage was done.

THE STREET IDLERS

The summer sun that brings the flies and mosquitoes and sunburn and other disagreeable things also brings the street idler. From May until October one sees all varieties of him from the type that seems like an exemplification of perpetual motion, perambulating from postoffice to city hall and from city hall to Merrimack square, to the other and seemingly less vicious type which looks like an adjunct of some particularly pleasant corner. In this one grows to look for him; he goes as familiar as Paddy's clock, and it by any means stroke of fate the routine of his ornamental existence should be varied, one would regard it in the same light as an eclipse of the sun or an earthquake or some other equally unusual event. Sometimes a specimen from long acquaintance has taken on the look of the neighborhood which he decorates, but occasionally a new addition to the line of idlers in the glaring inconsistency of marvellous socks and ties. The continuance against billboards should be widened to include this disturber of visual harmony.

Now the street idler, if he restricts himself to the merely ornamental side of his negative occupation, hurts nobody in particular, unless himself possibly. If he has a father or mother or sister or wife who tolerates him, the general public has no reason to set up a bellow. If he is rich enough to do anything he pleases, he stands as an object lesson for those who would preach socialism. On the other hand, too many of his variety are so very lovely and so lost in self-admiration that they are anxious for the rest of the world—especially the feminine portion of it—to take notice. They therefore, exude all who pass by and between their elaborate puffs or the expectations that result from tobacco chewing, they occasionally even go so far as to drop insulting remarks. This is where the business of the street idler becomes the business of everybody in general and the police in particular. Even at the risk of weakening the building supports or removing ancient landmarks, those who go to indulge their tendency towards "mashing" should be summarily dealt with.

Even at the risk of being considered most undisciplined one cannot dismiss the street idler without a passing reference to the silly groups of girls that make a specialty of street parading. Back and forth, back and forth they go for hours inviting undesirable male interference and cheapening themselves to a degree they cannot recognize. After a while one almost unconsciously recognizes the fact that some faces are as familiar on Merrimack street as one of the fixed advertising signs. Many of these girls are young and therefore may be excused, but parents and guardians should see to it that needless street strolling should be reduced to a minimum. One who so cheapens herself has little cause for protest if she is spoken to or otherwise interfered with by the type of young man who looks around for his own type of woman.

It is needless to praise of vice or to deplore the altered immoral conditions of our cities unless preventive measures are used, and among the proper preventive measures are the proper policing of parks and police vigilance on the streets so that the vicious be curbed in their malicious desires and that the immature and giddy be saved from their own folly and lack of experience. If the aggregation of loafers cannot be sent to work they should at least be restricted as far as possible to the ornamental side of their occupation. If, like other utilities in their periods of idleness, they could be parked or kept in one section all would be well but where they are scattered through all sections of the city it is more difficult for the authorities to keep track of them. Nevertheless, it is most important that they be under observation. Idleness is still the father of a great deal of mischief and crime.

TOLLS REPEAL GAINS

While the Mexican situation has been engrossing the attention of the whole country almost to the exclusion of all other matters, the fight for repeal of the Panama canal tolls clause has been steadily gaining. At the present writing its passage seems secured, and in a very short time. Evidently the impetus gained by its prompt and overwhelming success in the lower house at first discouraged those who had counted on creating a strong sentimental opposition throughout the country, and afterwards showed them the futility of trying to raise an issue where none was intended. President Wilson in his request stipulated that the question of right should not be raised.

The one important change in the bill since its passage by the house is an amendment to the effect that the United States does not forfeit its claim to "treaty or other right" in repealing the act. This, though seemingly ornamental merely and unnecessary does not change the intent of the bill and if it acts as an application of oil to the troubled waters, there is no reason why it should not be appended. As it has the approval of the president, there is every likelihood that it strengthens the cause of repeal. At this late date a few of the senators favor submitting the matter to arbitration, but the suggestion is not timely and there is really nothing to arbitrate. If repeal endangers any American interest, it will be conserved by the proposed amendment.

FRUITS OF ANARCHY

Out from the depths of the industrial whirlpool which has almost overwhelmed the coal districts of Colorado comes many an indication of the spirit that has plunged the state into a condition very like civil war. For years past the mines have been the Mecca for the preacher of advanced labor views, and the miners have been told that it is unjust that they should work for a wage, no matter how high or how low the wage may be. Other influences have tried to combat the advance of religion and gradually a feeling of rebellion has crept in against all forms of constituted authority. The result was inevitable. Once the barriers of society are removed and the dangerous doctrines of anarchy and advanced socialism implanted in an organized group of workers, where is government or law? Unfortunately the state troops who went to quell the labor disturbances acted neither wisely nor too well and they gave the armed workers the argument that follows the murder of women and children. Now that the federal troops have taken hold the rebellion will undoubtedly be quelled, but the spirit that worked havoc in Colorado must eventually be suppressed by the force of logic instead of the force of arms. The recent conditions should warn the rest of the country against the propaganda of those who teach rebellion against the flag and religion.

OUR FISHERMEN

The news that the United States bureau of fisheries has stocked the lakes and ponds in the vicinity of Lowell with the largest supply of fish ever sent to any one section by the government will bring gladness to the hearts of our local fishermen, whose names are legion. For many years past the supply for a wide radius has been steadily decreasing, and those who wished to enroll themselves among the followers of Isaac Walton were compelled to fold their tents like the Arabs and to silently steal away to ponds and rivers remote. Nature has supplied Massachusetts with some of the finest fishing grounds in New England, but no ardent was the spirit of our fishermen that the perch, pickerel and trout were gradually but surely disappearing. In a very short time it will not be necessary for the devotees of the sport which cultivates patience to seek the Maine wilds or the lakes of New Hampshire, and those unlucky ones who wound up their fishing trips by a visit to a nearby fish market may well take heart anew. There are good times ahead for the Lowell fisherman, and we heartily congratulate him.

THE FLY NURSERIES

Speaking of clean-up week in Boston the Herald says, with special reference to the elimination of the fly nuisance: "Three months from now all the fly traps and sticky paper in the state will not accomplish what a little thought and a scrubbing brush can do today." This is a sentence that all our housewives should be acquainted with, particularly during the coming week when the city will emerge from its winter gloom and shine out in all the spotlessness of a thorough renovation. Rubbish heaps, garbage cans, damp corners under kitchen sinks, neglected stables and other filthy and damp quarters are prolific fly nurseries and if such places are thoroughly cleaned out and made sanitary during the coming week, millions of flies will be prevented. The woman who deliberately neglects this precaution will deserve little sympathy in the days to come when she will be compelled to hang nasty fly paper all over the house and exercise for an hour or two daily with a swatter.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

In almost all parts of the city some household has an article for which he has no use, and in an opposite section somebody is looking round for just what the other wishes to get rid of. Neither knows of the other's existence. A little newspaper advertisement will prove the magic medium—bringing the seller and the buyer together without fuss or delay and with the minimum of expense. So on in all lines of business. If you can send thought messages, there would be movement in many lines where now there is nothing but stagnation. Until mental telepathy is better developed the newspaper advertisement is the greatest medium for promoting business relationship, and people are realizing the fact more and more daily. If you have a room to let,

Although he has formerly favored the policy of local option with regard to the liquor traffic, Cardinal Gibbons has come out in favor of no-licensing in a statement to the Anti-Saloon league of Charles county, Md. "I congratulate the people of Charles county," he said, "in that they will have the right to settle this question by ballot on May 16 next, and realizing the damage which has been done by the liquor traffic in this country, I sincerely trust that at the coming election they will banish forever the licensed saloon, as

Mayor Curley of Boston has made the extraordinary discovery that same garage owners of that city charge more for repairs of city autos than the cars are worth. We have had autos repaired, too. Too bad he has not looked up steam roller repairs while he was about it.

"Scarlet fever closes church" is the heading of a Boston news despatch. Occasionally churches are closed because of too many uncharitable speeches about the "scarlet woman."

Now, Miss Lowell, he still while we give you a massage and take all those wrinkles away.

SEEN AND HEARD

You couldn't knock sense into some men with a pile-driver.

It is mean for a little man to embarrass a stout lady in a crowded street car by getting up and offering her his seat.

If some hen laid an egg every time a rooster crows, the price of eggs would be reduced so much that perhaps we shouldn't mind being waked up early in the morning.

Buy a grammar of any foreign language second-hand and you are pretty sure to find that, while the first two pages may show some signs of wear, the last half of the book is perfectly clean.

Never offer your advice, and before you give it when it is asked for always try to find out what advice the applicant desires.

One of the exasperating experiences of life is to have central suddenly cut you off while you are in the middle of a telephone conversation, and then when you try to renew the connection tell you that the line is busy, because the person you were talking with is trying to get you.

I don't suppose any of the officials of the Bay State Street Railway ever got over the truckette way. If they had occasion to ride across the Truckette bridge every day they might fix up that bad piece of rail between the bridge and Vermont avenue. It's like the "rocky road to Dublin" and many a poor passenger has been suddenly taken off his underpinnings when trying to alight at this point.

A patrolling young lord was seated opposite a famous scientist at a dinner one evening not long ago. During a lull in the conversation, he adjusted his monocle and leaned toward the scholar.

"Aw, y' know, Mr. Jones," he drawled, "I passed your house this mornin'."

"Thank you," said Jones, quietly. "Thank you very much," Harper's Magazine.

Two Marshallises were discussing the best method of eating game. "Well," said one, "it is in a woodcock, I hang it up on a nail by the back and feet, some larks and, its claws. After a week I throw away the woodcock and eat the larks, which by that time have absorbed all the flavor of the woodcock."

In the schoolroom, one teacher is inclined to begin every command with the words "Do not." "Do not whisper." "Do not read in such a noisy tone." "Do not recite your history lesson like a parrot." Another teacher enthralls her pupils with her own love of knowledge. In the reading classes she makes them feel that they are speaking their own words. In the history class they are present on the battlefield. And, somehow, there is seldom any noise in the schoolroom from mischief or weariness or laziness, there is only the stir of interest and industry. By using the positive method she has awakened in her pupils high ideals and aspirations.

You are to go up to O'Brien's farm," said the doctor, "get up and go to bed with the birds, now and pitch the hay, shake the corn, and all that sort of thing. And you'll cut out the booze, absolutely, and—"

"Oh, yes," said the patient wearily, "I expected that."

"And one cigar a day?" "Oh, no—not that!" "One cigar a day?" reiterated the doctor, inexorably.

"Oh, very well."

Six months later the patient returned to report.

"Well, how did you like it?" "Fine business, doctor. I'm fit as a fiddle. Me for that early to bed and early to rise thing. It's great."

"Liked it all, eh?" "Everything but the one cigar a day. That pretty nearly killed me."

"The tobacco habit," began the doctor.

"At my age, doctor, it's no joke to take up smoking!"—National Monthly.

Carnations and my first love! And he was seventeen. And I was only twelve years—a state-ly girl between.

I bought them on the morning the school dance was to be, and I was among the ribbons in hopes I had he might see.

All the girls stood breathless to watch as he went through the crowd, and I saw him take the heart from you!

And why he paused at my side is more than I can know.

The shyest of the small girls that all I loved him so.

I said it with my prayer-times—I walked with head held high—"Carnations are your flowers!" he said as he strode by.

Carnations and my first love! This years are gone a score. And I recall his first name, and scarce an eyelash moved.

And these were all the love-words that I ever said.

Perhaps my heart married—perhaps he may be dead.

And yet, to small carnations, their spicy, heavy sweet perfume, in some sick room, or passing on the street.

Then still the school lights flicker and still the lancers play.

And still the girls hold breathless while he goes his way.

And still my child-heart quivers in that first ecstasy.

"Carnations are your flowers!" my first love said to me!

FRESH AIR AND HEALTH Mental work calls an unusual supply of blood to the brain; the process of digestion calls the blood to the stomach. Brain work immediately after a hearty meal often causes indigestion because the brain has first call on a supply of blood that should be helping the stomach.

Whereas, in the economy of the body, work is to be done there is a demand for bright, red blood. Thin blood or blood that has impurities will not do because it is the oxygen carried by the blood that does the work and oxygen-bearing blood is bright and red. This life-sustaining oxygen is taken up by the blood from the air which it meets in the lungs. Hence the great need of fresh air every day, and red blood is the oxygen carrier. If the blood cannot take up more oxygen which it gives. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enable the blood to take up more oxygen because they increase the part of the blood that carries the oxygen. This corrects the impure, palpitating of the heart, shaky nerves and the pallor that are the results of thin, impure blood.

You must have pure, rich blood to build up the body. A booklet "Building Up the Blood" will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

EAT TOO MUCH

Beware of Hardened Arteries, Says Dr. W. H. Smith in Lecture

BOSTON, May 4.—Dr. W. H. Smith, who delivered the next to the last public lecture of the season at Harvard medical school yesterday afternoon, says most people over 40 eat too much. It is to this habit that he attributes in part, arterio-sclerosis, that hardening of the arteries which chiefly characterizes old age.

He thinks that people should consult their physicians at intervals just to see what condition they are in. "Tooth can be purchased and made to serve as well as one's own," he said, "yet see how conscientiously people visit their dentist every three to six months to see if there is anything to be done. Yet these same people neglect their more vital structures."

"The hardening of the arteries should be diagnosed early, that strict diet and other hygiene may be prescribed. A man is as old as his arteries." I have seen men, who were young men at 50, and I have seen senile old men at 40. And the same is true of women.

"Men of large heads and short necks, full bodies and given to drinking overmuch wine, are often thought to be of a sudden attack of indigestion, or to take on the foolishness of old age, when it is arterio-sclerosis. While there are many causes of this disease, it is frequently brought on by the abuse of alcohol and the misuse of food, and by the exercise, worry and emotional strain."

"First time arterio-sclerosis is deposited in the arteries, the vessels harden, an additional strain is put on the heart in pumping the blood through them, less blood reaches the organs to which the damaged vessels lead, those organs become impaired, and, poisoning results, or a sudden strain may cause a break, and death results."

He showed lantern slides of X-ray photographs of diseased tissue.

Another AND DAUGHTER—MANY WOMAN AND CHILDREN THROWN INTO PANIC

BOSTON, May 4. Frightened by the breaking of a rein, two horses attached to a hack plunged down the steep grade of Broadway street, East Boston, yesterday noon, trampling Mrs. Mary E. Howes and her daughter Christina, of 29 Trenton street and throwing several hundred people who were just leaving church into a panic.

Nearly a score of women and children about to board a car at the corner of Lexington street were standing in the path of the unbridled animals. They crashed one another in a frenzied effort to get into the car and stop the span of horses a clear path. All succeeded except Mrs. Howes and her 13-year-old daughter.

Both were knocked to the ground. The daughter was struck by one of the flying hoofs and at the East Boston hospital it was found that she fearfully bruised as she was dragged over the rough pavement from the force of the blow.

M. J. Conley of 425 Meridian street was passing in an automobile. He picked up the injured woman and rushed them to the Relief hospital. Mrs. Howes recovered sufficiently to go to her home, although suffering severely from a shock.

Christina's condition is severe and hospital authorities reported at midnight that her recovery is doubtful. In seeking to shield her mother the young girl received the full force of the blow when the horses dashed over them.

SHOT DOWN BY WOMAN ONE-LEGGED BOSTON NEWSBOY FIGHTING FOR HIS LIFE IN HOSPITAL—WOMAN IS SORRY

BOSTON, May 4.—With a seven-pound station tied to the hip of her coat, the body of an unidentified woman was found in the old Boston reservoir in Brookline yesterday morning. Medical Examiner Cutts declared she had committed suicide, and very recently.

The woman was evidently a domestic. Her body was spied floating in the water by Perival J. Lombard, who lives near by, on Hillsdale avenue. He dragged it ashore and notified the police.

The body bears several rather remarkable characteristics, which it is thought will lead to a speedy identification. Her teeth were heavily filled with gold and a gold band held her lower teeth in place. She had a very prominent mole on her cheek.

She was about 35 years old, four feet 10 inches tall and wore a gray coat with purple lining, a blue serge suit, low-cut black shoes, a black straw hat and black stockings.

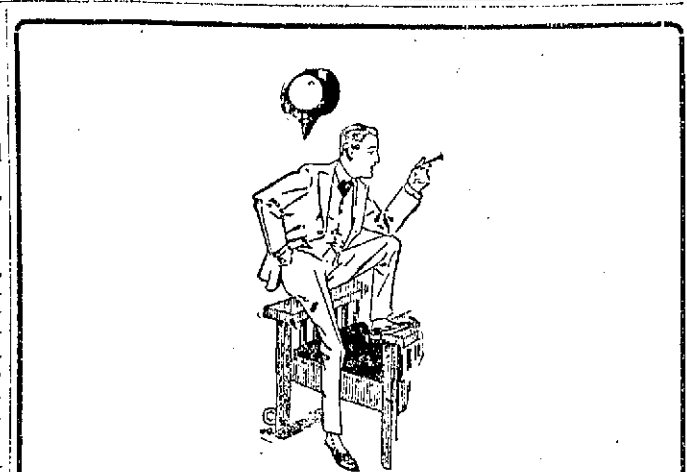

The man who was trying to bring down apparently is Germaine Quinto, an employee of the Grotto, a North End cafe, who was captured running from Haymarket square after the shooting. He claims he lives at 32 Lubec street, East Boston.

Quinto is held by the police and will be in court today facing a white slave charge.

According to bystanders, there was a sharp quarrel at the subway entrance before the shooting between the German woman and Quinto. A second man was in the group, but both the woman and Quinto agree that he was not involved in the dispute, but simply happened to be with Quinto. Williams says that just before the woman drew the revolver from her gown and began firing Quinto had struck her in the face with a package which looked like a pair of shoes.

The surgeons at the Relief station have not as yet thought it best to probe for the bullet in Gold's throat because of the danger of injuring some of the delicate organs or nerves. If there is evidence that blood poisoning is setting in the throat probably will be X-rayed and an attempt made to get the lead out. Gold has been conscious ever since he was hit and says he had never before seen the woman who shot him.

BOSTON, May 4.—Another White House romance will soon culminate with the marriage of Robert Taft, the elder son of former President William Howard Taft, and Miss Bertha Bowers, daughter of the late Solicitor-General Oliver H. Bowers, and chum of Miss Helen Taft.

Mr. Taft received his degree at Yale and is a graduate of the Harvard law school. He is now a practicing attorney. Miss Bowers lives in Washington, where she made her debut during the season of 1909-1910.

It is expected that the young couple will make their home in Cincinnati, where Mr. Taft is practicing law.

RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION It's Me For Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards' product Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative. No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force a man to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" and then a "bad breath"—a dull, tired, feeling—sick, headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. One and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Co., Columbus, O. All druggists.

VANDALS WRECKED CEMETERY AT MILLBURY—$10,000 WORTH OF PROPERTY DESTROYED

MILLBURY, May 4.—Marble monuments and tombstones worth more than $10,000 were upset and ruthlessly smashed in the cemetery here some time Saturday night. State police inspectors, investigating the affair, yesterday it was the strangest act of vandalism that has ever come to their attention.

Four magnificent shafts, weighing tons, were piled loose from their bases and toppled onto the graves they were set to mark, crumbling smaller stones in their fall. One of these was the monument that occupied the center of the family lot of the Greenwoods, around the base of which are buried some of the best noted residents. It was 14 feet high, mounted on a three-foot-high base, with a huge ball on top, and is said to have cost $1000.

A veritable gang armed with crow-bars and other tools, must have taken part in the work of destruction, according to the police. They say one man could never have managed the amount of devastation to the heavy monuments.

The tale of wreckage comprised four shafts and 34 gravestones, many of these large and some of beautiful workmanship. Simple vandalism was the apparent motive, for no attempt

RICHARD OLNEY TO BE HEAD OF RESERVE BOARD

President Wilson Selects Massachusetts Man to be Governor of Federal Reserve Board—Names Paul Warburg of New York, a Member of Board

WASHINGTON, May 4.—President Wilson has selected Richard Olney, secretary of state in the Cleveland administration, to be governor of the federal reserve board and Paul Warburg of New York to be a member of the board.

Although the president has offered the governorship to Mr. Olney word of his acceptance was being awaited today but friends here were inclined to believe he would not decline. Mr. Olney was offered the ambassadorship to Great Britain by President Wilson early last year, but expressed an unwillingness to leave the country on account of his business interests. He is being strongly urged by friends of the president to accept this place, which the president has spoken of as of equal importance to a place on the bench of the supreme court of the United States.

Mr. Olney Active at 78

Mr. Olney, although 78 years old, is active and has had a long experience in the business world and finance which the president and his advisers believe would especially be adapted for the head of the reserve board.

Mr. Warburg, who was connected with Kuhn, Loeb & Co., has been offered membership on the board and has accepted. Formal announcement of his selection as well as the other members of the board, beside the governor, is expected to be made within the next two or three days or before he is made to the post when the president has selected it. It is understood that a regular banker is to be made one of the three, but no indication has come as yet as to his identity.

Will Start Currency Law

Official Washington, as well as banking circles generally, are awaiting the announcement of the full personnel of the federal reserve board with intense interest as it formally will set in motion the new currency law which was signed Dec. 23 last. With the selection of the 12 federal reserve banks, the organization of the board has been the most vital step in the operation.

of the new currency law. The banks are being organized and the expectation of officials is that within another month the entire system will be in full swing, although there are certain transitions which will occupy a greater length of time.

The complete reserve board will consist of seven members at salaries of $12,000 a year. The law stipulates that the members shall be appointed with reference to the "geographical, commercial and financial divisions of the country."

With Mr. Olney representing New England and Mr. Warburg, New York, it was expected that the other members to be selected would represent the south, the middle west and the far west. The appointments will serve ten years.

147 Seats Appointments

Senator Owen conferred with the president today about selections for the board. He said he did not discuss individuals but rather talked over the general banking viewpoint. He believed should be held by the men selected. Senator Owen said that the remaining appointments would be made from a list of 147 men now before the president. These names were left after consideration of a much larger list.

HACKS VALUABLE PAINTING

Portrait of Henry James, Novelist, Ruined by Suffragette Belonging to "Wild Women"

LONDON, May 4.—One of the finest of all the paintings of John Singer Sargent, a portrait of Henry James, the celebrated novelist, was virtually ruined this afternoon by a suffragette. The painting had been on exhibition at the National academy.

The woman who committed the outrage, Mrs. Wood, belonged to the group of militants called the "wild women." Armed with a butcher's cleaver, Mrs. Wood approached the painting in a casual way. Opportunity offering she suddenly dashed forward, produced the cleaver from under her cloak and was successful in slashing the picture a number of times before bystanders seized and stopped her.

Mrs. Wood was accompanied by a man who attempted to impede those persons who restrained her. Spectators of the incident turned on him and beat him with their fists. Mrs. Wood was handed over to the police.

The academy was opened to the pub-

Severely Punished

The man with Mrs. Wood characterized her course as an act of courage in a voice loud enough to be heard by the spectators. The crowd became angry and rushed upon him with shouts of "Throw him out." He was being severely pummeled when the police entered and ejected him from the gallery.

The mutilations of the picture consist of three gashes across the face. The largest cut is on the left side and obliterated an eye. Another is across the mouth and the third near the chin. The rest on the left side of the face, as three inches long and the top end of the canvas are frayed and uneven. The picture was removed at once from the exhibition. An artist who witnessed the outrage says the canvas is irreparably ruined.

TO FIGHT DUEL

Caillaux and Allieres Ignore Decision of Arbitrators

PARIS, May 4.—In spite of the decision of the arbitrators to the contrary, Joseph Caillaux, former minister of finance, and Fernand D'Allieres are to fight a duel. M. Allieres was M. Caillaux's opponent in the recent election to the chamber of deputies. Referring to the killing last March of Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro, by M. Caillaux's wife, he posted bills in the constituency saying "clean elections would refuse to become 'accomplices in crime.' M. Caillaux consequently challenged him to a duel.

CITY HALL NOTES

The park board will meet tonight and the municipal council tomorrow forenoon. It is expected that at the meeting of the park board the controversy over the purchase of a wagon for the park department by the purchasing agent will be ironed out. Commissioner Bourne is going to take the purchasing agent to task for buying a wagon other than the one recommended by the commissioner. Mr. Rountree was appointed on a committee to select a wagon and he selected it, but the purchasing agent purchased another wagon because he believed it was better suited for the purpose than the wagon selected by Mr. Rountree.

The purchasing agent will call for bids to open a station on the following material for the water department: 25,000 1½-inch extra strong Byers wrought iron pipe; 25 6-inch post hydrants with 5-inch valve; three 1½-inch outlets of gate pattern and tested to 300 pounds pressure; 15 6-inch hump and water gates, opening to the right and tested to 300 pounds pressure.

The tulip beds about the city hall are the finest in the city and in fact an automobilist who called at the hall today said they are the best that he has seen anywhere and he said he had covered considerable territory within the last week.

City Solicitor Hennessy and his assistant, Capt. McDonald, went to Boston today to attend to matters having to do with the grade crossing controversy and other matters in which the city is interested.

Demand American Currency

The demand for fractional American currency was suddenly increased today when H. M. Robinson, superintendent of the United States railroad mail service who has taken charge of the post-office, placed American postage stamps on the market and stipulated they must be paid for in American money.

The administration of Col. Edward Plummer, the provost marshal, began today at the point where the civil government under Robert J. Kerr had ended. It was ended by orders from Washington. Col. Plummer had been given wide latitude by Gen. Funston, who wants to devote as much of his own time as possible to military duties, although all cases reaching his personal attention will be carried to the commander-in-chief of the land forces.

Col. Plummer had assigned to him army and navy men for heads of all departments and several enlisted men to be used in clerical work, but these will be added to by civilians. Plummer's government starts with $220,000 worth of revenue stamps and $70,000 in cash recovered by C. H. Stewart, treasurer under Kerr's administration.

FEDERAL FORCES HAVE

MINED PANUO RIVER

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Reports to the navy department from Rear-Admiral Mayo indicate that the Mexican Federal forces have mined the Panuco river, the inlet to the city of Tampico from the Gulf of Mexico.

The river is navigable to Tampico for only comparatively light draft vessels. Two weeks ago the steam tugboat S. J. Kelly, the gunboat Dolphin and one or two other American vessels were lying in front of Tampico in the river. The entire city was directly under their guns and Admiral Mayo was convinced he could have taken the place without the loss of a man.

It seemed advisable, however, to order the ships from the harbor to the Gulf. This security had been accomplished it is said, before the Mexicans placed mines in the river to prevent the ships from again entering.

REBEL AND FEDERAL

LEADERS SEND BITTER NOTES

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Constitutionalist and Huertista leaders at San Antonio, Mexico, have been exchanging very bitter messages, according to a report to the navy department today from Rear Admiral Howard, who has read several of the letters.

Admiral Howard said all was quiet at Mazatlan. He made no mention of the reported blowing up of the Mexican liner Lela.

Continued

Judge Bright found the three defendants guilty and ordered each to pay a fine of $75. Each appeared and was held in the sum of $200 surety for the superior court.

Sergeant Petrie

Sergeant David Petrie, the first witness called by the government, testified that he went to the room of Mr. Marshall in Appleton street on the evening of April 21 and as the latter refused to admit that he had any "pool tickets" in his possession, he started to search the room and found envelopes, with numbers on the outside, slips and several packages of papers containing lettering and names in a bureau drawer. An American Express Co. receipt for the transfer of tables and chairs from 22 Third street to J. H. Carney of Concord, N. H., was shown by the defendant but on the objection of Lawyer Tove it was not submitted as evidence.

Continuing the witness said that he brought the tickets to the station at the same time as he did Mr. Marshall. Sergeant Petrie said that his prisoner was very anxious to secure the tickets which contained names of different persons.

Referring to Mr. Roach, the witness stated that he went to his house and found envelopes, tickets, etc., on a table and desk in a room that the defendant occupied. There was money in the room but the other did not count it. He said that Mr. Roach told him on the evening of the arrest that he intended to deliver the tickets the next morning. He was to sell them for fifty cents each.

Sergeant Petrie was then asked to tell what he knew about the system used. He read a slip which he set in one of the rooms telling the rules under which the alleged market was to be conducted.

Two slips one pink and one white, were submitted containing numbers which it is claimed represented the different clubs and Supt. Welch told the court that the person who required the largest number of runs during a week was given the first prize and the other prizes were arranged for by the management.

Witness then told of going to a Mechanics street barber shop where Frain is employed and there found tickets and slips similar to those found in the other places. He said that this defendant claimed he had sold 37 tickets one week and six and a half week.

Officer Clark

Special Officer Clark was sworn in and testified that two of the defendants told him that the tickets represented a part of the baseball pool paraphernalia and that they were selling them for a J. H. Carney.

Supt. Welch

Supt. Welch was the next witness and testified that he talked with the three men a short time after their arrests were made and they all admitted selling baseball pool tickets. The defendants explained to him how the tickets were sold and how the prizes were divided.

None of the three defendants was called to testify. Lawyer Tove asked that they be discharged as there was no evidence to show that they had lottery tickets in their possession. He called attention to the fact that these cases were brought under the charge of having lottery tickets in their possession while several other sections of the law referred to the selling of "pool tickets." Mr. Tove argued that pool-selling as the result of a game, of chance is a lottery, but said that a baseball game, or baseball game

Pres. Wilson Wants Bills Enacted Before Congress Adjourns—Agreement Reached

WASHINGTON, May 4.—After a conference with President Wilson today, Majority Leader Underwood announced that an agreement had been reached to put through the Clayton anti-trust bill, the Covington interstate trade commission bill and a bill to regulate the issuance of stock securities as well as a rural credits measure before congress adjourns.

Mr. Underwood announced he would call a democratic caucus to ratify the program which he arranged with the president and it was the aim of the president and himself to have congress adjourn by July 1.

"The president thinks it is absolutely necessary," he said, "to pass trust legislation consisting of the Clayton omnibus bill, the Covington interstate trade commission bill and a bill to come from the interstate commerce commission for the regulation of stock securities. Also we will put through a rural credit bill and the appropriation bills before adjournment."

"The president was very desirous of pressing the presidential primary bill and that was on the original program, but Judge Hucker, chairman of the committee on elections has been ill and that has delayed the subject so that it is not now a definite part of the program; but the president is still hopeful that we may be able to take it up."

were decided by skill. He said that the manager of a baseball pool has nothing to do with the baseball game and that no evidence was shown in this case to the effect that the buyers could not pick their own combinations. He further said that there was no evidence to show that they were lottery tickets and that there is nothing to show that baseball tickets are a lottery.

Supt. Welch cited several decisions of Massachusetts courts to the effect that conducting a game of this sort is a lottery.

In considering the evidence Judge Bright said that he believed it was a lottery. Lawyer Tove then asked for a very small fine as the baseball pool selling has been stopped in Lowell and many other places.

The court said that this game ought to be stopped as it is an injury to baseball, the best game we have. The court then imposed the fine of $75 each.

Fined for Selling Liquor

Desquale Colonistro was arraigned in police court on a complaint charging him with unlawfully selling intoxicating liquors in the town of Braintree. It was alleged that on last Saturday he sold one pint of ale to a fellow countryman. Through an interpreter, he pleaded guilty and asked for an opportunity to pay a fine. As this was the defendant's first offence he was ordered to pay a fine of $50.

"I expect to call a caucus to endeavor to get the program ratified and we expect to drive it through both houses of congress by the first of July."

Mr. Underwood was asked if he thought the program could be gotten through both houses as early as July 1st.

"Yes," he replied, "it can if we all get together and play ball, which we will do."

The house leader said that the Mexican situation might, of course, at any time absorb the attention of congress and interfere with the program but he did not see any prospect of such a development as yet.

PRES. WILSON DISCUSSES NATION'S BUSINESS IN OPEN AIR OFFICE

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The nation's business, Mexican imbroglio and all, was moved into the open air today when President Wilson left the study office for the cool shade of a tent spread in the White House grounds.

Representative Underwood, majority leader of the house, was the first visitor to be shown to the open air office. For an hour the president and he sat about the summery shade and considered a legislative program that would permit congress to adjourn in July. Senator Hughes of New Jersey also talked over the situation in the open air presidential office.

DEMAND BETTER WAGES

FALL RIVER, May 2.—In order to make an effective fight against the Master Painters' association for an increase in wages, the English and French-speaking branches of the Painters' union are to be consolidated and the struggle of a year ago for better wages and improved working conditions resumed.

Who was so bold as to take out Dr. H. P. Heald's horse from its stable in Braintree yesterday morning and return the animal a few hours later? This is the problem that the owner of the horse would like to solve. It seems that the doctor was awakened at about 2 o'clock yesterday morning by a strange noise about the stable. He quickly made an investigation and found that his horse had been stolen. The doctor set right out to notify the police of the theft and when he returned to the stable a couple of hours later, strange to say, he found his horse in the stall in the stable. The only evidence that the horse was taken out was its sweaty condition. The carriages which are kept on the first floor of the stable had not been disturbed, and it is believed that the culprit meant to get away with the horse alone.
